TRUMAN MOVES TO REORGANIZE MANY AGENCIES

Asks Law to Permit Consolidations

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—A general house cleaning of the federal government, including abolition or consolidation of 49 independent agencies with their 629 bureaus and divisions, was predicted by members of congress today following President Truman's request for reorganization legislation.

Sen. Byrd

The President, in a message to congress, asked for a permanent reorganization law to supplant a reorganization act of 1939, which otherwise would remain effective. He said such a new measure was necessary for orderly conversion from war to peace and for the future efficiency of the federal government.

Mr. Truman suggested that the legislation be sufficiently broad and flexible "to permit of any form of organizational adjustment, large or small, for which necessity may arise."

"Beginning of End"

Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], chairman of the congressional joint economy committee, told reporters the President's message marked "the beginning of the end of independent agencies and of a lot of unnecessary government employes."

Byrd said a plan for government reorganization will be announced shortly by his committee. He said it would recommend the abolition of some agencies, the consolidation of others, and would estimate the reduction in the federal payroll which would result. Byrd said he had discussed reorganization with Mr. Truman.

"I have always contended," Byrd said, "that a thoro reorganization could only be accomplished by effective coöperation between the President and congress."

Calls It "Encouraging"

Sen. Bridges [R., N. H.] said in an interview he regarded the President's message as "encouraging" and predicted prompt passage of the requested legislation. "I hope this leads to ridding the nation of the great many useless and overlapping agencies now in existence," Bridges said.

In the opinion of other members of congress, the President intends to bring as many functions of government as possible into the cabinet, thus reversing the New Deal trend toward setting up independent agencies, boards, and commissions and delegating to them many of the

Ohio Packers Flay U.S., Plan to Shut Down

16 of 17 Cafes Close

Corry, Pa., May 24 (AP)—Sixteen public eating places closed today for lack of meat, leaving one restaurant seating 100 persons to serve a population of 7,000 here.

Cleveland, O., May 24 (AP)—Clevelanders were faced with the prospect of an unprecedented meat shortage as 12 meat packing houses, sources of supply for an estimated 75 per cent of local butcher shops, announced they would close thruout next week.

Spokesmen for the packers gave various reasons for the shutdowns, but all hinged on what they termed "unreasonable" government regulations.

Serve 825 Dealers

Representatives of the houses said 825 meat dealers are served by them.

"Most of Cleveland's retail meat markets will have to close next week," Max Kolt of the Max Kolt company declared.

Explaining the reason for his company's proposed closing, Kolt declared.

"We killed 13 cattle yesterday and our net loss on the operation amounted to $88.54. You can't stay in business very long that way."

The dealers said it was becoming increasingly difficult to produce meat for the civilian market.

Troubles Are Varied

Some blamed a tightened quota, some a narrow margin of profit, others black market competition, others charged "unjust" application of subsidy rules, while a few said government restrictions were unfair to the small packers and favored the big ones.

Among reasons cited for the one week closing was a recent cutback in the small packers' quota. On April 1, office of price administration ordered wholesalers to slaughter on the basis of their killing record of 1944. This cutback, some claimed, reduced their operations to bare existence levels.

SECOND SOLDIER WINS EVERY U. S. MEDAL POSSIBLE

WERFEN, Austria, May 24 (AP)—Lt. Audie L. Murphy of Farmersville, Tex., wears the congressional medal of honor today—and that makes him the second man in the army to win every existing American medal for valor.

The congressional medal was conferred on the 21 year old Texan after he beat off 250 attacking enemy infantry men—and six tanks—almost singlehandedly in the battle of the Colmar pocket. Murphy also wears the bronze star, two silver stars, the distinguished service cross, and the combat infantry man's badge as well as a unit Presidential citation.

The only other man entitled to wear every existing individual medal is Capt. Maurice "Footsie" Britt, Fayetteville, Ark., one of Murphy's fellow officers in the 3d division. The 3d has 29 congressional medals—more than any other division in the army.

Hitler to Duce: 'If We'd Only . . .'

MILAN, Italy, May 24 (AP)—The communist newspaper L'Unita reported today that Adolf Hitler, in what it described as his last letter to Benito Mussolini, declared that "the war might have taken a different course" if the Fascists had concurred in a Nazi plan to attack Gibraltar in 1941.

L'Unita reprinted the letter and said it was found among Mussolini's possessions when he was captured by the Partisans. It was dated Dec. 27, 1944. The newspaper said it had photostatic copies of the original and the Italian translation.

"In 1940 and again in 1941," the letter said, "I had decided to close the Mediterranean towards the west. My meeting the head of the Spanish government was to have served that purpose. Accord could have been realized.

Franco Vacillates

"Suddenly I was notified that Italy intended to war in Greece. This was the reason for my hasty visit to Florence on Nov. 23, 1940. The unhappy start of this campaign gave the English courage to unleash the successful campaign in Libya and cause [Spanish generalissimo] Franco to vacillate for the first time."

All efforts to influence the Spaniards thereafter failed, the letter said.

The axis' last chance to obtain Spanish coöperation in an attack on Gibraltar was in the spring of 1941, the letter continued, and then it was possible only by a united Italian-German effort.

Might Have Been Different

"But you yourself told me you considered a neutral Spain advantageous," the document said.

"I wanted to be in Gibraltar in January, 1941," it continued, "and I have no doubt the blow would have succeeded, thanks to the enormous superiority of our arms at that time.

"If, in 1941, Italy, instead of attacking Greece, had, together with Germany, resolved the Spanish problem the war might have taken a different course."

CAUTION, SENATORS!

Truman Thrift Brings Cut in Servant Staff

A Late Housecleaning

Independence, Mo., May 24 (AP)—Spring housecleaning is going to be a little late this year at 219 N. Delaware st. But it will be supervised as usual by the first lady herself. Mrs. Harry S. Truman wrote her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank G. Wallace, not to do "anything to the inside of the house until I come." Painting and repairing are in full swing on the outside, however.

Washington, D. C., May 24 [Special] — In keeping with the Trumans' long habit of thrift—they did all their own housework until he became President—the first family is paring down the White House staff of servants, it was learned today. Twenty servants, a number of whom already have departed, were reported to have been "given notice."

Salaries of staff members are paid by the government, but the President must pay for their food from what he has left of his $75,000 a year after he pays his income tax.

In the case of the late President Roosevelt, this was $28,000 a year. From this, he paid $2,000 a month for food for his family and staff, leaving a Presidential income of $4,000 a year for all other expenses.

A Whole Flock Now

Whereas one chicken used to be a meal for the Trumans, it would now require a whole flock to feed the as-of-today household staff of 24. Average cost for each mouth at the White House has been estimated at a dollar a day.

"The Trumans, being a small family, will need much less help," a friend explained. "The Roosevelts used to have visiting children, grandchildren, cousins, and friends by the dozens. The President only has his mother-in-law, Mrs. D. W. Wallace, as a guest."

Selects Her Study

Margaret, 21, the Trumans' only child, has selected the Lincoln bedroom for her study. It has been painted Alice blue.

For her bedroom Margaret chose the adjoining "little Lincoln room," where Tod Lincoln used to sleep. This tiny room, which accommodates one bed, was painted in pink at Margaret's insistence and against the advice of Miss Neta Davis, the Trumans' interior decorator.

A former Kansas City school teacher and New York newspaper woman, Miss Davis turned decorator several years ago. She now commutes between New York and the White House.

The Trumans have chosen former President Roosevelt's bedroom for their own. Friends say the bedstead is one of the ornately canopied ones used by the families of many other Presidents.

The massive old Lincoln bed, with its carved high headboard, has been moved from its long-time setting in Margaret's new study to the room at the other end of the hall which was used by Lincoln as an office.

Mrs. Truman today gave her first official White House party. Assisted by Mrs. Joseph C. Grew, wife of the undersecretary of state, she received wives of ambassadors, ministers and chiefs of mission to the San Francisco conference.

DISTILLERS ALLOWED UNLIMITED WHISKY MAKING FOR A MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—A one month liquor making "holiday" in July, during which distillers will be released from the production of industrial alcohol for war purposes, was announced today by Chairman Krug of the war production board.

The liquor holiday, second of 1945, was made possible, Krug said, by a reduction in alcohol requirements of Russia and an increasing use of petroleum instead of industrial alcohol in the manufacture of synthetic rubber in this country.

Liquor producers are expected to be able to turn out during the four weeks about 50 million gallons of distilled spirits — the equivalent of a year's normal supply of drinking liquor. Alcohol produced will be used for making blended and straight whisky and gin.

Arkansas Trip Costs Borrelli His Gas Quota

Judge Francis Borrelli of the Municipal court was deprived of supplemental C gasoline coupons for the duration of rationing and of A coupons until Feb. 6, 1946, by ration board 7 at 1840 E. 71st st. last night for making an automobile trip to Hot Springs, Ark., this month. He pleaded illness and domestic trouble as the reason for the journey.

The board's punishment was an empty one, for the judge sold his automobile last week, and said he has no intention of acquiring another soon.

1,480 Mile Round Trip

The board, headed by Chairman James A. Ronan, found that Judge Borrelli had "misused gasoline coupons for occupational driving on a personal trip to and from Hot Springs." The 1,480 mile round trip was made between May 12 and May 17.

Appearing personally, in the unfamiliar role of defendant, Judge Borrelli said he has been ailing and gradually losing his sight, and that his physician, Dr. W. C. McGregor, 1514 E. 54th st., recommended the Hot Springs baths. He produced a letter to this effect from the doctor.

Domestic troubles in his home at 6800 Bennett av. helped speed his departure, Judge Borrelli added. He said he tried unsuccessfully to get train reservations, and finally in desperation went by car and chauffeur. With tears in his eyes he said he would have applied for extra coupons if he had time, and would have reported his trip to the board if he had not been cited.

Eight Coupons Surrendered

Judge Borrelli said he used 21 of his allotment of 29 C coupons and also four A-16 coupons which are not valid until June 22. He turned in eight unused C coupons and said he gave his A book to the Emil Denemark agency which bought his car last Saturday. Chairman Ronan commented the A book should have been returned to the board.

Jude Borrelli said he would appeal the board's decision. After the hearing he said he is separated from his wife, Elizabeth, whom he married in 1943.

Scots Give Up Oatmeal to Feed Starving Europe

LONDON, May 25 [Friday]—To help feed starving Europe, Scotsmen are to give up porridge. The entire available supply of oatmeal has been requisitioned by the war office and cannot be replenished for several weeks, a report from Edinburgh said.

Conceals Vial of Cyanide in Mouth 3 Days

BRITISH 2D ARMY HDQ., May 24 (AP)—Heinrich Himmler, arch executioner for Hitler's third reich, died last night by biting into a tiny glass vial of potassium cyanide he had concealed in his mouth.

Where Himmler was seized and where he killed self

The chief of the German Gestapo and of Hitler's SS elite troops, whose orders condemned hundreds of thousands of conquered civilians and Germans to death, took his own life in the parlor of a house in Lueneberg as a British medical officer searched him.

The man for whom the allies had conducted an intensive manhunt since Germany capitulated died clad only in a pair of socks. Civilian clothes had been stripped from him as a medical examiner made an exhaustive check.

Ordered to Open Mouth

It was when the physician ordered him to open his mouth and forced back his tongue for a closer look that Himmler decided the end had come.

With a quick shake of his head, Himmler dislodged a tiny glass container which he apparently had kept lodged along his gums since his capture three days before. He crushed the vial between his teeth and fell to the floor. Fifteen minutes later, at 11:04 p. m., Germany's No. 1 war criminal was dead.

The British 2d army headquarters disclosed that he had been picked up unrecognized three days before as he and two SS bodyguards attempted to slip across a bridge west of Hamburg.

At the time of his arrest, Himmler was disguised with a black patch over his right eye. His mustache was shaved from his thin upper lip.

Carried Forged Papers

He was in civilian clothes and he carried forged papers purporting to identify him as "Hitzinger." The papers failed to satisfy the guards, who took all three men to the field security police, who in turn passed the trio back to a detention camp. There Himmler still remained unrecognized, but some time later he demanded an interview with the camp commander.

Summoned before a British officer, he calmly removed the black patch and donned glasses. Thus with a dramatic touch he revealed himself as Hitler's terrorist.

British officers immediately ordered Himmler stripped of all clothing and despite vigorous protests searched him carefully for hidden poison.

A small, blue vial was found in his clothing, but developments proved that this was not Himmler's trump card with which he intended to cheat the allies of vengeance.

Unknown to his captors, he ap-

2 More Hospital Ships Sent to Pacific

Washington, D. C., May 24 [Special]—Preparations for taking care of the anticipated increase in casualties in the war against Japan were disclosed today by the war department, which said that two additional hospital ships are en route to the Pacific. It also revealed that hospital ships operating in the Atlantic soon will be shifted to the Pacific.

In addition, Surgeon Gen. Norman T. Kirk told a news conference there will be a "critical need" for all medical department personnel, with the result that no medical personnel will be released immediately, tho a small number of doctors and dentists will be released during the coming year.

Rotation Policy

A rotation policy will be established for nurses so that those on duty at base hospitals who have not had overseas service will be sent to the Pacific.

Kirk said a rotation policy also is being established to get doctors with long overseas records back to this country and to replace them with medical personnel who have not served in combat zones. He explained that there are only 14,000 to 16,000 army doctors serving at home in contrast to 30,000 abroad, and that consequently every doctor with a long combat record cannot hope to be returned to the United States, even tho all those at home eventually will see overseas service.

Cared for Four Million

Kirk said that in 1944 the army medical department cared for 4,435,000 patients in hospitals—2,120,000 overseas and 2,315,000 at home—and also treated 43,210,000 nonhospitalized patients with minor injuries. Its personnel includes 45,000 doctors, 15,000 dentists, 51,000 nurses, 2,000 veterinarians, 17,000 administrative corpsmen, 2,000 sanitary corps specialists, 1,000 physical therapists, 1,500 dietitians, 570 pharmacy corps officers, 600,000 enlisted medical aid men, and 80,000 civilian employes.

Acting War Secretary Patterson asserted at the press conference that army hospitals in this country will face their peak load by September when the present population of 290,000 patients will have risen to an expected 315,000. This increase, he said, will prevent the release of many doctors.

FOE IN FLIGHT TO HILLS; YANKS STORM INTO NAHA

Island Campaign Is in Mop-up Stage, Says M'Arthur

MANILA, May 25 [Friday]—(AP)—Three American divisions joined along a north-south highway on central Mindanao Wednesday and Gen. MacArthur reported today the campaign on that big Philippine island had reached the "mopping up stage."

The juncture bisected Mindanao from Macajalar bay on the north to Davao on the south, and served to doom remnants of an enemy garrison once estimated at 50,000 troops.

Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st division made contact with the 40th, under Maj. Gen. Rapp Brush, and the Americal division under Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold along the Sayre highway against only slight resistance. The Japanese force withdrew to the hills east of the road to fight it out.

Fight Entrenched Japs

Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th division to the southeast fought a slugging battle with a large Japanese force entrenched between the Davao and Talomo rivers on Davao gulf. One regiment going up the coast joined a guerrilla force moving south.

MacArthur said the move completed the American hold on the central road net of the island. The main enemy strength is believed in the northeastern section of Mindanao.

The 24th division advanced eight miles along the north shore of Davao gulf to join guerrilla forces near the head of the gulf. Japanese defensive positions in the foothills west of captured Davao were being steadily destroyed.

MacArthur said enemy troops in the interior "have been forced into the hills, while thruout the island our guerrillas are eliminating his isolated garrisons."

Gain on Luzon

On Luzon, American ground troops maintained steady pressure in the Balete pass sector and the vital watershed area northeast of Manila, with close air support.

Fighting continued in the Ipo trap northeast of Manila, but a headquarters spokesman said organized resistance ceased on Wednesday, with the Japanese no longer under central control.

The 43d division under Maj. Gen. Leonard Wing killed 174 Japanese in mopping up operations there Wednesday.

In the same general sector Maj. Gen. William C. Chase's 38th division counted 262 bodies, sealed 25 caves, and knocked out eight machine gun nests Tuesday and Wednesday.

Marines Span River, Infantry Gains on Okinawa

GUAM, May 25 [Friday]—(AP)—Across bridges thrown over the Asato river under enemy fire, 6th division marines reënforced their forces fighting inside the capital city of Naha on the west coast of Okinawa Thursday.

Marine patrols fought thruout the day inside the rubble of the city to reduce Japanese strongpoints.

While Japanese artillery poured shells on the river area, marine engineers built two bridges across the Asato. One was of sufficient size to accommodate vehicles bringing supplies for the expanding bridgehead inside the ruined capital.

Lt. Col. George B. Bell of Hollywood, Cal., told Correspondent Vern Haugland that in the fighting around Naha an artillery concentration dropped shells among two Japanese platoons.

Shuri Is Threatened

The 6th division marines have driven their bridgehead south nearly abreast of Shuri castle. This drive is developing a dangerous flank threat against the Shuri defenders, who also are threatened seriously by the east coast flanking assault of the 7th infantry division. The American lines now curve in a crescent around Shuri.

Elements of the 7th division captured a hill two miles southeast of Shuri and continued their drive thru Ozara Mura heights. From the heights the Americans will have artillery domination of all Japanese supply routes to Shuri.

Isolation of Shuri, in the center, would put the soldiers and marines in position to complete American occupation of Okinawa by sweeping on over the southern quarter of the island.

On the east coast, 7th division infantry men in the face of stiff resistance drove farther south below captured Yonabaru in what today's bulletin reported as "important advances." Heavy mud restricted operations elsewhere along the "little Siegfried line."

Plane Damages U. S. Ship

Japan sent down more planes to relieve the worsening situation of the Nipponese garrison on southern Okinawa. Raiders succeeded in damaging a light unit of the American fleet Wednesday night.

Thursday numerous groups of Japanese planes began attacking American forces ashore and afloat on the island of Ie a mile west of Motobu peninsula on the northwest coast. Acknowledging "some damage to installations," the bulletin said that at 10:30 p. m. the attacks were continuing. By that time, 15 raiders had been destroyed.

United States military government authorities are developing facilities on Okinawa for the administration of more than 139,000 civilians already under their control. Eighty-two per cent of these are women and children under 17.

HIMMLER TAKEN PRISONER; ENDS LIFE BY POISON

Bites Into Vial as British Captors Search Him

parently had a second vial in his mouth and presumably kept it there continuously after he was taken into custody at Bremervoerde, 25 miles west of Hamburg, on Monday. He was removed by automobile to a house in Lueneberg for detention.

The Russian controled Berlin radio gave the greatest prominence to the news of Himmler's capture and suicide. Three commissioners of Marshal Zhukov saw Himmler's body in the Lueneburg village tonight and were given relevant photographs and reports.

Kept Millions Under Thumb

For years Himmler had ruled the reich as Hitler's right hand terrorist. He kept millions of Germans and the residents of occupied countries under the thumb of nazilsm.

Without compassion, he could order the slaughter of an entire group of citizens for the killing of one of his Gestapo agents.

It was he who ordered the destruction of Lidice in Czechoslovakia and who had been responsible for the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Jews and political prisoners in Nazi murder camps.

In 1944, after the plot on Hitler's life had failed, the fuehrer ordered Himmler to stamp out every trace of revolt.

His powers mushroomed in the reich and toward the end of the days of German power many rumors were heard that it was Himmler who sat in the guiding seat.

Made First Peace Offer

The first peace offer to the allies was reported to have come from Himmler, with the proviso that the Germans surrender to the western allies but not the Russians. That offer was spurned.

In 1933, when the Nazis came into power, Himmler held only the relatively minor job of police commissioner of Bavaria.

In April, 1934, Hitler appointed him to head of the German secret police—which became the chief instrument for subjugation of first the Germans at home, and then the peoples conquered by the Nazis.

In June, 1936, Hitler appointed Himmler chief of all Germany's police—the first time a chief of police had been selected on a national basis. From that date on Himmler was at Hitler's side constantly.

Ribbentrop Last Top Man

His organization—the SS, or elite guard—moved in and took control as soon as the German military units conquered a country.

Only a few hours before Himmler committed suicide the same death route had been taken by Adm. Von Friedeberg, chief of the nazi navy, who had signed Germany's unconditional surrender papers. Supreme headquarters confirmed that Friedeberg slipped unaccompanied into a bathroom at Flensburg and bit into a vial of poison.

Meanwhile it was announced that seven of Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz' dissolved German cabinet had been picked up by allied troops and an eighth possibly had been arrested. That would leave only Dr. Julius Dorpmueller, reichsminister of communications, still unaccounted for.

Of the nazi hierarchy, five are dead or reported dead, and only Von Ribbentrop, the former foreign minister, still is at large. He fled Berlin before it fell to the Russians and is believed hiding somewhere in the mountains of Bavaria.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels was reported to have killed himself, his wife and family in Berlin, and Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, was reported to have died in Berlin with Hitler, but none of these deaths has been absolutely proved.

Gen. Eddy Returns, Eager for Chance to Fight Japs

New York, May 25 [Special]—One of Chicago's outstanding soldiers came home today, a little grumpy over doctors' orders that took him out of the battle for Germany "in the last of the ninth, with our side winning," and eager to be "fixed up in time for the finish fight against Japan."

He is Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, commander of the crack 12th army corps of the United States 3d army and a soldier continuously since 1916.

There was a joyous reunion with Mrs. Mamie B. Eddy and their daughter, Martha, 22, when the general stepped off the gangplank of one of the five troopships that returned nearly 7,000 American fighters.

She Writes a Story

Then Martha, as soon as she could catch her breath, dashed off a story about her father for her newspaper at Columbus, Ga., which has been home for her and her mother since the general flew to Africa in December, 1942.

"Germany is beaten this time, and knows it," Gen. Eddy said later in an interview. "She's not going to start another war, at least for a long, long time. Her cities are in ruins. There's nothing left of places like Coblenz, Darmstadt, Frankfurt, Worms, and Mainz, along the path of the 12th corps.

"Unlike their attitude after the last war, the German people realize they're licked. Despite our long lines of communication, there was never so much as a bridge blown or a telephone line cut, the civilians having transferred their obedience from the Nazis to the American army."

Praises Air Corps

Gen. Eddy was high in his praise for the air corps. "The air corps has done a swell job," he asserted. "It is unquestionably the dominant arm of the service, but not the decisive one. It can't finish the fight, but it certainly can pave the way to the finish."

"There was absolutely no similarity between this war and the last one," Gen. Eddy said, "altho last September and October, when we held a bridge over the Moselle I saw the same battle lines where I had been for four years in the last war. Some of the concrete dugouts were still there."

Gen. Eddy was born in Chicago May 16, 1892, and as a boy played in the prairie at what is now Broadway and Wilson av. The family home will be reëstablished in Chicago as soon as his war job is finished, he said.

Greeted by Band

New York, May 24 (AP)—Seven thousand soldiers, more than half of them wounded and many still smarting from mistreatment in German prison camps, came back from Europe today to the welcoming strains of a brass band. One of the five camouflaged transports that brought the men up the North river carried a congressional medal of honor winner, Pvt. Wilburn Ross, 23, who killed 58 Germans with a machine gun and a carbine in the Vosges mountains last November.

Most of the men, unless they are wounded, will start their trips home tomorrow. They are in line for furloughs up to 60 days before being reassigned.

Many cheered and jitterbugged from the time the ships passed the Statue of Liberty, and others hugged the Red Cross girls who passed out refreshments and newspapers on shore. But smiles faded as those who had fallen into German hands told their stories. Maj. George L. Ott, 25, of New England, N. D., said the Germans "were always shooting into the prison barracks during allied air raids" and that he saw two American officers shot, one fatally, by German guards.

Capt. Wyeth Everhart of Gypsum, Kas., said it was necessary for German soldiers to guard American flyers in some towns where German civilians spat on and even clubbed them.

3,000 DANES CUT OFF FROM HOME BY BRITISH RULE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 25 [Friday]—Under the policy adopted by the British military mission in Denmark, the 3,000 Danes in Britain are not allowed to send letters to Denmark or to return to their homeland by ship or plane. They may send a private telegram but it won't be answered.

The News-Chronicle reported that the Danish legation has been kept busy answering queries of Danish nationals here regarding the enforced silence.

"The British foreign office and the British military mission have placed a complete ban on us," a legation official was quoted as saying. "We have 800,000 tons of shipping manned entirely by Danes in the united maritime pool. But we can't get permission to use a single vessel to take our people back home. A few freighters have gone over but they carried only cargo." Only one Danish civilian from Britain has reached Denmark via Stockholm, apart from a few doctors and nurses.

"There are still lots of Germans and other suspect people in Denmark and you can't be too careful," the British foreign office commented.

Greeks Form Brigade to Fight Against Japan

LONDON, May 24 [Reuters]—Two thousand five hundred Greeks have volunteered to serve with a brigade that is being formed to fight against Japan, according to news reaching Greek official circles here.

HERE IS PORTRAIT OF GEN. PATTON, A FIGHTING MAN

[Robert Cromie, war correspondent for The Chicago Tribune spent 10 months with Gen. Patton's 3d army in France and Germany. Before going to Europe, he covered the Pacific war. He was attached to Gen. MacArthur's forces in that theater.]

BY ROBERT CROMIE

Two of the questions most frequently asked since I returned from touring Germany with the 3d army are: "What's Patton like? How do his men like him?" These can be answered simply.

Gen. Patton is a great fighting general, and his men are proud as peacocks to belong to "the 3d."

When you mention "armchair" generals you're not talking about Patton. His peep, armed with a machine gun and followed by another peep similarly armed, was a familiar sight at points dangerously far forward. Patton liked to see what was going on first-hand, to talk personally with his divisional commanders or their subordinate officers.

Perfects German Blitz

His dislike for unnecessary paper work is well known, and altho even the Germans knew Patton's recipe for successful attacks—fire and movement—they never came to learn how or when he would strike next, or in what direction. Patton and "the 3d" took the German-invented blitz and perfected it to a point never dreamed of by the Nazis.

There is one story told of Patton during the Ardennes breakthru that is typical of his methods. It was told to me by a two star general, so that I assume it is true. When Patton learned that he was to bring his forces north to halt Von Rundstedt he called in the major general in question, told him he was to head a provisional corps, and, sitting before a map covered with a blank sheet of acetate, quickly roughed in his plan of campaign.

The brief instructions, all verbal, ended with a request that the major general have his forces at such and such a spot at some incredibly early date [an appointment which he kept] and then Patton indicated that the meeting was over.

"I'm the Whole Army"

"Will I get written orders from the army?" the major general asked. Patton grinned.

"Right now," he said, "I'm G-2, G-3—in fact I'm the whole army. Those are all the orders you'll get."

It was a time for speed, and few persons are faster than George Patton, in a hurry.

Patton, or his chief of staff—and usually both—met with 3d army correspondents weekly for amazingly frank press conferences at which he explained, as fully as possible, future plans and answered to the best of his ability whatever questions were answered. He was colorful, often profane, fast on his feet, and very informative.

Stories Worth Page One

Unfortunately, all conferences were off-the-record. Each would have been worth a page one story. Patton seemed to me to be a sort of combination of Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Halsey—with MacArthur's stage-presence and phenomenal military savvy and a good slice of Halsey's gift for calling a spade a spade in simple, forthright terms.

There are other questions, of course, that people ask. Chief among them, I suppose, are:

1. What sort of job did the air forces do? Are German cities and other targets hurt much?

2. What were the concentration camps like? Were they really as bad as every one said? [Why there should still be doubt I don't know].

3. What was the attitude of the German civilians?

A Marvelous Job

First, the air force.

It did—and does—a marvelous job, both of destruction and of working in incredibly close support with our ground forces. Bombing by the "heavies" and "mediums" and the follow-up visits by fighter bombers left little except rubble of hundreds of parts of Germany and threw the German railroad and highway supply systems into chaos.

Some factories, of course, escaped. But hundreds of them did not. Many were leveled, others damaged so badly they could no longer produce. The ones that were untouched must have had a nightmarish time of trying to get their products to the front, in view of the havoc done to rail and road, and the fast growing gasoline shortage.

You could discuss the wrecking of Germany for pages—7,000 persons were killed in Mainz, for example, in a single 15 minute raid that blew the center of town to pieces—but one officer for whom I was sending a message home summed it up well. The message was to his wife.

"Beautiful Destruction"

"Tell her," he said, dreamily, "that the destruction in Germany is beautiful."

That, of course, was a warrior's view of an enemy country. But it gives you the "feel" of the thing.

Now, the concentration camps.

It is literally impossible to give a true picture of, let's say, Ohrdruf or Buchenwald, two representative camps which I happened to see. Neither words nor photographs can adequately convey the full horror of such settlements of death. It is compounded of so many things—the slow dragging way in which the half-dead walk, the way a match-thin arm covered with waxen skin looks when the sun strikes it; the odor of indescribable evil that will cling to the place forever, the strange feeling when you first see naked corpses piled like plucked chickens, and, like them, awaiting the oven.

The concentration camps were unspeakably bad. Never doubt it.

The German civilian was and, so far as I am concerned, is, a puzzle. Some things about the German mind are clear. They feared the Russians with a great fear. They know what their troops did to Russia, because for years they have been "hosts" to thousands of Russian slave workers, and must have felt their hatred, heard their stories, seen what was done to them.

The German people deny any responsibility for the concentration camps, or any knowledge of what went on there. Their denials I don't believe, except for a very small number of those who made them. When they try to shift the blame on the SS troops [who, in turn, try to shift the blame on some one else] such denials just make you a little more angry with the contrast between well fed civilian Germans and the political prisoners for whose plight they disown responsibility.

No Sense of Guilt

So far as I could determine the average German has no sense of guilt whatever, no genuine hatred for Hitler other than that based on the fact that he lost the war. In some towns, notably Frankfurt, American troops were welcomed as liberators, with people cheering and waving and laughing as the Yanks rolled by. But their joy, if real, was largely because the bombing and shelling were over.

So far as the German "werewolf," or guerrilla, movement went, it was a terrific bust.

I doubt that Germany, in any country she occupied, found the civilians so eager to coöperate with them as the German civilian was to coöperate with us.

In Gotha, for example, the owner of the local aircraft factory came in unsolicited to ask how soon he should convert his plant to make parts for P-47s.

No praise is too high for the American fighting man, whether he's a flyer, a doughboy, an engineer, an artillery man, in supply, or in any other branch of the army.

They have learned their new and unaccustomed trade — war — and learned it well. So well in fact that they outthought and outfought Hitler's best panzer or SS outfits and, with the help of the British and the Poles and the French and all the rest, blasted the Luftwaffe out of the skies, not only England's sky and France's sky, but even Goering's slice of sky over the third reich.

Streicher's Captor

MAJ. HENRY G. PLITT

New York, May 24 (AP)—It was a mighty stroke for the 7th war loan when Maj. Henry Plitt of New York captured Julius Streicher, the Nazis' leading anti-Semite. Mrs. Charles Plitt, the Jewish officer's mother, said today she has been selling bonds like hot cakes to friends and strangers who stopped by her husband's gasoline station. Her total to date is 350 bonds. Her goal—enough to buy a transport plane that would bring her son home.

WAC WILL SEND ONLY FEW HOME FROM EUROPE

PARIS, May 24 (AP)—A token force of WACs will be sent home for discharge under the army's point system, but additional units will be assigned to the European theater of operations, which is still below its 10,800 quota, it was disclosed today.

Lt. Col. Anna W. Wilson, Studio City, Cal., theater commander, said 8,000 WACs now are in the ETO and that the occupation quota has been set higher.

"In the interim the score is 44 points for discharge eligibility," Col. Wilson said, "but that is not final and the score does not apply to personnel considered essential. Theoretically all WACs can be considered essential. Regardless of that, however, some WACs are going home, but the number is necessarily small."

Calcium Vital Factor For Strong Bones, Sound Teeth

Doctors report that many a child with ugly bowed legs or knock-knees might have grown up straight and shapely on a diet adequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D.

Lack of calcium, for instance, in the earliest years may do irreparable damage—but in any case, calcium is so vital a factor that no child brought up on a consistently deficient calcium intake, can have much chance for strong bones and sound teeth.

That's one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children.

Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk...at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.) And Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk.

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder.

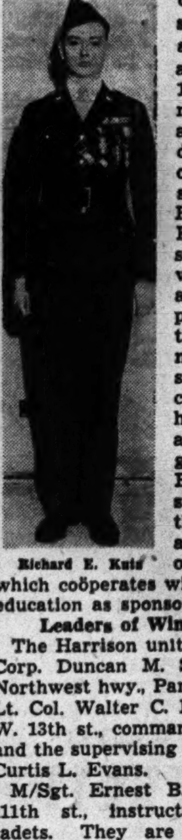
*2 heaping tsps. to 8-oz. glass of milk.

30 R.O.T.C. UNITS PARADE TODAY IN MICHIGAN AV.

Harrison 1st, Fenger 2d in Federal Inspection

BY PHILIP MAXWELL

More than 10,000 Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets from 30 Chicago high schools, 29 public and one parochial, will hold their 11th annual parade in Michigan av. at noon today. Sets of colors will be presented to the Harrison and Fenger high school units, which won first and second places, respectively, in the annual federal inspection. The ceremony will be held at 11:40 a. m. at Michigan av. and Balbo dr., the starting point of the parade. The awards are gifts of THE TRIBUNE, which coöperates with the board of education as sponsor of the parade.



Richard E. Kutz

Leaders of Winning Units

The Harrison unit was trained by Corp. Duncan M. Simpson of 417 Northwest hwy., Park Ridge. Cadet Lt. Col. Walter C. Franzen of 1900 W. 13th st., commands the winners and the supervising officer is 1st Lt. Curtis L. Evans.

M/Sgt. Ernest B. Simons, 4 E. 111th st., instructs the Fenger cadets. They are supervised by Capt. Jay A. Phelps Jr. and Bradley A. Stewart of 28 W. 111th pl., is cadet lieutenant colonel.

Col. Joseph E. Torrence, commanding officer of district No. 3 of the 6th service command, representing Maj. Gen. Russel B. Reynolds, head of the service command, will speak briefly and present the sets of colors to the cadet commanders of the Harrison and Fenger units.

McCahey to Witness Ceremony

Others to be present at the ceremony will include James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, and Lt. Col. Oscar N. Taylor, professor of military science and tactics in Chicago public schools.

The parade, led by the city cadet staff under the command of Cadet Col. Richard E. Kutz of Waller High school, will start at noon and pass a reviewing stand erected at Congress st. plaza. On the platform will be participants in the earlier ceremony and several military, civic, and educational leaders. The parade will proceed up Michigan av. and disband at Randolph st. Fifteen bands and nine drum corps will take part.

Gen. Bradley Combines Sightseeing and Business

IN GERMANY, May 24 (AP)—Gen. Bradley, commander of the 12th army group, toured the most picturesque of his broad military domain today and yesterday, inspecting three divisions concentrated around scenic Salzburg and the ruins of Hitler's breathtaking perch at Berchtesgaden. Bradley flew from central Germany and combined two full days of business with sightseeing, including a view of Hermann Goering's art collection.

Laundry Workers Follow Truckers' Strike Example

Two hundred fifty employes of the Central Steam Laundry, 315 W. Grand av., influenced by the truckers' strike, walked off the job yesterday to draw attention to their wage demands, pending for four months before the national war labor board. The strikers, most of them Negroes, are members of local 46, Laundry Workers' International union [AFL]. Sam Deal, union president, said last night the workers had been instructed to return to their jobs today.

TRANS-CHANNEL FUEL PIPE MADE BY U. S. FIRMS

New York, May 24 (AP)—The part that American industry had in the development of the 20 pipe lines under the English channel to feed gasoline to allied armies in Europe was told here tonight. Wylie Brown, president of the Phelps Dodge Copper Products corporation, said his organization and three others—General Electric corporation, Bridgeport, Conn.; Okinite corporation, Passaic, N. J., and General Cable company, Bayonne, N. J.—participated in the project.

The feat, which has enabled movement thru the pipes since last Aug. 12, of 120,000,000 gallons of fuel, was called one of the war's "top drawer secrets."

Phelp-Dodge's Habirshaw wire and cable division began manufacture of the tubing April 8, 1944. The plant made 64 miles of tubing and processed 46 miles manufactured by other firms.

Existence of the cross-channel pipeline, known as Operation Pluto, was announced yesterday in London by British authorities who directed its construction. They said the lines had carried an average of 1,000,000 gallons of gasoline a day. How much of the 500 miles of pipe used in the lines was made in the United States was not disclosed.

CLOWN'S SON, 7, AWARDED TITLE OF TYPICAL BOY

The "typical American boy" no longer has red hair and freckles. He is a wide eyed, brown haired youngster named Bobby Freed, 7, of 1537 Orchard st.

Bobby won the title last evening at the Typical American Boy contest held by the Chicago Boys' club at the clubhouse, 3400 S. Emerald av., over 50 other contestants. The award was based on boys club activities and appearance. As the prototype of American boyhood, Bobby is interested in checkers, pingpong, fishing, comic books, and especially baseball. He also has the distinction of being the son of a circus owner and clown, George Freed.

Two runners-up in the contest were Clarence Craggs, 12, of 2255 S. Kostner st., and Ray Parpan, 15, of 1130 Wrightwood st.

DOG BITES FLEEING ROBBER

A Negro, about 17, snatched a purse containing $5 from Miss Emily Marconkas, 3036 W. 36th pl., near her home yesterday and escaped, altho bitten by a dog in a yard at 3135 W. 38th st., she reported to police.

Graduate Ensign

Nearly 1,200 graduates received ensign commissions in the naval reserve yesterday as members of the last large graduating class of the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's school, Abbott hall, Northwestern university. One more small class will be graduated July 31 and the school then will be decommissioned after turning out more than 20,000 ensigns since it was opened Sept. 15, 1940.

President Franklyn Bliss Snyder of Northwestern, speaking at exercises at navy pier, declared America must remain strong after the war and to the ensigns said " . . . you will maintain here a nation strong in her own might, armed until the day when arms shall no longer be needed, but willing to help other nations enjoy some of the blessings which fall so bountifully on us."

When the navy moves out of Abbott hall, the premises will house army officers now enrolled in the civil affairs training school at Northwestern and also will lodge army medical students enrolled at Northwestern and other schools, and some civilian students.

TRUCK STRIKERS BACK AT WORK; ODT IN CONTROL

Chicago's trucking operations were almost back to normal last night after a week long strike by the independent Chicago Truck Drivers' union which caused an estimated loss of millions of dollars in wages, war manufacturing, and food spoilage, and forced the government to assume nominal control of the trucking lines.

The office of defense transportation took over at 12:01 a. m. yesterday by authority of President Truman. The striking union had ordered drivers back to work within an hour after the President's action was announced.

The day's sole difficulty occurred at the Keeshin Motor Express company terminal, 221 Roosevelt rd., when 80 ex-strikers reported back for work, and were told by John Keeshin, company head, that because they had struck illegally and had caused him irreparable harm, they would have to file new job applications.

Rival Union Drivers Halted

The 80 balked, arguing this would cost them seniority rights and other benefits. They picketed the terminal, barring numerous over the road drivers, members of local 710 of the rival International Brotherhood of Teamsters, from taking out interstate cargoes.

The blockade was broken up by police led by Capt. George Barnes of the labor detail, who dispersed the pickets and sent the over the road drivers on the way.

Then the ODT moved in on the situation. Thomas Snyder, a regional ODT director, appeared and read an order advising Keeshin that the ODT was in charge. Keeshin yielded. Snyder promptly put the 80 erstwhile strikers back to work.

Wage Loss Set at Million

Ellis T. Longenecker, named by ODT as federal manager of the trucking facilities, sought to indicate that the Keeshin situation was no different than elsewhere, and that no direct control was being exercised.

Other observers estimated that the strike cost the 6,500 strikers and other idle drivers approximately $1,000,000 in wages, and at least several more millions in lost production and food spoilage.

Deliveries of food supplies were expected to be back to normal today.

'MAJOR' STRAYS BUT TRIBUNE TAG GETS HIM HOME

A Tribune key tag, of which there are approximately 15,000 distributed thruout the city, was responsible yesterday for the return of "Major," a collie mascot of the coast guard at 24th and Throop sts.

Found at 3:15 p. m. by Miss Jean Carroll, 16, of 615 W. 18th st., a high school pupil, the dog was returned to its owners by 4:30 p. m. Miss Carroll saw the dog at 18th and Des Moines sts. and noticed the metal disk hanging from his collar read "Kindly notify the Tribune want ad department."

The numbers of the tags are still kept on file at The Tribune public service offices, altho the distribution was discontinued some years ago.

'ERROR PROOF' RADIO SYSTEM IS INAUGURATED

New York, May 24 [Special]—Opening of an error-proof radio system of word transmission between the United States and Great Britain with an extension to San Francisco, over which as many as 488 words per minute can be routed simultaneously in both directions on eight channels carried by single terminal stations in the key cities, was announced here today by RCA Communications, Inc.

By means of the new system it is expected that RCA will handle as many as 200,000,000 words of world-wide communications this year, as compared with the 63,000,000-odd words transmitted in the pre-war year of 1938. The new error-proof method is known as a "time division multiplex radio telegraph." And is regarded as a major advance in international communications.

A vital feature of the system is a method for keeping both transmitting and receiving units in exact electrical step with each other. In appearance, the devices used vary but slightly in appearance from conventional apparatus. Two cabinet racks, each 84 inches high, one a transmitter and the other a receiver, comprise a unit.

FRENCH ARTICLE HINTS BROWDER MAY BE OUSTED

Return to Subversive Activity Foreseen

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—A sensational communist article, which may presage the return of revolutionary and subversive policies against the United States and Great Britain and possibly signal the removal of Earl Browder as the head of American Communists, was being studied in official circles tonight.

The article, which reached official circles here thru France, consisted of a sizzling rebuke from one Communist to another. Jacques Duclos, secretary of the French Communist party, assailed Browder in an article entitled "Notes on the Dissolution of the American Communist Party," which appeared in Les Cahiers du Communisme, official publication of the French Communist party.

As the French article was being translated here, it was published in full in the Daily Worker, in New York City, with a note by Browder which asserted that the article demands "our most respectful consideration."

Given Official Stature

Those conversant with international communist procedure said that Browder's publication of the article gave it official stature and made certain that the article was inspired by Dictator Stalin of Russia. It has been the rule of the allegedly dissolved comintern that every communist leader must publish attacks upon him by leaders outside the country. This rule was enforced to keep leaders in various countries under party discipline.

Officials here also recognized that a leader of Duclos' stature would not criticize the head of the American Communists without Moscow's approval. These officials said that criticism of Browder could not very well come from Moscow, since the international communist organization supposedly is dissolved. So Duclos was evidently employed to announce the change of Communist policy to the world.

Recall Stalin Tactics

It was recalled that whenever Stalin changes his line he disposes of his previously authorized spokesman. For this reason, Maxim Litvinov, former soviet ambassador to the United States, was placed on ice along with collective security when the Hitler-Stalin pact, which precipitated the war, was signed and Molotov became the chief soviet voice on foreign affairs.

It was predicted here that Browder will be similarly shelved and William Z. Foster, veteran Communist, will become the head of the communist activities in this country.

The article of the French Communist was viewed here as heralding an end of the Communist-Democratic honeymoon, which began when Hitler declared war on Russia. Such a step was held here to be fraught with possible grave consequences to the United States.

It was recalled that strikes are one of the chief weapons of the communist world revolution and that a strike of the maritime union, which has been held in congress to have heavy communist affiliations, might delay the return of American soldiers from Europe. It also was recognized that strikes would hamstring the Pacific war.

Dissolution Condemned

Browder's dissolution of the American Communist party into the Communist Political association was condemned by Duclos as a renunciation of world Marxism. Significant passages in the attack included:

"Earl Browder made himself the protagonist of a faulty conception of the direction of the social revolution in general and in particular of the direction of the special evolution of the United States."

"In spite of the declarations concerning the recognition of Marxist principles, we are witnessing a manifest reconsideration of Marxism by Browder and his partisans, a reconsideration expressed thru a conception of lengthy peace between classes in the United States, thru the possibility to suppress class warfare in the post-war period, and thru the establishment of harmony between labor and capital."

YOU CAN'T COVER MOSCOW, SAYS LONDON WRITER

Finds Censors Block Controversial News

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 24—Political censorship is so stringent in Moscow that it has reduced foreign correspondents there to mere "yes men" whose only choice is to send along news copied out of the Russian papers. That assertion was made today by Paul Winterton, who has returned here after three years as correspondent for the London News Chronicle and the British Broadcasting corporation.

In an interview in the World's Press News, a London trade journal, Winterton said that conditions are so difficult that "no useful purpose is served by the newspapers having special correspondents in Moscow."

No Criticism Allowed

The writer for the News Chronicle, which is a leftist paper, asserted that in the three years he was in Moscow it was impossible to write anything implying the slightest criticism of anything Russian or disagreeing in any way with soviet policy.

He said that censorship made it impossible to give an impartial account of the Russian attitude toward the British, of the situation in the Baltic states, of Russian treatment of British prisoners or of the Red army of occupation in Germany.

Prefer "Yes" Men

The only official contact Winterton had was with the press department of the foreign office, which he characterized as "utterly incompetent, uninterested, and frequently obstructive."

Winterton said he had decided "that the Russian authorities, who are highly suspicious of all foreigners, prefer that news from Russia should be covered by Tass yes men and by a minimum number of agencies confining themselves as far as possible to official reports."

REDS A STRANGE LOT TO YANKS THEY SET FREE

BY DAVID DARRAH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 24—Russian ways are strange and unfathomable, according to American war prisoners back from German camps in the area taken by the Russian army.

"They certainly know how to clown and celebrate and the Germans are scared to death of them," said Sgt. Archie Cothren, Dierks, Ark., of the 92d bomber group, 8th air force, who was liberated from Stalag 17-B in Krems, Austria.

Cothren said the Russians looted everywhere and told the Americans they were free to do the same. There was much banqueting on vodka, brandy, and meat.

Drive In Herd of Cattle

"A request for rations would result in the Russians driving in a whole herd of cattle for our consumption," he said.

Lt. Richard Bowman, Denver, Colo., of the 388th bomber group, 8th air force, who was in Stalag Luft 1 in Barth, Pomerania, described how Russian soldiers on a rampage came into the prison camp and shot the locks off doors of a Red Cross storeroom and helped themselves.

Don GI Jackets

"They took off their coats and donned GI jackets they found," he said.

Pvt. Norman Cowie, Redlands, Cal., of the 106th infantry division, who was in Stalag 4-B at Muehlburg near Falkenberg, said Red soldiers frequently robbed American prisoners.

"If they saw something they wanted they would make the American prisoner hand it over," he said. "They liked watches. They took a leather jacket from our major. They seemed to think it was fun."

Lt. James Sanders, Detroit, Mich., of the 483d bomber group, 15th air force, who was in Stalag Luft 3 at Sagan, between Dresden and Berlin, found that the Russians, celebrating as they have been doing since entering Germany, were too jovial and social.

"They sometimes would meet Americans along the road, invite them to climb in their tank, and down vodka by the tumbler full," he said.

Too Busy Celebrating

Pvt. Stanley Stopper, 106th infantry division, Lynn, Mass., was in a prison camp at Wysmar, east of Hamburg, when a Russian patrol came in on May 2 on one side and the Canadians on the other side. He said the Russians didn't pay much attention to the Americans.

"The Red soldiers were too busy celebrating to do anything for us," he said. "Finally the Canadians got several trucks for us. They gave us pistols and ammunition and told us to make our way toward France."

Sgt. Tommie Alfano, Birmingham, Ala., 48th bomber group, 15th air force, who also was in Stalag Luft 1, said that when the Russians came they sent entertainers to the Barth camp and distributed food.

"The Russian show was one of the best entertainments I've seen," he said. "But they are certainly a funny lot. They would grab Americans by the hand but you couldn't tell what they might do to you next."

Seeking Divorce

CONSTANCE BENNETT

Los Angeles, May 24 (AP)—Screen Actress Constance Bennett today sued her fourth husband, Actor Gilbert Roland, for divorce on grounds of extreme mental cruelty.

She asked the court to approve a settlement which her attorney, Harvey L. Silbert, said provides for Miss Bennett and Roland each to retain individual property and requires no alimony.

The settlement also gives custody of the couple's two young daughters, Linda and Christina Gyl Roland, to Miss Bennett, with Roland to have custody every other weekend.

She and Roland were married four years ago in Yuma, Ariz., and separated last September.

Miss Bennett's former husbands were Chester Moorehead, the late Phillip Plant, and the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudraye, third husband of Gloria Swanson.

FLAMES SWEEP TOKYO HOURS AFTER B-29 RAID

GUAM, May 25 [Friday]—(AP)—Flames swept the Shinagawa industrial area of Tokyo hours after the biggest Super Fortress raid in history—more than 550 planes—showered 9,000,000 pounds of incendiary bombs on the Nipponese capital yesterday.

Japanese imperial headquarters said that five and one-half hours after the big planes struck the city at 1:30 a. m. [12:30 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago time], "almost all fires" were extinguished. It reported only "some 250" B-29s made the attack and while omitting mention of damage to industrial plants said an arbor in the imperial palace was hit and "an establishment" inside the Akasaka palace grounds was destroyed.

The Nipponese announcement also made the unconfirmed claim that 27 Super Forts were shot down and 30 more damaged.

RED PAPER CHARGES INTERVENTION PLOT BY POLISH GENERALS

MOSCOW, May 24 (AP)—A commentator in Red Star charged today that a group of exiled Polish generals was plotting intervention in the new Poland, the soviet union and other European countries from bases in northwest Germany assigned to the British army of occupation.

The writer, Konstantin Hoffman, said they had as their basic idea "the liberation of Europe from the bolshevik danger." He declared that among the group were Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, commander in chief of the London Polish government's armed forces, Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski, and Lt. Gen. Taduesz Komorowski [Gen. Bor].

"Lessons of the war," he said, "did not change some politicians to the new course in the reorganization of free Europe, but have given them new desires for their old plans of balkanizing Europe."

TOUGH TERRAIN RAISES OKINAWA CASUALTY TOLL

Caves Favor Fanatical Jap Defenders

BY HAROLD SMITH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ADVANCE PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Guam, May 25 [Friday]—Okinawa's high and still mounting casualties reflect no failure of our strategy or tactics but are normal consequences of numerous factors. They would be much higher if our military leaders did not value human life.

More casualties are to be expected from now on because at last we are beginning to meet the enemy's main force after three years of preliminary sparring.

On Okinawa, as on other volcanic islands we have taken such as Saipan, Guam, Peleliu, and Iwo, the terrain greatly favors the defender who starts with an advantage. He can hide in prepared positions while the attacker is exposed and above ground. Volcanic islands—and it's well to remember the Jap main islands fall into this category—have rugged surfaces that enable the occupants to dig in deeply and observe the newcomers' movements for the benefit of protecting weapons set up in advance.

Build Powerful Defenses

The Japs picked a defender's dream on Okinawa. Long before we came they withdrew to the island's highly developed southern end and established their defense in depth at the narrowest point of approach. They built mutually protecting fortresses in the high ground in the middle of the bottleneck that effectively neutralizes the coastal plains on the east and west. They set up defense rings so that when they were driven out of one they could fall back to the next and fire on the abandoned line's strong points.

In some previous Pacific campaigns it was said that the Jap was a novice with artillery and that he was slow to profit from his mistakes and experiences. Those observations have much less weight since Peleliu, Iwo, and especially Okinawa.

On Okinawa the Jap had his first real opportunity to use his artillery and he hasn't done at all badly, altho he has still much to learn. On the smaller islands long range artillery is impractical and highly vulnerable to naval gunfire. The Philippines fighting was mainly on large land masses, but there the enemy was unable to pick his own battlefields and, for lack of transportation, could not mass artillery effectively.

Change Plans to Meet Yanks

There is plenty of evidence now that the Nips have fathomed some of our offensive strategy and have altered their defensive schemes accordingly. A case in point is the Okinawa defense plan whereby the Jap holed up behind the shortest possible defense line, forcing us to slug it out with him toe to toe and depriving us of the immense superiority of our maneuverability and limiting our use of tanks.

M. P. BURNS UP CABLE PLEADING LOVE FOR INGA

[By Wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, May 24—Trans-Atlantic wires have been burning up for several days as Robert Boothby, parliament member, urges Inga Arvad, whom Hitler called "the perfect Nordic beauty" to go thru with their marriage plans.

Boothby met Inga in San Francisco, where she was covering the conference. There was a three day courtship.

Inga said she wouldn't let her bad publicity, gained when she interviewed Hitler, interfere with his career.

Daughter of Von Papen Reported Under Arrest

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—Margarethe von Papen, daughter of Franz von Papen, the nazi diplomat, has been arrested on a country estate in Germany, the Luxemburg radio said tonight in a broadcast reported by the Exchange Telegraph news agency. [Franz von Papen was captured by American troops in a Ruhr hunting lodge April 11.

G I Joe in the Pacific

By ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

AN EMBARKATION PORT IN INDIA—The boys here are going home. Victory is their own in Burma. But before you cheer let me introduce you.

Over there is Pvt. William Truitt, Salem, Ind. He drove a truck 18 months in Iran, hauling supplies to Russia, and then came to the far east to truck supplies to China and Burma. He slept on the tailgate of his truck, ate spasmodically, and wore out six trucks. The other day he was driving along a road in China carrying ammunition to Chinese troops.

A Jap raiding party had been in the district and had crossed paths with Chinese villagers fleeing the battle zone. The Japs attacked. As Truitt drove over a road lined with grotesque figures of people overrun by violent death, he came upon the body of a girl about 5 years old. He stopped, picked up the torn form, carried her to a patch of shade, and placed her there in the grass at the side of a woman who might have been the mother. Then he drove on.

"Lord, but it was awful," he says. Now he's going home and he wants a car. For six months, he says, he won't do a thing. He doesn't care about any cheers.

This One Was "Lucky"

Next to him is Joe Fauber, Lebanon, Pa. He flew with a Liberator crew. His was a snooper ship, so called because it flew alone, mostly at night. The airmen flew as far as the Philippines hunting ships and tracing the weather. They drove heavy shipping from Shanghai, swooping down against the biggest ship, laying bombs and watching the flares as they hit.

Once in daylight they attacked a cruiser and six destroyers. The bombs missed. "But we sure must have scared them," Fauber says. "They had us scared, too, with their ack-ack."

He says he's going home because he's lucky. Ten crews came out. One hit a mountain. Another went down in flames from Jap fighters. Nobody knows what happened to two more. That leaves six to go home. So Joe sort of hopes that when he gets home people won't cheer.

Illinois Flyer Hurt Aground

That guy with the cast around his chest is Jimmy Link, a staff sergeant from Springfield, Ill., a radio operator on bombers. His outfit asked for volunteers to drive a truck convoy over the Burma road. Link and others were put in a truck and started down from China to get the trucks.

On a sharp turn in a mountain pass the driver swerved to miss another truck. The vehicle slid from the road and rolled downhill. Jimmy was thrown clear. He got only a back injury. That's the reason for the cast. But those that the truck rolled on were a gory sight. Jimmy thinks cheers are not appropriate.

Anyhow, He's Glad

And that fellow from Oklahoma sitting so quietly and smiling. He was shot down over Burma 18 months ago and put in a Jap prison. He was freed only a few days ago. "I certainly am glad to be back in Oklahoma," he says. "Did I ever tell you about the time I was in the army? They sent me to India. Sure glad to be back in Oklahoma."

In the Jap prison, Oklahoma became an obsession with him. He wanted to be there. He feared he would never return. One day he awoke from a sleep convinced he was back home. He'd forgotten about the Japs. His mind had jumped the prison walls and he was back in Oklahoma. I won't give his name. He doesn't remember it himself, and so there's no use telling it. But he's on his way to the United States, fresh from victory in Burma.

R.A.F. Lays 47,000 Mines; 500 German Ships Sunk

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—The R. A. F. bomber command announced today that its planes laid in German waters 47,000 mines which sank more than 500 ships and damaged 480 during the war.

RUSSIANS AGREE TO SPEED ALLIED PRISONERS HOME

PARIS, May 24 (AP)—The western allies have agreed with soviet military authorities on the greatest mass repatriation program in history, involving the movement of 2,500,000 persons, supreme headquarters announced tonight.

Among those to be repatriated are between 15,000 and 20,000 American prisoners of war and from 25,000 to 30,000 British prisoners behind Russian lines. The prisoners will be exchanged directly across the lines now held by the British, Americans and the Russians.

Prior to the agreement the Russians insisted upon repatriating prisoners thru Odessa, a process which took many weeks.

Stumbling Block Removed

The exchange of displaced persons and prisoners has been one of the main stumbling blocks to smooth relations between the Russians on one side and the Americans and British on the other.

The western allies have been displeased because the Russians refused to permit prisoners behind their lines to be removed at once by truck. Russian newspapers have been claiming that Russians on the allied side have not been receiving proper treatment.

Ten Camps Established

"Ten reception and delivery camps have been established by Anglo-American authorities along the border of the Russian zone of control in Germany, and similar camps, on the average 30 kilometers [18.6 miles] to the east, have been established by the Russians on their side of the border," the SHAEF announcement said.

"The wounded and sick have first priority in the repatriation program. Many thousands of Russians who are now in France and Belgium or in the Anglo-American zone of Germany will be flown by airplane to 'hand over camps' and there transferred into trucks for the final lap of the journey.

"The Russians in Germany will be moved by rail or truck, or if the distance warrants, by airlift."

U. S. Motor Minesweeper Lost in Philippine Action

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—The motor minesweeper YMS 481 has been lost in the Philippines thru enemy action, the navy announced today. Casualties among the ship's complement, normally about 30 officers and men, were described as moderate. The skipper, Lt. [j. g.] Theron O. Anglin, Wadley, Ga., was reported wounded.

2,000 BOMBERS WILL FLY 40,000 AIRMEN TO U. S.

Crews to Quit Britain Within 60 Days

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—United States 8th air force headquarters announced today that 40,000 air and ground crew members from 19 American heavy bomber bases in England would be flown back to the United States within 30 to 60 days.

About 20,000 men from the same groups will follow by water. The announcement said leaves and furloughs would be granted all "as soon as possible" after arrival. Of the remaining forces, it was announced, some will go directly to the Pacific.

After home leaves, all men moved to the United States will return to their original organizations "and will not be assigned to replacement or redistribution centers," it was stated.

Lt. Gen. Doolittle, before relinquishing command of the 8th air force and returning to the United States, said the group had approximately 40 bomber and 20 fighter bases in England.

Not more than 10 of the 8th air force's 60 bomber and fighter groups are expected to remain as part of the allied occupation forces. The first 50 bomber loads of men returned to the United States early this week.

Each Craft to Carry 20

More than 2,000 bombers which a few weeks ago were attacking Germany will ferry the 40,000 men back home in one of the largest air movements ever undertaken. Each bomber will carry 20, including its normal complement of 10 in the combat crew. Passengers will include crew chiefs, armorers, and other ground personnel.

Weather permitting, the regular air transport command northern route will be followed. Landings will be made at Meek field, Iceland; Goose bay, Labrador, and Bradley field, Windsor Locks, Conn. Under adverse weather conditions, the southern route by way of the Azores will be used.

Liberator groups scheduled for immediate return to the United States include the 44th, 93d, 389th, 392d, 445th, 446th, 448th, 453d, 458th, 466th, 467th, and 491st. Flying Fortress groups include the 91st, 351st, 381st, 398th, 401st, 457th, and 82d.

Two Planes Fly from Sweden

U. S. BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, May 24 (AP)—Two United States 8th air force bombers that had been interned in Sweden arrived here today, the first of approximately 80 such planes expected to return to England soon.

One was a B-24 Liberator manned by airmen who had been interned in Sweden.

GRABS SWORD THAT RAN THRU HIM; 2 JAPS DIE

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—An Indian noncommissioned officer in the British army has been awarded the Victoria cross posthumously for the amazing feat of killing two Japanese with an enemy officer's sword—after the same sword had passed entirely thru his body.

The Japanese officer withdrew the sword and the Indian tore it from his grasp and killed him with it. The Indian then killed another Japanese who was struggling with a second British soldier.

The noncom, Naik Fazal Din, next waved on with the sword the troops under him and staggered to platoon headquarters near-by to make a report. He died a short while later.

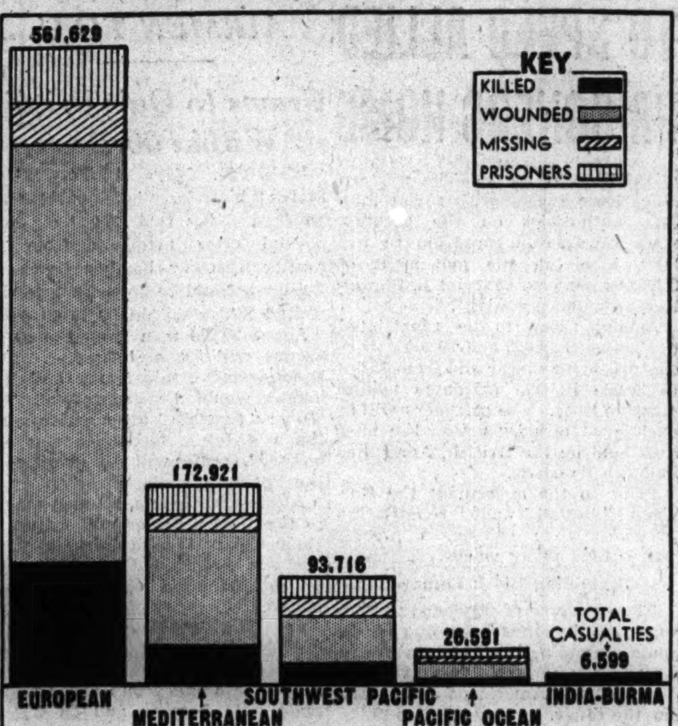
American Casualties Since War Began Near a Million



Division of American war casualties by theaters, based on reports thru early April.

Comparative army and navy casualties in the war.

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—The army and navy have suffered almost a million casualties since the beginning of the war, the two services reported today.

The army has lost 886,525, on the basis of individual names received here thru May 14. Navy losses of 109,564 make the total 996,089. This is an increase of 9,875 over last week's report.

Figures Are Given for All Theaters

Undersecretary of War Patterson released the following army casualty tabulation, broken down by theaters, as reported thru April 30 and reflecting fighting thru the beginning of April:

	Killed	Wounded	Missing	Prisoners	Total

GEN. REYNOLDS' POST HERE GOES TO GEN. M'COACH

Maj. Gen. Russel B. Reynolds, commanding general of the 6th service command, who came to Chicago Oct. 30, will be replaced about June 1 by Maj. Gen. David McCoach Jr., 58, now in the European theater, it was announced last night. Gen. Reynolds will accept a new assignment overseas, he said.

Maj. Gen. McCoach

Gen. McCoach, a native of Philadelphia, was graduated from West Point in 1910 and was assigned to the Mississippi river inspection division at Memphis, Tenn. Before sailing for France in 1918 he served with the army engineers in the Panama Canal Zone and on other assignments. In France he joined the 27th division and subsequently was assigned to the personnel division at general headquarters of the American expeditionary force. He returned in 1919 to the general staff in Washington, D. C. In September, 1943, he was promoted to major general.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By BEN MARKLAND

May 24, 1945.

EXPERIMENTS in the prevention of backaches are being conducted on the Wheaton farm. The experimenters are gardeners, rather than doctors or physiologists, and they're testing new methods of eliminating dandelions and other lawn weeds thru a procedure other than the tedious and back breaking work of hand extraction.

The new weed destroying process consists of spraying the farm lawns with a di-nitro material called Sinox. A lawn about 20 feet wide and 150 feet long is being used for the tests, and if the spray is successful on this patch it later will be used for controling turf weeds on the entire lawn. In addition to Sinox, the new 2-4D chemical also will be used in a small section of the test area so that a comparison between the two new methods of killing weeds will be available.

Manufacturers Confident

The makers of Sinox claim that this chemical can be diluted with water and sprayed on lawns to kill all weeds and clover without damaging or discoloring the blue grass. The farm's turf area provides a good test for this claim, because it is heavily infested with dandelions, thistle, crab grass, plantain, chickweed, and clover. The first spray consisted of five ounces of chemical in 100 gallons of water to cover 2,000 square feet of lawn.

Farm workers spraying chemical on a lawn area to kill dandelions and other turf weeds.

Additional weekly applications will be made for eight weeks. By that time the area should be free of weeds, and the bluegrass should be stronger because of the chemical's nitrogen content, the makers say.

Original Cost Heavy

Some of the weeds should be eliminated by the first two or three sprays, but plantain and clover are harder to kill and may require the full treatment. Tests made on golf courses show that thistles are easily killed and chickweed and dandelions are comparatively easy to eliminate, but buckhorn, plantain, and clover require persistent spraying. Lawns having light infestation of weeds may be controled by three to five weekly sprays.

The deterrent to common use of Sinox will be the cost of necessary equipment. Because of the great amount of water needed in diluting the chemical, hand sprayers are not practical. A wheelbarrow sprayer [15 gallon capacity] is being used in the farm test. This sprayer costs $22.50; a hydromixer attachment costs $20; one gallon of spray chemical costs $6, and a nozzle costs $2.75, making a total cost of $51.25 in addition to that of the necessary hose. This expense is worthwhile for homeowners who have large lawns, but not for small home lawns.

The test of 2-4D chemical may prove more practical for small lawns, and results of these tests will be contained in later articles in this column.

★ The GARDEN ★

A MAJOR planting of bush lima beans was made in the farm's sample gardens the middle of this week. The variety used has been the favorite type in the farm gardens for several years because growing tests in the plots have proved it superior in flavor and yield.

The gardeners left three feet between rows, with planting furrows two inches deep. Seeds were spaced about five inches apart, and, if all germinate, the plants will be thinned to stand at least 10 inches apart. Gardeners preferring the small seed "baby limas" may plant seeds about four inches apart and thin to eight inches apart in the row.

The farm gardeners usually make only one planting of lima beans, because one crop will provide successive harvest if picked regularly.

4 MORE SHIPS ENTER RIVER ON WAY TO OCEAN

Four large ocean going motor ships, destined to become cargo carriers for the army and navy, which were constructed at shipyards on Lake Michigan and Lake Superior, were tied up yesterday at the U. S. maritime commission's dock at 16th st. and the Chicago river. The ships' masts and super-structures are removed at this point to permit their passage beneath bridges en route to New Orleans, La., via the drainage canal and the Mississippi river.

While one of the ships, the Honda Knot, was awaiting tugs to tow her to Joliet, another vessel, completed less than a week ago at a Superior, Wis., shipyards, was reported nearing Chicago. Two others, the Traverse and the Pipestone, were towed to Joliet yesterday morning. From the time of their completion until they are turned over to army or navy commands at New Orleans, the vessels are in charge of Frank J. Murphy.

No Qualified Successor to Hitler—in Hitler's Eyes

BERCHTESGADEN, May 24 (AP)—Anna Schroeder, since 1933 one of Adolf Hitler's personal secretaries, said today that the fuehrer didn't believe any one was really qualified to succeed him. Miss Schroeder told American officers that Hitler during his relaxed moods often chatted freely with her and that he once told her Hermann Goering was unfit to replace him, Rudolph Hess was crazy, and Heinrich Himmler was not acceptable to the Nazi party.

'BIG 3' PARLEY SOON REPORTED BY WHITE HOUSE

Truman, Churchill, and Stalin Included

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—The White House today reported that an early conference between President Truman and Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill is "definitely in the works."

At the same time White House Press Secretary Ross said the chief executive would fly to San Francisco to make his announced address at the concluding session of the world security conference.

On the impending Big Three meeting, Ross reported that the impending election in Britain would not affect the time of the meeting. However, he would give no hint as to when or where the three leaders will gather.

[In London responsible government quarters were quoted by the Associated Press as saying that the possibility of a Big Three meeting before mid-July was extremely remote. These sources said the forthcoming parliamentary general elections would preclude Prime Minister Churchill's participation in such a meeting until after the elections.]

Will Be Gone a Week

It was emphasized that the special mission of Harry L. Hopkins and Joseph E. Davies to Moscow and London, respectively, would not in any sense constitute a substitute to a Truman-Stalin-Churchill conference.

"The missions do not take the place of the Big Three conference which is definitely in the works," Ross said. "They are not a substitute for the projected meeting of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill, and Marshal Stalin."

In flying to San Francisco Mr. Truman probably will be absent less than a week from his desk in the White House, Ross said, altho the President is planning to take a side trip to the northwest for a few days of rest and recreation.

Family Won't Go

Mr. Truman will arrive in San Francisco a few hours before he will address the final plenary session of delegates in the San Francisco opera house. He will speak for about 15 minutes and witness the signing of the world security charter, which will be submitted to the various countrie for ratification.

On the trip the President will not be accompanied by any of his family.

SYRIAN ENVOY'S RECALL MAY BE ASKED BY PARIS

PARIS, May 24 (AP)—Responsible quarters indicated today that France might demand the recall of the Syrian and Lebanese ministers who told a press conference yesterday that their two countries were determined to resist alleged "bullying" by the French. Official circles regard the action as a breach of diplomatic practice.

The ministers said that if their governments could not reach a settlement in their dispute with France, the Syrian and Lebanese homelands, backed by the Arab world "would use every means at their disposal to resist." It said "no nation in the world has the privilege of using force" in their countries.

Syrian Chamber Called

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 24 (AP)—Strikes continued thru the sixth day in Syria and Lebanon today as demonstrators protested the presence of French troops, and the Syrian chamber of deputies was summoned to vote on future relations with France. In Lebanon the national congress voted support of the government policy in rejecting French negotiations which would withhold unqualified recognition of Lebanese and Syrian independence.

AOSTA VALLEY SPLIT ON FRENCH ANNEXING PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, May 24—The desire of the French to advance their Alpine boundary to include the Italian valley of Aosta has split Aosta inhabitants into two camps, one favoring French citizenship and the other demanding cultural and fiscal autonomy within the framework of the Italian state. This was reported today in the liberal Milan newspaper Libera.

The Aosta valley speaks a French dialect vastly different from the French of Parisians. The people were persecuted by Mussolini, who tried to Italianize all names and forbade the use of French.

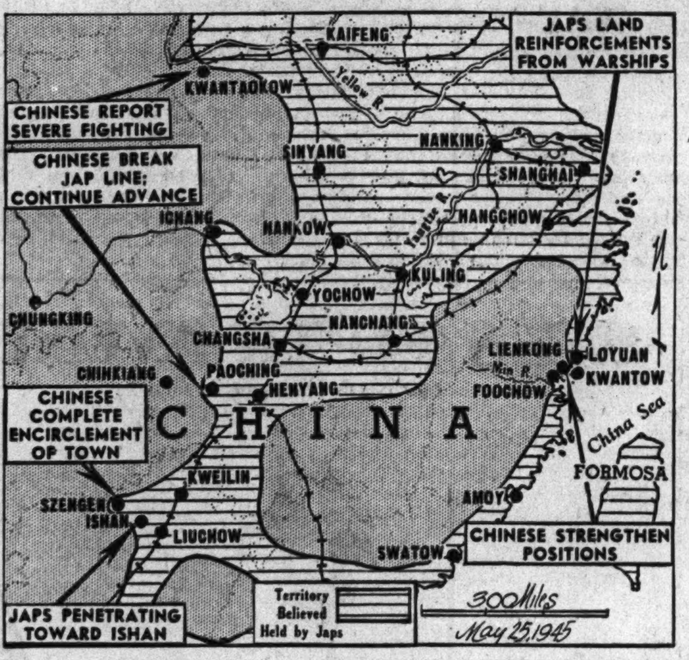
Japs Re-enforce China Forces



Land Near Foochow

CHUNGKING, China, May 24 (AP).—The Japanese have rushed reënforcements by warships into the critical east coast sector northeast of the liberated port of Foochow, where they fear American forces soon may strike from the sea, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

A special bulletin said the enemy had thrown these fresh forces into battle in an attempt to stem a Japanese retreat which had rolled back to near Loyuan, 31 miles northeast of Foochow.

The landings were made Tuesday north of Loyuan from "several warships," but the high command said the Japanese were being checked with the help of "local militia."

The Chinese were nearing Loyuan after advancing nine and a half miles yesterday beyond captured Lienkong, 20 miles northeast of Foochow.

Far to the west, Chinese troops broke a Japanese stand 19 miles west of Shaoyang [Paoching] and pressed on east toward that former air base 340 miles southeast of Chungking.

Danes Capture General Fleeing in Landing Craft

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 24—Danish Liberty fighters tonight captured a well stocked German landing craft and arrested three German officers trying to escape from Germany. One was Lt. Gen. Gerhard Bielig, once appointed by Hitler to captain a luxury submarine designed to take the German fuehrer to Japan when the war was lost.

BRITISH SET UP GOVERNMENT IN AUSTRIA REGION

LONDON, May 24 [Reuters]—Field Marshal Alexander has set up a military government to exercise supreme legislative, judicial, and executive authority within the Austrian territory occupied by British 8th army troops, it was announced at allied headquarters today. In two proclamations to the Austrian people, Alexander indicated that this step was taken pending the establishment of an allied commission for Austria by the British, United States of America, soviet, and French governments.

NEW SLAV FORCE OCCUPIES AREA NEAR TRIESTE

TRIESTE, Italy, May 24 (AP)—The Yugoslavs have moved additional forces into the region north of Trieste and have notified allied troops that several of the villages they occupied there on Tuesday were in the Yugoslav occupation zone, it was learned tonight.

Disputes over the villages were being worked out at the scene, with no incidents reported. In general, allied forces were informing the Yugoslavs that they could not move out of places they occupied in Tuesday's "peaceful penetration," but they were permitting Marshal Tito's men to billet in available buildings.

Tension Relaxed

In Trieste itself the tension appeared to have relaxed as few Yugoslav patrols moved about the streets, but the population was growing hungrier each day. Food supplies brought in by the allies have been going directly to their troops. Lines formed at dawn for the daily bread ration, now reduced to about the size of a hamburger roll.

New Zealanders were the only allied troops left in Trieste. The United States 91st division was at Gorizia, north of Trieste, and the 10th mountain division held positions northwest of Gorizia, near Caporetto.

Discussions on High Level

Discussions toward settlement of the dispute continued on a high level. There was no indication whether the allies would find acceptable the three point proposal which Tito was said to have handed allied representatives in Belgrade two days ago.

A Yugoslav controled Italian newspaper published today an account of a speech it said Marshal Tito delivered yesterday in Belgrade in which Tito was quoted as having reaffirmed his intention of keeping troops in the Trieste region.

ONE BULLET SETTLES AN ALTERCATION IN AN OKINAWA TRENCH

OKINAWA, May 24 (AP)—In the 77th division sector an American with a knee wound, waiting thru the night in a slit trench to be removed to a hospital, grappled with an intruder. Maj. Eugene Cook of Dadeville, Ala., who was near-by said he overheard this conversation:

"You're a dirty Jap."

"I'm not so—I'm an American."

They wrestled and argued until Pvt. James E. Satterfield of Pisgah, Ala., shouted from his foxhole: "If you're sure he's a Jap, hold his head up."

The wounded American pushed the intruder's head above the trench and Satterfield fired. Come daylight, they found a dead Japanese in the trench with the wounded American.

HODGES INVADES ATLANTA: TAKES IT AMID CHEERS!

Wife Wears a 'Foolish Red Hat' for Reunion

Atlanta, Ga., May 24 (AP)—Gen. Hodges came home today to his native Georgia and the wife he left behind 15 months ago to lead the United States 1st army in its victorious march thru France, Belgium, and Germany.

He returned to the cheers of countless thousands who lined the streets to witness the biggest parade in the city's history.

The four star general, 58, had his first glimpse of Mrs. Hodges when he arrived at the hotel where a reception had been arranged. As he led the procession of generals and GIs, he heard the voice of his wife call, "Remember me?" His look, and the kiss that followed, showed that he did. Mrs. Hodges' special preparations for the reunion included a new hair-do, a "foolish red hat," as she called it, and the purchase of some bacon, which they will have for breakfast in the morning. "He's sure to like my foolish red hat," she said, "but he's sure not to admit it."

Seven Other Georgians

With the general came 46 officers and enlisted men, including seven other Georgians. Met by scores of army bombers and fighters, the huge transport planes which brought them here from New York landed at the army air base at 1:05 p. m.

The party included: Lt. Gen. Brereton, San Antonio, Tex.; Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Washington; Major Generals Samuel E. Anderson of Alexandria, Va.; Troy H. Middleton of Baton Rouge, La., and Ira T. Wyche of Pinehurst, N. C.; and Brigadier Generals Herbert B. Thatcher of Chevy Chase, Md.; Ewart C. Plank of Lawrence, Kas., and Doyle O. Hickey of Indianaola, Miss.

Greeted at the airport by Gov. Ellis Arnall, Mayor W. B. Hartsfield and Maj. Gen. Frederick E. Uhl of the 4th service command, the bronzed gray-haired Hodges said "I am very glad to be here." He kept looking around, apparently seeking that "foolish red hat."

Crowd Goes Wild

But the quiet, mustached general described by his wife as "the most patient man in the world," seemed to enjoy it all even tho Mrs. Hodges and many of the other army wives were waiting in specially reserved hotel suites to see their men.

The folks went wild as the 40 cars carrying the visitors wound along historic Peachtree st. Confetti and ticker tape poured from windows of downtown buildings. The city finally found a use for its air raid sirens and their shrill screeching joined the roar of the planes overhead.

As the cars moved along, crews of two of them fired machine guns loaded with blanks to the crowd's enjoymen. The next stop was a hotel near that where the wives waited. A 17 gun salute and speech making featured the reception there.

Hodges' home town of Perry, Ga., virtually closed for the day as all of the 2,000 residents who could arrange transportation flocked to Atlanta.

ROCKET BOMBS MAY BE FINAL BLOW AT JAPAN

American rocket bombs more powerful than those fired by the Nazis against England were cited last night as a logical development in the final stages of the war on Japan by G. Edward Pendray, secretary of the American Rocket society. He addressed the American Society for Metals at the Chicago Bar association, 29 S. La Salle st.

G. Edward Pendray

Pendray, who is assistant to the president of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, said it was logical to assume the thousands of bombs now being produced under government contract will be used in defeating Japan, and pointed to the similarity of the Japanese home islands and England as rocket bomb targets. The Germans had a wide range of European coast line and a concentrated target in southern England's industrial region.

The Chinese coast line would provide a similar base from which to launch rocket bombs against the concentrated industrial region of Japan.

Eventually, Pendray said, rocket power may enable engineers to build a 1,500 mile an hour plane.

$1,300 FORGER WINS LENIENCY AS MARINE VET

Pvt. John Taylor, 18, of 1157 Sedgwick st., marine veteran of 14 months on Guadalcanal and Guam, was given a chance to make good when he was fined only $1 yesterday by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe for forging and passing $1,300 worth of war bonds. Taylor was accused of taking $110 and the bonds from James C. Hughes, 1019 N. Dearborn st., Feb. 20. He admitted taking the bonds and beating Hughes after, he said, Hughes insulted him. Capt. Charles Komaiko of the marine barracks at Great Lakes naval training center told the court the marine corps would send Taylor overseas after a summary court martial.

Bond Total Rises

War bond sales in Chicago and Cook county in the last week totaled $28,455,000, bringing the amount so far purchased in the 7th loan to $82,331,000, or 25.1 per cent of the $327,474,000 assigned the city and county for individuals in the drive, Lawrence Stern, chairman, announced yesterday.

Renslow P. Sherer, state chairman, said state-wide sales climbed $42,500,000 in a week, making the total for the state to date $127,800,000, or 26.1 per cent of the state's individual quota of $490,000,000.

The reports covered all sales from April 9, when the pay roll deduction plan went into effect, thru May 21.

Comdr. Jack Dempsey of the coast guard, former heavyweight champion of the world, will sell bonds from the Mighty 7th center at State and Madison sts. Saturday noon. Music for the rally will be furnished by the Amphibians, coast guard veterans of the Normandy invasion.

STATE FINES 40 FOR VIOLATING TRUCKING LAWS

Forty truckers, charged with driving vehicles that were overweight, had faulty brakes, or were not hooked up properly, paid fines totaling $270 to the state yesterday when they appeared before Police Magistrate Marvin Capouch in Cicero. Khaki clad men wearing uniforms similar to those of the state police and carrying stars reading "automobile investigators, state of Illinois," for several days have been stopping country bound trucks on Cicero av. at various crossings around 26th st. and checking weights and license plates, Cicero police said.

POLICE AND FBI JOIN SEARCH FOR 3 ESCAPED JAPS

Chicago police and the federal bureau of investigation joined military authorities last night in their search for three Japanese prisoners of war who escaped Monday night from Camp McCoy, Wis. Military police released the following names and descriptions:

Hajime Hashimoto, 23, wounded in action, 5 feet 4 inches, 130 pounds; Kohei Tanaka, 24, 5 feet 2 inches, 115 pounds, and Takeo Nakamura, 24, 5 feet 4 inches, 130 pounds. The men were wearing blue denim overalls and black raincoats and were carrying duffel bags when they escaped.

Police also were warned to be on the lookout for two German prisoners of war who escaped from the Bough Fertilizer company, Fostoria, O., where they were working. The men are Hellworth Killian, 21, 5 feet 10 inches, 155 pounds, and Hans Hekel, 19, 5 feet 9 inches, 173 pounds. Both men are blond and neither speaks English.

3 Jap-American Heroes Win Discharge on Points

Three members of the Japanese-American 100th infantry battalion, described as the most decorated unit in the army, were honorably discharged at Fort Sheridan under the point system yesterday. They are Corp. Hiroo Furuya, 27; Pvt. Shizuo Takashige, 28, and Pvt. Shigeo Inouye, 27, all of Hawaii. All enlisted before the attack on Pearl Harbor, and served 2½ years overseas.

TELL HOW YANKS MADE ICELAND BRISTLING FORT

Radar, Planes and Guns Guard Invasion Belt

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 15 [Via Air Mail]—Defenses of Iceland prepared by American occupation forces to defeat any attempt by German invaders to seize or neutralize this North Atlantic island were both elaborate and deadly.

It is now possible to disclose that the vulnerable lowlands southwest of Reykjavik were criss-crossed with probably the world's greatest concentration of radar, and fighter pilots and anti-aircraft gunners waited 24 hours a day for more than two years for the Germans to make their bid.

The attack never came, but many of the men of this lonesome garrison insist that the waiting was far less preferable than combat. The records show that about all they saw were nazi reconnaisance planes or weather flyers, who were particularly active before the Normandy D-day while the German command was seeking knowledge of weather conditions that might have indicated the invasion was imminent.

Watch Still Goes On

With the end of the European war, the tension in Iceland has been relaxed and the question being asked on all sides is "What next?" However, because plans have not been announced, several of the radar installations continue to guard the skyways and the gun crews still tend their weapons on the lava flats within sight of the ocean.

The nerve center of the defenses was in a corrugated steel hut with a curving roof, approximately 100 feet long and 40 feet wide. These curved roof structures, most of them much smaller, are both offices and dwellings for the garrison and are scattered over the lowlands in small clusters almost as far as the eye can see. There must be hundreds.

The main control building housed headquarters of units of the 556th signal air corps warning battalion, the 134th anti-aircraft artillery, and detachment A of the fighter command. These included radar units, searchlights, .50 caliber machine guns, 40 millimeter, and 90 millimeter batteries, and interceptor planes, P-38s, P-39s, and P-40s in the early days but more recently P-47s.

West Front System Used

The two main rooms are [1] the filter room, where all radar reports were received and evaluated, and [2] the control room, which houses a huge detailed table map for plotting unfriendly aircraft.

"Strategic points on the map are marked and the fighter planes were directed to the enemy craft by means of these designations rather than complicated compass points," said Maj. John W. Keil, Cleveland, O. "This saved time and the fighters were able to go directly from the ground toward their quarry without circling for height. The anti-aircraft guns were also fired from here to prevent any mixup between our own planes and the ground batteries."

Iceland's mountainous terrain was taken into account in these plans. The flat lava fields south of Faxafloi bay, on which Reykjavik fronts, are the most logical and inviting assault point of all the lowlands fringing the glacier covered peaks of the interior.

Two Big Air Fields

This is inviting invasion country because it is flat for miles, altho surfaced by sharp chunks of lava from ancient eruptions of the island's more than 100 volcanoes. It is the logical point of attack because it is the location of both the main air bases—Meeks field, for the huge trans-Atlantic air transports, and the fighter strip, Patterson field.

There were other defense zones thruout the island, including one centered in the northern city of Akureyri.

Jap Force Gives Ground to British Near Toungoo

ADVANCED HDQ., Burma, May 24 [Reuters]—A large Japanese force has been obliged to give ground on the Mawchi road east of Toungoo, 150 miles northeast of Rangoon, before British attacks. This Japanese force is attempting to guard its eastern escape routes to Thailand, and fighting is now going on in the natural defense positions in the Shan hills.

WPB APPROVES 200,000 AUTOS FOR CIVILIANS

New Trucks Allowed in Krug Order

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—Chairman Krug of the war production board today authorized automobile manufacturers to produce 200,000 passenger automobiles for civilian use this year. Today's action gives official approval to the recommendations made a week ago by Henry P. Nelson, WPB coördinator for the auto industry.

The auto industry will be permitted to start turning out passenger cars as soon after July 1 as individual manufacturers can get their assembly lines in operation.

No Priority Help Given

Krug emphasized that the automobile industry is not being given priority help to attain the authorized production. He said, however, that the industry is confident it can attain its quotas and most manufacturers believe they could produce more than their quotas if permission were granted. The WPB chairman estimated automobile production may reach 2 million cars by July 1, 1946.

None of the cars to be produced this year will be available for nonessential users.

The quotas fixed for individual manufacturers are based on 1941 production with adjustments to give small manufacturers sufficient output to warrant resumption of operations, Krug said.

Boost Truck Output

Also authorized by WPB was an increase in civilian truck production this year of 180,000 vehicles, mostly light and medium weight trucks. Unlike the passenger car program, the truck manufacturers will be given priority help to achieve the production which was described by Krug as the minimum required to maintain essential civilian transport.

The effect of both the passenger car and truck authorizations will be to make tires exceedingly tight, said Krug.

"We will just squeeze thru," he said.

DE GAULLE ASKS CREDIT, POWER, FUEL CONTROLS

BY ROBERT SAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 24—State control over production of coal and electricity and of the distribution of credit was proposed by Gen. de Gaulle tonight.

In a radio address to the nation De Gaulle also revealed plans to increase the population of France thru economic guarantees to families and fair immigration laws.

All these proposals, De Gaulle said, were necessary to adapt the French nation and society to the character of the times. It is planned to carry them out before the end of the year.

Program Already Begun

State control of fuel, power, and credit already has begun with the nationalization program of coal mines and such big industrial plants as Renault and Gnome et Rhone, and the financial program worked out by Finance Minister Rene Pleven. The final stage of the financial program is about to be put into effect with a change of bank notes followed by the placing of a levy on private capital in excess of $6,000.

De Gaulle said that after giving everything to save national independence it is now France's duty to give everything to hasten economic activity. Backing up the ministerial decision to maintain prices and salaries at the level set by the government, he warned that if this is not done there would be a spiral ending inevitably in inflation, ruin of money, collapse of state finances, and misery for all.

Promises Rigid Controls

Referring to present discontent, he said: "Neither industrial nor agricultural producers are satisfied to see their profits reduced to little—if indeed they don't submit to losses. Neither workers, employes, nor civil servants willingly accustom themselves to not being able to obtain for their earnings commodities and objects which in truth don't exist in sufficient quantities. For public power is easy and the guilty game of demogogy would consist in artificially increasing fictitious revenues of one class or another. Duty, on the contrary, consists in fixing an entire group of prices and salaries in the most equitable way possible and sticking firmly to this. The government has done this. It's sticking to it and will keep on sticking to it."

De Gaulle promised his listeners that the authorities would do all in their power to improve conditions in regard to distribution of foodstuffs and materials for production.

JAPAN DEMANDS PLANE OUTPUT BE STEPPED UP

San Francisco, Cal., May 24 (AP)—The Tokyo radio today said Premier Kantaro Suzuki told an emergency meeting of aircraft manufacturers they must redouble production efforts.

A Domei, Japanese news agency, dispatch said the premier insisted that plane makers step up their schedules despite "difficult conditions" because "airplanes are the key to victory."

Cabinet ministers for war, navy, and munitions also attended the session, said the broadcast.

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT CLEANS ITSELF

DU PONT SELF-CLEANING HOUSE PAINT KEEPS WHITE HOUSES WHITE

Du Pont House Paint starts white—stays white. It's made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's even whiter than snow! It stays white because——It's self-cleaning! Du Pont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash this powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Excessive accumulations of dirt (particularly in sooty industrial communities or in heavily shaded locations) and stains from copper screens may delay or interfere with this process. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

As durable as it is beautiful, Du Pont Self-Cleaning House Paint protects against rust, rot, and decay—gives lasting beauty and protection. Yet it costs no more than other good paints. Call in a reliable painter. He'll be glad to use Du Pont House Paint.

IMPORTANT: Your dealer's stock of Du Pont Self-Cleaning House Paint is limited. Paint is an essential war material. Don't waste it. Don't paint unless your home is vitally in need of protection.

SEE YOUR DU PONT PAINT DEALER TODAY! For his name consult the Classified Telephone Directory—Classification "Paints"—or call the Du Pont Company, Brunswick 6900.

POLITICS BURNS THRU CANADA'S PRAIRIE LANDS

Picture Is Scrambled as Election Nears

BY ARTHUR EVANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

EDMONTON, Alberta, May 24—The Canadian political picture is scrambled in western Canada, where agrarian movements are cutting into the national election June 11.

In Alberta, the Social Credit party, which won control of the provincial government 10 years ago on a promise of $25 a month for every citizen as a social dividend, carried an election last August in a landslide. It elected 51 of the 57 members of the provincial legislature—the six it lost were in Edmonton and Calgary, which have multiple voting to give minority representation.

Now Social Credit is seeking to cut a national swath. In the federal election it has entered candidates for the dominion house of commons in seven of Canada's nine provinces and is contesting 94 of the 245 seats in the house.

The party has 10 of the 17 Alberta seats in commons, the Liberals seven. In most of the 17 Alberta districts, or ridings, five parties are contesting and the prairies are burning.

Party Receives Praise

With the dream of $25 a month for all, on which the late William Aberhart, Calgary high school master and prophetic bible institute teacher, was elected in 1935, now on ice, or at least shelved for the duration, the Social Credit government is being praised for good administration.

The strongest opponent of Social Credit appears to be the Coöperative Commonwealth federation, which runs Saskatchewan.

Some of the critics of 10 years ago say the government here is as sound as in any of the provinces. Social Credit has not given up the $25 a month idea, which was knocked out in the courts, but is holding further efforts on the idea in abeyance.

In administration, however, it is particularly acclaimed for its public health services, which have made it strong with the voters. It has established tuberculosis clinics and free public ward hospital care for all maternity cases. For cancer patients there is free hospitalization, radium and surgical treatment. On old age pensions at age 70, it is paying $5 a month more than other provinces.

Improve Provincial Finances

Under Premier Ernest Manning, 35, a protege of Aberhart, the bonded indebtedness of the province has recently been refunded.

The agrarian movement here seems an echo of the early days of the Nonpartisan league in North Dakota. Back in 1921 the United Farmers of Alberta, with an ideal of $3 a bushel for wheat instead of 65 cents then paid, came into power and held the province until the $25 a month for all cry swept Social Credit in.

In the western provinces the campaign is boiling. John Bracken, head of the Progressive-Conservative party, for 20 years premier of Manitoba, has been attacking Liberals charging falsehood in saying his party if returned to power would wipe the family allowance law from the books.

Call Canada Independent

M. J. Coldwell, leader of the Coöperative Commonwealth federation, is accusing Liberals and Tories in speeches of making deals with the Communists in Ontario, which holds its provincial election June 4.

In these regions, the traveler finds Canadians declaring more emphatically than ever that Canada is an independent nation, with full self government and autonomy in the British Commonwealth. It was reflected in a talk to school children by Prime Minister King near Prince Albert, Sask., when he indicated Canada may soon have its own national flag. He favored this idea last winter in a radio interview.

NO DEALS WITH CHURCHILLITES, LABOR PLEDGES

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 24—The British Labor party made it clear today that it would not rejoin the Conservatives in a new coalition government under any circumstances.

At the Laborite conference in Blackpool, Prof. Harold Laski, party chairman, said "there is no possibility whatever of Labor joining in a coalition with any other parties," but he appealed to the conference not to tie the hands of the party executive, thus leaving the prospect of a Labor tieup with the Liberals and other leftists wide open.

The party convention not only voted unanimously never again to join in a government with the Conservatives but cheered a plea by Aneurin Bevan for "complete extinction" of the Churchill "Tory party."

Warns House of Lords

Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison—the only Labor minister present at the conference today—warned the house of lords that it would have to behave if a Labor government gained power.

"If the Labor party is returned [at the July 5 election] by a majority by the will of the people that will is going to prevail, and no house of lords is going to be permitted to obstruct it," he said.

Morrison explained that the party program made no definite proposals as to how the Laborites would deal with the lords because "we do not know what will happen," but recalled that the program did notify the lords that "if we have any serious nonsense from them they will have more serious results from us. We mean that."

May Stump Country

Prime Minister Churchill, the Conservatives' leader, meanwhile was reported preparing to stump the country personally in behalf of party candidates.

The forthcoming election campaign will be the most expensive one in Britain's history. Everything connected with it—stationery, printing, rents, wages, gas—has doubled or trebled in price since the last elections in 1935. In addition, because bombings and government requisitioning have cut down the number of available halls, candidates are reported to be concentrating on open air meetings.

VENEREAL RATE FOR OCCUPYING TROOPS DOUBLES

WITH AMERICAN OCCUPATION FORCES IN GERMANY, May 24 (AP)—A sharp increase in venereal disease among American combat troops since assignment to guard duty in Germany was disclosed tonight by army medical reports.

In one infantry division the rate of infection was more than doubled in three weeks. It has intensified its system of prophylactic safeguards.

Medical officers told reporters they believed most of the diseases were acquired in contact with displaced foreign women workers. The two American army corps on occupation duty formerly showed a venereal rate of 56 men per 1,000 per year for white troops and 238 men per 1,000 per year for Negro troops. Weekly reports during May from white units show rates equal to 100 men per 1,000 per year.

APO'S FACE BIG JOB WHEN YANKS MOVE TO PACIFIC

HONOLULU, T. H., May 24 (AP)—Army postal officers disclosed today that their biggest job yet will be keeping track of American fighting men from Europe transferred to the Pacific. The officers at headquarters said a division is the smallest unit having an army postoffice number. Thus, in case of divisions or corps moving intact, the APO numbers move with them and the forwarding of mail is simple.

But, they added, individual soldiers in great numbers will be going to outfits with different APO numbers. The problem of forwarding the mail from the old APO's will be a grand scale job.

The announcement said the postal officers already have set up their plans to meet the situation. They expect to act with the same promptness that had first mail ashore on Okinawa within 24 hours after the initial landing there.

SENATOR URGES U.S. TO CANCEL 1918 WAR DEBTS

'Can't Collect Anyhow,' Johnson Asserts

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.] suggested today the United States cancel the 11 billion dollars in war debts of 1918 and give the world a "clean slate" for future financing.

"We can't collect them anyhow," Johnsen asserted at a senate finance committee hearing on a bill to repeal the 10 year old act which prohibits private loans to foreign countries in default of World War I. debts.

He said this government should operate in this sense "like a bank."

"A bank doesn't carry an old debt around, it cancels it," he said. "Why not cancel these old war debts? Get them out of the way. Why have them hanging over the world?"

Fight Is Promised

Asst. Secy. of State Clayton said the department has not discussed such a debt cancellation but he agreed that the defaulters "cannot and will not pay."

Clayton appeared in behalf of the repealer, declaring this country must help finance war ravaged Europe as a matter of good business policy.

Sen. Johnson [R., Cal.], author of the default law, served notice that he will put up a stiff fight against repeal, and was given a week to prepare his case.

Backs Repeal Move

The Californian told a reporter: "We've given almost everything away but we still have something left and I don't want to see that given away."

The finance committee indicated almost unanimous support of the repeal move, however, and Johnson took note of this attitude by calling himself "the only man in here representing the opposition."

Clayton told the committee:

"It will be necessary to do a great deal of reconstruction in Europe. The United States is the only country in position to furnish the tools and the technology. We should furnish them. We have developed our production facilities far beyond the ability of the United States to absorb the products of those facilities.

Loans Called Necessary

"It is very necessary for us to find markets abroad to maintain anything like full employment here. The goods we can turn out are badly needed in many countries that are now under the ban imposed by the Johnson act.

"It will be necessary for foreign governments to float large loans to reconstruct railways, bridges, public buildings. It is very important to us that these countries restore their economies just as quickly as possible, not from any humanitarian standpoint but from a purely commercial viewpoint."

Sen. Bushfield [R., N. D.] interjected that "we're operating ourselves on borrowed money now."

BURGLARS GET $3,000 FURS

Furs valued at $3,000, a leather suitcase, and $100 were taken in a burglary of his home, Meyer Wexner, 5533 Everett av., told police yesterday.

He'll be in there another three weeks. It came on him while he was making a call.

5,000 AGENTS TO PROBE TAX CHEATING ASKED

Morgenthau Cites New York Case

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP)—The treasury is finding so many "shocking, revolting, and disgusting" cases of tax evasion, Secretary Morgenthau said today, that it will ask for at least 5,000 more treasury agents to deal with them.

There were indications that the request would have President Truman's support. Morgenthau saw Truman yesterday. Reporters believed he discussed the tax investigation with the President and probably won his approval for hiring 5,000 new "T-men."

Caches 2 Million in Cash!

The secretary told a news conference today that the owner of a chain of restaurants in New York City salted away $2,200,000 in currency and didn't report it as income until treasury agents began looking into the company's books.

The evidence indicates, he said, that the owner had an armored car sent around to his restaurants daily, for the purpose of collecting certain cash and stowing it away in a vault.

Morgenthau didn't name the owner because he said a person is presumed to be innocent until proved guilty. But he said the evidence so far obtained indicates the government "will prosecute to the hilt" in this case.

Two Sets of Books

The secretary said a lawyer for the company now has made a "voluntary disclosure" of the existence of $2,200,000 cash kept in various vaults.

Morgenthau was asked whether a person who comes in and makes a voluntary statement of his back taxes will get better treatment than one who is caught. He replied:

"Yes, but it always gets into the question of criminal intentions."

The secretary declared, "if a man deliberately cheats his government in war times, I think there is just one place for him and that is jail."

GREEN IS FIRST BUYER OF LEGION JULY 4 TICKETS

Gov. Green yesterday purchased the first tickets for the 11th annual Fourth of July celebration of the Cook county council of the American Legion, it was announced by Russell W. Root, executive vice chairman. Because the governor will be unable to attend, he asked that his box of seats be turned over to patients of Gardiner or Vaughan General hospital. Box seats also were sold to Mayor Kelly and State Auditor Lueder, both of whom asked that their tickets be given to the hospital veterans. The event will be held in Soldiers' field.

STATE CHARGES INSURANCE HEAD GOT KICKBACKS

Bismarck, N. D., May 24 (AP) — Otto R. Vold, former manager of the fire and tornado division of the North Dakota state insurance department, went on the stand just before recess tonight to testify in the impeachment trial of his former supervisor, Insurance Commissioner Oscar E. Erickson.

Altho testimony by Vold today was merely introductory, counsel for the prosecution said earlier that Vold would be one of the principal witnesses in the prosecution's attempt to prove that Erickson received "kickbacks" from insurance agents on reinsurance policies purchased by Erickson for the state operated insurance bureau.

Erickson is on trial before the North Dakota senate, charged by the house of representatives with "crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance and misdemeanors in office."

Your Dealer Has It . . .

A BIG SUPPLY OF PATIENCE

All of us can thank the neighborhood business man for doing a whale of a wartime job. Short of help and with many empty shelves, he has striven to give each family its fair share. He has labored late and often over ration records and changes in regulations. He has been co-operative and uncomplaining. Remembering those away from the homes of the families he serves, he keeps on buying War Bonds—for keeps.

Your dealer has had plenty of company in all walks of life . . . people who have pulled together in a great awakening of the traditional American spirit. They have amazed themselves and the world with their ingenuity. They have found security in self-reliance. They have vowed not to slacken their pace until complete victory is ours.

No less important, they are resolved to apply their new-found ability to the utmost when peace comes to make ours an even better country for those who have defended it so gallantly.

Americans have always been neighborly. It is quite natural then for Budweiser to be America's favorite beer — for, when good friends get together, Budweiser is a friend that needs no introduction.

"Wish my Daddy was home to wear it!"

THAT'S a wish your mother shares with you, little lady. She knows, however, your Daddy still has to finish the job that took him so far away.

But you may be sure he is counting on you and mother to keep things at home just as he left them—his civilian clothes brushed and fresh—the pup healthy and frisky—a smile on your lips and a song in your hearts.

And remember, there's one thing the Daddy you're lonesome for would especially like to have someone tell him soon in a letter. It's that everyone in your neighborhood really did something handsome this time in buying War Bonds.

Yes, we can all make it easier—mentally as well as physically—for our men and women in uniform, if we prove to them now, with extra War Bonds, that we're with them every step of the last hard miles that lie ahead.

Let's make this mighty Seventh War Loan Drive our finest effort. It's our golden opportunity to show our valiant, hard-hitting fighters that we're really worthy of what they're doing for us.

TELLS HOW NAVY ESCORTS SEIZED A U-BOAT INTACT

A Chicagoan Describes Fight Off Dakar

BY CHARLES GOTTHART

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, May 24—Details of one of the war's best kept secrets—the surprising capture intact of the German submarine U-505—were told in full for the first time today by Lt. Comdr. George W. Cassleman of Chicago and Joliet, Ill., skipper of the American destroyer escort Pillsbury, whose men boarded the submarine at sea.

The navy gave Cassleman the Legion of Merit in appreciation of his task, performed last June 4 in the Lt. Albert L. David [left], and Lt. Comdr. George W. Cassleman.

Invaluable Information

Until disclosed last week by top navy officials, secrecy had been imposed on the incident because this first capture of an enemy warship on the high seas since 1815 provided the navy with invaluable information on U-boat operation and design.

Confidential papers disclosed that the marauder was then on its fourth cruise and had sunk 80,000 tons of allied shipping. Its secret codes gave the key to communications among enemy warships.

The day of the capture last summer presented ideal submarine hunting weather—a bright sun and crystal clear water.

Accompanying Carrier

"We were accompanying the baby aircraft carrier Guadalcanal when the sub was spotted," Cassleman recounted. "We were especially anxious to capture a U-boat intact. The Chatelain, one of the five destroyer escorts, dropped depth charges after we had sighted her.

"Only the conning tower was above water and we spotted a man who turned out to be the captain. We opened fire, blowing him up to the bow of the sub. Gunfire was so intense that other crew members were kept below. Another shell blew the captain into the water.

"Another depth charge from the Chatelain forced the sub to the surface, but before this we were kept advised on its maneuvering by two navy fighter planes that were able to follow its underseas movements because the water was so clear.

No Orders to Scuttle

"All destroyer escorts in the group were closing in on the sub, and because of the information we were receiving by radio from the airplanes we had a couple of minutes to prepare for the barrage when the U-boat was forced up.

"When she surfaced, the captain had no time to order the crew to scuttle the ship. His surprise was complete. Depth bomb damage had forced the sub's rudder to jam hard right, and she traveled on the surface in tight circles at about seven knots. That made our job much tougher.

"We dispatched a motor whale boat with a boarding party of eight men under Lt. David, our chief engineer. His eight years of submarine and submarine repair experience made him the best qualified man for the job.

Line Is Attached

"At first the sub couldn't be boarded because of its speed. Finally a line was attached, the Pillsbury meanwhile jockeying into position on the port side. We wanted to get emergency pumps aboard to prevent complete flooding of the sub.

"There was a four or five foot swell of the sea that made the boarding more difficult, but David managed it. He and his men each went to prearranged places and, knowing what to expect, closed valves, disconnected demolition charges, and heaved them overboard, and pried open the safe with crowbars.

"We got lines from the U-boat aboard the Pillsbury and, altho the hulls of the two ships were scraping, we managed to keep aft of the sub's bow plane, which looked dangerous.

"It was at this point in the maneuvering that Capt. D. V. Gallery, in command of the Guadalcanal, shouted over the voice radio: 'Looks like the Pillsbury is riding her like a cowboy would a broncho.' Then the strain on the forward line to the sub became too great and the line parted. The U-boat's bow plane plunged into one of our forward compartments, riding aft until a total of four compartments had been ripped, completely flooding them.

Ship Lists Heavily

"The Pillsbury listed heavily, so we hove clear to make repairs. We were in a bad way and nearly sank. After lying dead in the water for a day and a half, while the sub was being repaired, we made our own temporary repairs and proceeded to Bermuda with our task force and our prize."

The demolition charges on the sub were of a type timed to explode in nine minutes, but the Germans were so stunned they didn't set the charges. David and his boarding party didn't know this, however, and each time he pulled a wire he said, "Here goes nothing," expecting an explosion any second.

Soon after David got aboard, he managed to stop the sub's engine, ending its careening. The U-boat was taken in tow by the Guadalcanal, which relinquished the job to a navy tug after three days.

A number of German crew members were killed. But 47, including the captain, were picked up by American ships in the group.

"The navy was very anxious to capture the U-boat intact," Cassleman said, "for at that time we knew less of their construction and design than we do now since a number of them have surrendered."

Four Years of Active Duty

Cassleman has been on active navy duty for four years, and on June 7 will have been on the Pillsbury 24 months, in command for 18 months. Along with the Legion of Merit, Cassleman wears the bronze star and naval reserve medals, the American, Atlantic, and African theater ribbons, and three combat stars.

The skipper is 33 and the son of C. J. Cassleman of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago, whose home is at 2414 Eastwood av. He was graduated by Northwestern university school of commerce in Evanston in 1933. He went thru R. O. T. C. training and was commissioned in 1933.

When the war is over Cassleman expects to return to his home at 1020 Barthelme st., Joliet. Visiting him today at the Henry Hudson hotel here was his wife, the former Harriet Goers, whose parents live at 4843 Kentucky av., Chicago.

GIRL IDENTIFIES ATHLETE, 17, IN YOUTH'S KILLING

Fred Bartuch, 17, of 848 Lytle st., a member of a neighborhood athletic organization known as the Brigadier's club, was identified yesterday as one of the group of assailants who Monday night beset several Negro youths at Congress and Paulina sts., shooting and killing one and seriously injuring another. Three other members of the club also were arrested yesterday but were not identified.

Fred Bartuch

Bartuch was pointed out at the Warren av. police station by Miss Othelia Brown, 16, of 6514 Rhodes av., a friend of Howard Canty, 16, of 224 E. 60th st., who was slain. Bartuch, she said, struck Willie Thomas, 17, of 4358 Prairie av., on the head with a club and then chased after Canty. Thomas, who is still confined in County hospital, was unable to identify Bartuch or the three other prisoners.

WANTS TO ADOPT F. McCORMICK'S FOSTER NIECES

Middletown, Conn., May 24 (AP)—Dr. Frances Clarke, New London, Conn., teacher, who is fighting the efforts of Fowler McCormick, Chicago industrialist, to remove her as temporary guardian of the two adopted daughters of his sister, Wac Sgt. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, testified in Superior court here today that she wished to adopt the children.

McCormick had charged that she was not "temperamentally, emotionally, or otherwise qualified" to be the guardian of the two girls, Edith Rockefeller Hubbard, 11, and Elisha Dyer Hubbard, 10.

"They Need Me"

Questioned by her attorney concerning her qualifications as a possible foster mother for the children, Dr. Clarke said:

"They need me, and I'll be good for them. And they will be good for me also. They will give me many new interests and help me keep young with them."

Questioned by Hugh M. Alcorn Sr., who represents McCormick, Dr. Clarke denied knowledge of "beatings" which McCormick claims his sister administered to the two girls.

Spanked Occasionally

"She was always nice to them whenever I saw them together," she said. "But she did say she had to spank them on occasion."

Dr. Clarke said that Mrs. Hubbard had suggested she become temporary guardian of the children in February, 1944, when Mrs. Hubbard "became dissatisfied" with Mrs. Elvira Parsons, her housekeeper, who had taken over under the order of the late Probate Judge Curtiss S. Bacon when Mrs. Hubbard resigned her guardianship.

Dr. Clarke said she "believed" the matter of adoption by her was discussed with Mrs. Hubbard in March, 1944, but added she was unable "without my diary" to fix the day.

WOUNDED PLAYING WITH PISTOL

George Hood, 15, Negro, 5411 Calumet av., shot and slightly wounded himself in the right temple yesterday while playing with an antique pistol owned by his uncle, Robert Gorens, a soldier now overseas, in Gorens' room at 5403 Calumet av.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PARLEY IS READY TO VOTE ON VETO; CLOSES JUNE 6

Nations Widely Split on Nullification Proviso

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., May 24—Altho the international security conference is split wide open on the issue of the privilege of any of the Big Five powers to veto peace enforcement actions to further its own interests the leaders of the 49 nation convention have set June 6 for final adjournment.

Amid the maneuvers behind the scenes in the veto controversy there were these developments today:

1. The technical experts completed drafting the veto formula and sent it to the Big Five for approval, probably tomorrow. The Big Five — the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and China —think they have the votes for its adoption by the conference.

Fight Over Treaties

2. A committee fight was precipitated by a proposal by Belgian Sen. Rolin to empower the peace league's assembly to submit general conventions [treaties] to the member nations. This move, said to be aimed at the creation of an international code possibly as the basis of a super-state, failed by one vote to receive the necessary two-thirds approval. It was opposed by the United States, Britain, and Russia.

3. The American delegation was defeated in a plea for revision of the commitment "to promote full employment," Dean Gilversleeve contending that it might be construed to authorize the league to intervene in American domestic affairs to dictate labor policies. The committee agreed on an interpretative statement to the conference that the provision gives no authority "to intervene in the domestic affairs of member states."

4. The military staff committee of the international police force was empowered to establish regional subcommittees, one of which will be in the western hemisphere.

Consider Reconstruction

5. A conference committee took under consideration a proposal by Greece that the world league be empowered to assist in the reconstruction of devastated areas of the world.

6. To outlaw secret treaties a committee voted to require registration of all international agreements with the league with the provision that no nation may invoke an unregistered agreement before any organ of the league. This would not apply to existing agreements.

7. With uniformed army and navy officers of many nations in attendance a committee began consideration of the organization of fighting forces for "urgent military measures" to prevent war. To the Dumbarton Oaks provision for air force contingents France and Australia sought to add "mixed contingents" of both air and ground forces. The United States called the proposal impractical and the committee deferred consideration at the instance of British Delegate Cadogan.

Attacking the veto power are the majority of the 49 nations represented in the conference to abolish war. Defending the veto are the Big Five powers and smaller nations in the orbits of the Big Five.

All sorts of influences are being exerted to persuade the small nations to drop their fight on the veto. Among them is the dark, mysterious intimation that if the veto is beaten Russian Premier Stalin will order his delegates here to pick up their doll rags and go home, thus torpedoing the conference and leaving the world peace ship high and dry on the stocks.

Gromyko Bloc Silent

Ambassador Gromyko and his fellow soviet delegates are opposing all proposals to eliminate or weaken the veto, but as to their intentions if the veto should be beaten they are maintaining an inscrutable silence.

With the support of the small nations at their command the Big Five expect to be able to muster the 17 votes necessary to defeat a motion to eliminate or modify the veto under the provision requiring a two-thirds majority. Whether they can command 34 votes for the adoption of the veto, however, is the question worrying the Big Five.

The 20 Latin American delegations hold the balance of power in this fight. As they go the issue will be decided. Hence they are the objects of all the maneuvering behind the scenes, including the imputation to the Russians of the intention to kill the league in the cradle, if the veto is beaten.

The veto was demanded by the Russians at the Dumbarton Oaks conference last summer at which the world peace league was planned.

A BRITON'S VIEW: TRUMAN GIVING U. S. TO PEOPLE

[Chicago Tribune Press service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 24—An English journalist covering the world security conference for a leading London newspaper, who has been visiting movie studios and dallying with blonde starlets on a brief holiday in Hollywood, extracted stout belly laughs from a group of impressed listeners in the club car of a San Francisco-bound train last night.

Naval aviation and army officers, and tired businessmen relaxing over Scotch highballs, were discussing the unexpected obstacles being raised by our allies during these negotiations to prevent the "arsenal of democracy" from obtaining Japanese mandated islands as naval and air bases in the Pacific.

The British newspaper correspondent listened patiently for some time, then removed a five inch amber cigaret holder from his lips to remark:

"I fail to comprehend this prevalent demand for land grabbing in your country, especially now when President Truman is giving the United States back to the American people."

FAITH IN FRISCO PACT URGED BY N. U. PROFESSOR

Prof. Tracy E. Strevey, chairman of the history department at Northwestern university, said last night that the people of America should accept the results of the world security conference at San Francisco as an act of faith, just as the "Declaration of Independence and the Monroe doctrine were accepted as acts of faith by the United States."

Speaking at the regular meeting of Northwestern University Associates, a group of business men dedicated to promotion of the university, Prof. Stevey asserted, "freedoms can exist only in a world at peace, and, since freedom is synonymous with democracy, our government and society can exist only in a peaceful world."

Prof. Stevey was introduced by Silas H. Strawn, president of the organization.

AN ENEMY OF LIBERTY

Mr. Biddle leaves his post as chief law officer of the United States bearing the unenviable stigma of the most lawless attorney general the country has ever known.

Every effort to enhance the power of government over the people of the country, and to exert that power illegally, substituting whim and fiat for the rule of law, has had the backing of this lawyer. In disregard of his oath of office, he has used the prosecuting machinery of the government to punish political enemies and critics of the administration of which he was a member and to reward that administration's political friends and supporters.

While rendering lip service to civil liberties, Mr. Biddle has always been found arrayed against their exercise when any branch of the government sought to suppress them. When the army in Hawaii undertook to prolong martial law beyond the necessity for it, denying the writ of habeas corpus and defying the courts of the territory, Mr. Biddle's department was found defending this course. When army courts martial in Philadelphia and other eastern cities undertook to exile people without trial, he again was found supporting this unconstitutional practice.

There has never been a more disgraceful episode in American jurisprudence than the sedition cases in Washington, which Mr. Biddle originated and pursued with a venom far beyond any call of duty. As Sen. Taft pointed out long ago, the sedition indictments were an attempt to convict the innocent by tying them up with the guilty and confessed agents of the enemy. The charge of conspiracy was misused to gather under one indictment defendants who not only had not conspired together but who did not even know each other.

In his attempt to make any criticism of the administration dangerous the attorney general selected a group of crackpots, transported them from all over the nation for trial in Washington, and conducted for many months a burlesque that was finally brought to a close by the death of the harassed judge who was required to hear it. Altho the original sponsors of the case, at whose bidding Mr. Biddle procured the indictment, admitted that there is no possibility of a fair trial, Mr. Biddle has let the indictment stand over the heads of the defendants for months since the last mistrial.

In the Associated Press case he used agents of the federal bureau of investigation to collect proxies on behalf of the administration's favorite and threatened criminal prosecution against any publishers who refused to vote to give his man, without charge, the benefits of an organization developed over many decades by the efforts of others. When these attempts failed Biddle proceeded with the political prosecution of the anti-trust suit against the AP, the purpose of which was to extort these benefits.

In the Montgomery Ward case Biddle stood up in court and argued that the mere fiat of the President makes any of his acts legal; in effect, that there is no Constitution in time of war.

Because of his lack of principle and the power lodged in his office, Mr. Biddle was the most dangerous enemy of liberty who has ever appeared in American public life. In forcing him out of office President Truman has rendered a great and patriotic service to the country.

LEGISLATORS AS UNION ORGANIZERS

Two members of the Michigan legislature, it is disclosed, have been signed up by the CIO state, county, and municipal workers' union to recruit members for the union from among state payrollers. The legislators are being paid $60 a week for these services, an arrangement which is considerably more frank than that which governs other legislators beholden to the CIO. At least, the two Michigan statesmen don't lie about who owns them.

In addition to organizing for the union, the two legislators retained by the CIO also have charge of maneuvers at Lansing to put over an $1,800 annual wage for state workers, with overtime provisions. The annual wage scheme is one that the CIO is agitating nationally, and it is entirely possible that it will be brought forward in congress by some of the 110 members whom the CIO political action committee claims to have elected to their seats.

There has been a lot of pious talk by defenders of the PAC that unions have just as much right to engage in politics as anybody else. When this was a live issue in the 1944 Presidential campaign, the New Deal attorney general, Mr. Biddle, came up with an opinion that it was legal for the PAC to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars electing his pals, despite the Smith-Connally amendment to the corrupt practices act prohibiting labor unions as well as corporations from making political contributions.

It could have been prophesied when the justice department took this position that the country would see some such development as that in Lansing, where legislators frankly concede that they are paid agents for a minority pressure group. The public welfare is of no concern to such "representatives" of the people. Their one job is to promote the interests of the union organization to which they are under obligation. There are a great many legislators of the same sort in Washington, only they are not quite as candid about wearing the CIO collar.

If the people expect to protect their rights, they will have to unite in self-preservation and drive out legislators both in Washington and the state capitals who admit that their only allegiance is to those whose purse strings control elections. These gentlemen aren't legislators; they are lobbyists.

MR. TRUMAN'S DAY

Chicago is to be given an opportunity Sunday evening at the Chicago Stadium to pay its respects to Mr. Truman, the country's new President. We are for it, especially in view of the suggestion of Mayor Kelly that Chicagoans, "regardless of politics," are behind the President in the prosecution of the war with Japan to victory. There has been some intimation that the Democratic precinct workers and CIO would like to monopolize this rally. Citizens of other political faiths can prevent partisan exploitation of the demonstration by attending themselves.

The country now is solidly behind Mr. Truman, and one reason for that is the belief that the President is not the kind of man who would use his office to establish a one party system. A meeting attended by followers of both major parties will serve to emphasize that Mr. Truman is the leader of the whole people and that differences in political outlook have nothing to do with the loyalty that the nation's war President can expect to command.

ART COLLECTORS

Hermann Goering also believed in the finer things of life. The people of Canterbury, Coventry, Rotterdam, and scores of other towns which were visited by the luftwaffe in its confident days might not believe it of the fat No. 2 Nazi, but he had his softer side. He liked the contemplation of beauty in his spare moments.

At Berchtesgaden the 101st American air borne division is now standing guard over a fabulous collection of art treasures, acquired for Goering all over Europe at holdup sales. Included are paintings, sculptures, tapestries, rugs, finely wrought gold and silver objects, and tableware.

The old masters found in public museums which hadn't the foresight to hide their collections well were merely stolen and carted off to Germany. Goering's agent followed the nazi armies into the conquered countries and acquired other masterpieces on his own terms from art dealers and private collectors. Sometimes Goering just beat Hitler's purchasing agents to a coveted canvas. On other occasions Goering used the German air force to keep rivals off until his man had collected the best paintings from a stricken country.

Many of the other top Nazis were art collectors, too. The loot is being picked up all over the reich. The Merkers salt mine, where the nazi gold hoard was hidden, also yielded a great store of art. Even the little fuehrers, like Quisling in Norway, picked up a few examples of Rembrandt and Rubens. They were all gentlemen of culture.

The acquisitive instinct can be explained in simple terms, for art has a stable value, as compared with that of the cigar store coupons that passed as currency in Hitlerland. But there was more to it than prudence or simple greed. Apparently the gangsters who ran Germany came to the notion that by acquiring possession of some of the finest products of the spirit of man they could share some of the grandeur of these objects and of their long dead creators.

There was nothing new in this device. Napoleon, from the time of his first Italian campaign, never overlooked a museum. He sent home to Paris the writings of Josephus on papyrus, works in the handwriting of Galileo, Raphael's "The Transfiguration," Titian's "Christ," the Apollo Belvedere, the Laocoön, and the Venus de Medici. His agents ransacked Italy, Spain, Germany, and Flanders. When entering a country, one of the first things he did was to collect information about its chief art objects, in order to demand them in the event of victory. In all, he sent to Paris 25 Raphaels, 23 Titians, 53 Rubenses, 33 Van Dykes, and 31 Rembrandts.

The British empire builders were equally good at squeezing a conquered country dry. Clive came home from India at the age of 35 with a fortune of £300,000 and, upon his return as governor, picked up £170,000 more as "gifts" from native rulers. His impeachment was moved, and the house of commons, altho finding that he "did obtain and possess" a very large fortune, also found that he had rendered "great and meritorious services," so he was never brought to trial.

Warren Hastings was impeached for his acquisition of another enormous fortune, but the house of lords acquitted him. Great riches were squeezed from the Indians by many other individuals, as well as by the East India company, and even the crown did not pass up a profit. The fabulous Kohinoor diamond was surrendered to Britain with the annexation of the Punjab in 1849 and is now among the crown jewels. Lord Elgin's pilfering of the Parthenon marbles was another case in point.

What Goering and the other eminent thieves of the nazi regime did was strictly in the European tradition. Americans have been subjected to a good deal of talk that we should reverence the old world as the home of culture. The Europeans who have fought endlessly for territory and spoils show little of the respect that we are asked to pay. Our air force had the decency to spare cathedrals and cultural monuments, but the last strike of the German air force resulted in the senseless destruction of the 14th century Prague town hall. Between times the representatives of old world culture improve their wars by robbing one another of the landmarks of their supposedly common cultural past.

The process is reminiscent of the pharaohs of ancient Egypt. The pharaohs usually spent their days building tombs which would suitably commemorate them after death. If there was a shortage of materials, the living pharaoh solved that by tearing down the tomb of his predecessor. It never seemed to occur to him that the pharaoh who came after him could do the same. Thus it is with Europe, where one country after another is eternally tearing down its neighbors in the idle hope of transitory gain. Americans may profitably ask whether the cycle can ever be expected to end.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of these dogs suggests rabbit hunting? Chow Whippet Beagle Spitz
2. Flooring is laid on which one of the following? Studding Rafters Joists Sills
3. Which one of these amusement teams is the oldest? Punch and Judy Gilbert and Sullivan Barnum and Bailey
4. Which one of the following does not depend upon gravity? Density Weight Size Specific gravity
5. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping? Trail Lane Wake Path
6. Three traveling salesmen asked for a room in a hotel. Its price was $30, so they each paid $10. A little later the hotel manager, realizing that the ceiling price on the room was only $25, gave a bellhop $5 with instructions to refund it to the three salesmen. The bellhop, however, gave the three men $1 each as refund and pocketed the extra $2. This meant that the three salesmen paid $9 each or a total of $27 for the room, and the bellhop took the other $2, but this totaled only $29. What became of the other dollar out of the $30 that these three salesmen originally paid for their room?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

THE FEVERISH MOVIES

Whenever this column comes across a quaint quirk in the realm of science, it feels in duty bound to impart the information without delay. Today it offers a hot bit of news which ought to be on the first page, to wit: A long sitting at a motion picture show will cause the average spectator to become slightly feverish. The rise in body temperature will be almost as much as that caused by the common cold.

* * *

The observations upon which these statements are based were made in Chicago upon numerous subjects, male and female; special attention was given to two typical moviegoers—a teen-aged girl and a young woman in her early twenties. They have been checked against observations of the same subjects while sitting for a two or three hours stretch in a laboratory, doing nothing but relax and possibly yawn. Under the latter conditions the temperatures have fallen—an expected result. But at the movies the temperatures, taken by clinical thermometer at two-hour intervals, have risen above normal—a surprising and noteworthy result.

* * *

Bear in mind that 98.6 is considered the normal human body temperature. The teen-aged girl, in 55 movie readings, showed temperatures ranging from 99 to 100.15; her average was 99.59. The young woman old enough to vote, in 22 movie readings, showed an average rise of 0.47 above her laboratory readings.

* * *

The scientist who carried out these experiments draws the following conclusions:

"It appears that attending motion picture shows, tho looked upon as 'relaxation' in the sense of escape from the humdrum reality of existence, is by no means relaxation in the physiological sense. On the contrary, altho the spectator remains in a sitting position for two or more hours, the subject matter of the film evokes an increase rather than a decrease of muscle tension, which manifests itself in a highly significant rise in body temperature of one-half to one degree."

SOWING FOR PEACE

Where, warm with the ripening sunshine,
Lies fertile and fallow the land,
O, bring the bright seed for the sowing,
And sow it with diligent hand.

In hearts of despair that beat, yearning
For light, and in desperate need
Of faith, and in want of compassion,
There sow you the seed.

O, plant the good seed, plant it gently,
Securely and deep,
Foreknowing that if you sow richly,
You richly shall reap.

Tho the time 'twixt the sowing and reaping
Seem long and beclouded with tears,
Yet at last shall you gather the harvest—
The bright, golden harvest of years.

Concerning "Wabash Av. Rialto, Old Style" [May 19]: The old Globe theater was situated at the southwest corner of Wabash av. and Hubbard ct. [now 7th st.], occupying a red brick building which had formerly housed the Battle of Gettysburg panorama. The Battle of Manila panorama occupied a building on the southeast corner.

At the Globe theater, Elsie Janis made her debut under that name; formerly she had been known as Little Elsie. This same building also housed the 7th regiment, I. N. G., for a number of years.

Across the alley [west] from the Gettysburg building was a second floor factory where Selig Polyscopes were assembled. Selig later became famous as a motion picture producer and the public forgot that his original business was the manufacture of projectors.

THE HARASSED HAMSTER

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

With much fanfare, the scientists
Have added hamsters to the lists
Of beasts who share, in nature's plan,
All the afflictions known to man,
Yet they complain because he mocks
At coops and cages, bars and locks.
We shouldn't blame him, nor yet grieve
When he is absent without leave,
Since having mumps and such to see
If there's a cure for you and me,
May make a nice career, but one
That hamsters think is not much fun!

Quizzicuss

Surprises are overrated. The surprisee, for whose amusement the whole thing is concocted, is usually so fussed with shock and embarrassment that he has no fun at the showdown. Consider the boy coming home on leave, unannounced—how much more fun his mother would have if she could look forward to the day and hour. Tops in this regard was achieved by a lad from the Pacific who confided to his seatmate on the train, "The last Mom knew, I was missing in action. Gosh, will she be surprised when I walk in!"

F. T. asks: "Are officers of the army of the United States entitled to the same retirement pay and benefits as those of the regular army?"

Officers of the army of the United States who serve more than 30 days and who suffer disability or death in line of duty are deemed to have been in active military service and are entitled to receive the same pensions, compensation, retirement pay, and hospital benefits as are now or may hereafter be provided for officers of corresponding grade of the regular army.

K. L. M. asks: "If a veteran of World War II. dies after discharge from service, may he be buried in a national cemetery? Where is such a cemetery located in Illinois?"

Veterans are entitled to burial in national cemeteries. There are five in Illinois, at Alton, Springfield, Mound City, Quincy, and Rock Island. An honorable discharge is a requirement for burial in a national cemetery and wives also may be buried there beside their husbands.

T. H. writes: "I am drawing retirement pay from the army and expect to enter vocational training soon. Will I be able to draw training pay while I am taking the course?"

Not unless your retirement pay is less than $80 if single and $90 if married.

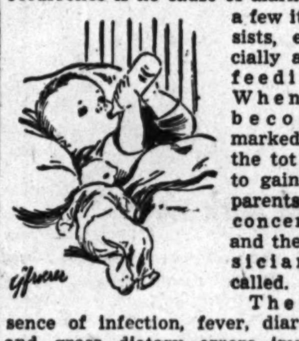
STARVATION THRU A MECHANICAL DEFECT

Newborn babes lead uncomplicated lives. They eat, sleep, howl, and eliminate. In the early weeks, spitting up or vomiting is not unnatural and its occurrence is no cause of alarm. In a few it persists, especially after feedings. When it becomes marked and the tot fails to gain, the parents are concerned and the physician is called.



The absence of infection, fever, diarrhea, and gross dietary errors immediately suggests an obstruction—most likely in the region of the pylorus. The structure is a thickened muscle at the end of the stomach, which acts as a valve. Its main duty is to hold back the newly arrived nutriment until digestion in the gastric pouch has taken place. Periodically it opens, allowing food to enter the first part of the intestine. Now and then it is temperamental and tightens up to such an extent that the entire parade is held up.

In adults, these spasms are fairly common, especially in highstrung and nervous individuals. Infants and children are not immune but occasionally the trouble is more than just a contraction. A permanent defect plugs the exit. This is known as "pyloric stenosis." For some reason the wall of the valve is larger than usual and not only extends outwardly but also projects inwardly. The result is a definite narrowing of the passageway, which may become so tiny that even liquids find difficulty in passing. Little wonder that the ingested material collects in the stomach, with regurgitation the only means of escape.

The disorder may be hereditary and often occurs in several members of the same family. The majority of sufferers are boys, the rate being almost 10 to one in their favor. The breastfed, as well as those consuming artificial milk, may be afflicted.

The onset appears, as a rule, toward the end of the second month. With some, each meal is ejected; others retain two or three feedings and then discharge it all. The characteristic vomiting becomes more frequent and violent as time goes by. Since food does not proceed into the bowel, an obstinate constipation develops. Because fluids are not absorbed in the intestine, the skin becomes dry and inelastic and the urine scanty. Gradually the baby loses weight and strength, in direct proportion to the completeness of the obstruction. If allowed to continue, wasting may become extreme and the condition critical.

When the abnormality is recognized, medical treatment should be tried. Its effectiveness is measured by the weight curve and, so long as the level rises, this form of care should be continued in spite of vomiting. Weaning is not advised if the mother has sufficient milk. Small amounts, at four hour intervals, are recommended. If the child throws up, a new feeding often will be retained. When artificial mixtures are used, they should be thicker than usual. Atropine and sedatives often help to ease the spasmodic tendency. Mild cases may respond to this management—slowly but surely.

If, however, poundage continues to fall, a simple operation is necessary. This procedure generally gives dramatic relief. Symptoms disappear and the child is restored to normal. Triumphs such as these offer great satisfaction to both physician and family.

PROBABLY FATIGUE

Z. L. writes: A friend in a naval hospital says he is suffering from Asiatic heart. The symptoms are mental black-outs and nightmares. Is this the same as combat fatigue?

REPLY

It probably is, as the Oriental has no more to affect the heart than we have. Heartaches, broken hearts, etc., may be found in plenty of our boys over there when we don't coöperate over here.

FEVER

M. N. writes: Can you tell me something about breakbone fever?

REPLY

Dengue is the medical term for this disorder. It is an acute disease of unknown origin, which is transmitted by infected mosquitoes, and is characterized by two bouts of fever usually within a week of each other. During these periods, generalized body aching may be severe. Recovery is the rule.

MEASLES RASH

Mrs. H. writes: In a case of measles, is it dangerous if the rash stays inside?

REPLY

When the child takes a turn for the worse by going into collapse, the rash becomes less noticeable but does not "go inside." In these circumstances, the situation is dangerous.

Lost (and Often Forgotten)

For no particular reason at all we began wondering the other day about all the lost causes of history. The story of man is pocked with movements known as lost causes. Ask the amateur historian to name some, and he undoubtedly will come up with two: the Confederacy of our Civil war and the Jacobite cause, or the divine right of kings.

To be called lost, a cause must once have been great and possessed of the power to move men, in a manner fraught with chivalry and deep devotion, in great bodies and for long years. Until the accession of Edward VII. to the English throne, finger bowls were not permitted on royal dinner tables because of the propensity of those who secretly sympathized with the Jacobite [or Stuart] cause to drink to the king over the water. Similarly, southerners probably will stand up to the strains of "Dixie" as long as it is played and true Scots will always sigh at "Scots wha hae wi' Wallace bled . . . Scots wham Bruce hae aften led."

To qualify as lost a cause also must presumably have been doomed before the fighting for it began. Thus the Crusades, that mighty pilgrims' progress, could never qualify. The Crusades never truly failed. They touched the peak of daring and devotion and ceased when the times became out of joint. But there are some, for example, who contend that by the same standard private enterprise today already is a lost cause. And there are others who wonder whether the great, transcendent faith of the 19th century, man's faith in man and his perfectibility, which flourished briefly in such experiments in living as Brook Farm and New Harmony, will not, thru failure to translate that faith into action, become the lost cause of the 20th century.

If you wonder what moved the men of the 19th century, wander to the Newberry library. Here you will find much on the two popular lost causes, the Confederacy and the Jacobites [the latter in a rare copy of Charles I.'s celebrated "Eikon Basilike," in which he set forth in solitude and sufferings his convictions on the divine right of absolute monarchy], but here, too, are the great books and the ennobling conceptions of the dreamers of the 19th century: "Our ulterior aim [wrote the Transcendentalists] is nothing less than heaven on earth."

Surely [we thought] there must be many books specifically entitled "Lost Cause." With that in mind, we turned to the Publisher's Guide to consult the lists of books in print in English in 1912 or published since then. Only two were found. One dealt with the Confederacy, the other with the Jacobites.

But other books on lost matters were published at so rapid a rate it is difficult to catalog them. From 1933 to 1937 alone, publishers put out 107 books whose titles began with Lost. They range from the lost art of kicking to lost world.

Interested, even faintly? Lost city. Lost ecstasy. Lost fragrance. Lost frontier. Lost gallows. Lost generation. Lost girl. Lost glen. Lost hat. Lost herd. Lost heritage. Lost horizon. Lost hunter. Lost lectures. Lost leopard. Lost man. Lost million. Lost oasis. Lost one. Lost paradise. Lost soul. Lost rapture.

This is necessarily a brief and picked list. The titles probably could all be lumped together under one great cover, Lost Thoughts. So probably could this, altho somehow we find it difficult to forget the reflective words of Dr. Stanley Pargellis of the Newberry library as he gazed out a window into the ardent green promise of spring.

"I don't know," he remarked, "but what the great question now is whether man's faith is not going to be a lost cause—whether man can actually learn enough and be able to put what he has learned into action."

WE'LL ALL TAKE SODA

Chicago, May 21—The big shot planner had a belly ache. He took soda and got well, so now he plans a dose of soda for everybody.

The big shot planner, who has had a bunch of noisy little shot planners, has learned, maybe in college, that if you put up a building, you draw plans first. So he wants to plan for everybody.

What the big shot planner ought to know, but doesn't, is that it is all right to plan a building made from dead stones. They won't run away on you. But it is different to plan the economic life. To plan you must control. Does any one want to be regulated by a big shot planner, told what he can buy and what he can sell? And to regulate thus would take so many away from production, the economy would break down.

The sane thing to do is to let a manufacturer sell as many shoes as he can. He can judge his market and plan production accordingly. That's a sane system. If it didn't work in 1929 it was because people went crazy. The planner's remedy is to make the system crazy.

CULLING THE PAY ROLLS

Chicago, May 12—There is a great deal of talk about the future of factory workers and employes in this country. Every employer and employe feels there are hundreds and thousands of very old people and also very young people who never expected to work and the employer should soon be able to eliminate this class of labor from his pay roll.

We also know that there is a vast number of married women who have been earning money and who should, under normal conditions after the war, remain at home and take care of their homes and families.

There are also hundreds of immigrants who have crept into this country without regard to American laws, who are now working and, if I am correctly advised, as aliens are not required to pay withholding tax. Such people should also be eliminated, if possible, for our returning fighters who have given their life blood to preserve us a nation.

ALL THEY LACK IS SINATRA

Chicago, May 16—It seems it is time for some one to complain about the continual yelling going on thru the loud speaker system the Baltimore and Ohio-Pennsylvania railroads have in their 63d and Hamilton yards. It is used to instruct the switch engineers all the way to 67th st., or farther south. Even with windows and doors shut and storm windows up you can hear nearly every word called out, and it isn't always just railroad business, either. With summer coming on and windows and doors open all day and during the night when a person expects to sleep this condition should be corrected.

RED HERRINGS, NO MEAT

Elburn, Ill., May 21—For a city slicker, you did right well in your leading editorial this morning. It certainly shows you not only have some comprehension of, but avoided loose statements in explaining the meat situation.

Of course the bureaus involved in Washington have been awfully busy trying to drag red herrings across the path, but as an official of one of the live stock producing organizations told me the other day, "They have to live with it now."

PROFESSORS AND ILLITERACY

Chicago, May 22—I was amused to read that a University Round Table professor says any one who disagrees with Bretton Woods is an "economic illiterate." I beg to belong to that class, because I disagree most heartily with the monetary fund portion of the agreement. Why should Uncle Sam run a hand-out bank for the rest of the world, which is just what the fund would amount to when all the smaller countries had used up their original subscription by borrowing?

The learned professor reminds me of a philosophy professor I once tried to learn from, who said that, "When one looks at an orange, one sees only the qualities of the orange, not the orange itself."

When I look at an orange, I see an orange. And when I argued my point, I flunked the course.

We need a return to plain, honest, common sense thinking in this country. There are too many high priced and dictatorial politicians shooting off in print these days. What would Washington or Lincoln have said of Bretton Woods? They probably would have said, "Rubbish."

Clifton B. Osgood

THERE'S NO GRANDSTAND ON OKINAWA

Brookfield, Ill., May 21—As the mother of a boy who is fighting today in the Pacific, I would like to voice my resentment at those so-called Americans who are flocking to the race track. The picture of taxi cabs lined up at the south end of the Cicero car line between noon and 1 p. m. is conclusive proof that we are not all behind this fight. These cabs are equipped with good tires and consume gas to make trips to the races.

I should think both the cab drivers and the passengers bound for the race tracks would be conscience stricken, especially if they have followed the saga of Sugar Loaf hill, where 50 marines charged up the hill and only one came back to tell the tale.

Can't we wait at least until our boys are no longer paying the supreme sacrifice before we resume our play ways?

OPA WILL PROVIDE

Oak Park, Ill., May 20—"Phooey" to Mr. Norris, food director, Illinois war council, who warns, "We need victory gardens as we never needed them before." Mr. Norris forgets we have an ingenious bunch of planners in Washington who will always supply us with substitutes if we can't have the real McCoy.

There were no vegetables in our market Friday, but the bins were not empty. No sir! They were filled to overflowing with giant sized rolls of toilet tissue.

Try one toasted with a grilled pig's tail! You'll never crave another hamburger.

SEARCH FOR OWNER

Chicago, May 23—How can I find out who at the present time owns a certain piece of city real estate?

P. W.

If you have the legal description, you can look it up on the tract index in the recorder's office. Locating the owner is largely a matter of following up clews in your possession.

FOOD SHORTAGE PROBE ORDERED BY HOUSE GROUP

New Agriculture Secretary Directs Inquiry

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—The man President Truman chose for secretary of agriculture tonight ordered a congressional investigation of food shortages and black markets.

Chairman Anderson [D., Mo.] of the house food investigating committee announced the group will leave Washington June 11 for a cross-country probe of butter, eggs, poultry, fruits and vegetables, meat, and fish.

Anderson will become secretary of a reorganized agriculture department on July 1.

"There is a black market in poultry," Anderson told a reporter, "and there is a strong possibility of a black market in eggs.

Seeks $15,000 Expenses

"We want to finish the food investigation program I planned at the outset before I leave the committee so the congress—and the government—can have a complete picture of the entire situation."

He'll go before the house committee on accounts to ask for $15,000 committee expense money to finance the inquiry which will take the congressmen to the west coast. The committee started out two months ago with $10,000—most of which was spent during investigations of meat and sugar.

It will open public hearings in Washington June 4, dealing largely with poultry and egg black markets.

Starts in Omaha June 11

On June 11 the group will go to Omaha to make a study of the general food situation in that area. Thereafter it will follow this schedule:

June 12, Minneapolis, investigate butter and dairy products; June 13, Yakima, Wash., apples, peas, and other vegetables; June 14, Seattle, fruit and live stock; June 15, San Francisco, fruit and poultry; June 16 southern California, fresh fruit, vegetables, and fish.

The June 16 hearing will complete the tour.

Anderson said the committee hopes to return to Washington with an over-all food report before he leaves the chairmanship to become secretary of agriculture.

In unanimous preliminary reports already filed the committee criticized what it called lack of coördination in the government's food policies, particularly in the handling of sugar and meat.

INTRODUCE BILLS TO HELP ASSURE GATEWAY PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., May 24—So-called party circle bills, designed to assure adoption of the gateway amendment to the constitution in the 1946 election, were introduced in the senate today by Sen. Daley, Mayor Kelly's spokesman, and Sen. Downing [R., Macomb].

Gateway would permit three articles in the constitution to be amended at a single election, instead of just one.

Since most voters ignore amendments on ballots, the problem of getting referendum approval for the gateway amendment is being attacked thru the party circle bills. Under the bills, if the Republican or Democratic party in state convention should approve gateway, the amendment would be printed under the party circle on the ballots.

Any one voting a straight ticket then would automatically vote for the gateway amendment.

A total of $75,000 damages was awarded two persons yesterday in Superior and Circuit court hearings against railroad companies. Lewis E. Jenkins, 50, of Terre Haute, Ind., a former locomotive engineer for the Pennsylvania railroad, was awarded $40,000 from the road for injuries allegedly suffered in a collision between a company automobile which was transferring him from one Indianapolis, Ind., yard to another, and a taxicab. The verdict was returned by a jury before Judge Ezra J. Clark of Canton, Fulton county, sitting in Superior court.

An all-woman jury in the Circuit court of Judge Leonard C. Reid, awarded $35,000 to Dan Briney, 16, of 10754 Bensley av., against the Illinois Central railroad. Briney lost his left leg allegedly while hitchhiking a ride on a freight train at 141st st. in Riverdale.

Briney's attorney, Joseph Barbera, introduced testimony showing that his client as well as other boys in the neighborhood had often engaged in throwing switches for switchmen, for which they received fusees, fruit, and other trifling gifts. This placed the boys in the position of "invitees" rather than trespassers, the attorney argued.

Briney also was aided in his suit by his brother, Petty Officer John Briney, 22, who flew from his base at New London, Conn., to testify. Their father, William, a switchman, was killed by a train in 1943 in La Grange.

VOTES COUNTIES CONTROL OVER ROAD HOUSES

Springfield, Ill., May 24—A bill giving county boards the power to regulate dance halls and roadhouses was passed by the house today and sent to Gov. Green for signature.

The measure authorizes county boards to "designate reasonable hours and establish such other rules and regulations as tend to promote good order and morals."

House approval also was given today to a bill providing for state licensing and inspection of nursing homes.

TRUMAN MOVES TO REORGANIZE EXECUTIVE UNITS

Asks for Legislation to Allow Revision powers previously held by cabinet officers.

Not Subject to Veto

In his message to congress the President suggested the new reorganization law follow the general principles of the 1939 act, including the section giving congress the right to disapprove Presidential reorganization orders by the passage of concurrent resolutions not subject to Presidential veto.

Mr. Truman also said that no branch of the executive branch should be exempt from reorganization. President Roosevelt made a similar suggestion in 1939, but congress promptly wrote into the act a provision exempting 21 independent agencies, including the civil service commission, interstate commerce commission, federal communications commission, army engineers, and others.

Similar Action Expected

Similar action may be expected in the present congress, some members said, and Byrd stated that the general accounting office and other agencies performing semi-judicial functions should be exempted.

The President, in his message, reminded congress that the war powers act of 1941, under which emergency war agencies were set up, will expire six months after the end of the war. He said automatic reversion would result in the reëstablishment of agencies which should not be continued and said the new legislation was needed for a more orderly conversion of government to peace.

THREE ACCUSED OF RAPING WAC ARE INDICTED

Within 24 hours after their arrest three young men were indicted by the Cook county grand jury yesterday on charges of raping a 23 year old WAC and were held under $15,000 bonds each. The unusually speedy action taken without the customary Felony court preliminaries, was the first move in State's Atty. Tuohy's announced campaign to clean the city of rapists.

Indicted were Tony Giampa, 23, of 840 Lytle st.; Nick W. Malatesta, 18, of 5421 Harrison st., and Peter Ottomanelli, 17, of 1356 Taylor st. The victim, a WAC private, told police they raped her after offering to give her a ride in their automobile to the Illinois Central station. Police arrested the trio Wednesday morning, with the girl still with them, after they had driven their automobile, a stolen car, thru a stoplight at Congress st. and Ashland blvd.

Four men last night were seized by police on complaint of an 18 year old office employe of General Mills, Inc., who charged they raped her in a garage in the rear of 9730 Ewing av. The four are Raymond Franko, 18, of 9710 Ewing av.; Frank Esposito, 17, of 9825 Ewing av.; Joseph Francisco, 28, of 10855 Avenue H, and Dick Masciotra, 18, of 10035 Avenue L. They will be questioned today at the police sex bureau.

The arraignment of four Negroes, held under bonds totaling $190,000 on charges of rape and robbery, was for scheduled today in Criminal court. The Negroes are Noel Parks, 18, 1221 W. 60th st.; William Robinson, 16, of 5935 S. Racine av.; Joseph Jackson, 15, of 6040 Elizabeth st., and Theodore Wiley, 17, of 6017 S. Racine av.

CHICAGO ASKS 20 MILLION FROM STATE FOR ROADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., May 24—Chicago legislators followed the example of rural spokesmen today by suggesting that surplus general revenue funds in the state treasury be used to help finance the vast amount of highway construction that will be essential after the war.

Sen. Richard J. Daley and 12 other Chicago Democrats joined in sponsoring a bill to appropriate 20 million dollars from the treasury surplus for express ways in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Gov. Green's only press conference statement on the matter was a comment that so far Illinois has used only motor fuel taxes—collected at 3 cents a gallon—for road improvements. The general surplus is mostly derived from the retail sales tax.

The governor's post-war budget of 127 million dollars would consume the entire treasury surplus without adding the proposed road expenditures.

BROOKS TELLS HORRORS HE SAW IN NAZI CAMPS

An eyewitness account of the horrors of the Buchenwald, Nordhausen, and Dachau concentration camps in Germany was given yesterday by Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] before members and friends of the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago in the La Salle hotel. Brooks, one of six congressmen who toured Germany at the request of Gen. Eisenhower, was in Europe during the last 12 days of the war.

Because the German people appeared well fed and well clothed, it must be assumed that the starving of prisoners in concentration camps was part of a criminal, systematic design, Brooks contended.

"The war criminals must be punished," he said. "Also it must be our task to keep representative government alive so that never again will there be a concentration camp in the world."

Guest of honor on our 100th birthday

He's one year old this year. And he's one of many.

Some two million other lively new citizens reach their first milestone this year of New York Life's 100th birthday.

We honor each of them. For these new American babies are an affirmation of faith in the American family's future.

In our 100 years, we've protected many of the parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents of this year's one-year-olds.

Those years have given New York Life an experience and stability which we feel can help make the future more happily secure for many of today's new babies . . . and for many new babies to come.

Vera Marie Bartholomay Wedding Set

BY JUDITH CASS

FAMILIES planning June weddings are hoping that the law of averages will provide warm and sunny weather following such an unusually rainy spring. The gardens of Mrs. William Sherman Hay's Winnetka home should be freshly green and gay with colorful flowers by June 16, which is the date set for the marriage of Miss Vera Marie Bartholomay and Thomas P. Nelligan. The ceremony will be a small family one at 4:30 p. m. indoors, with a larger reception following in the garden, if weather permits.

Miss Bartholomay, daughter of Herman Bartholomay of Winnetka, will have Mrs. George Dorr Wolf Jr. as matron of honor. Mrs. Henry Bartholomay III. whose husband is a second cousin of the bride; Miss Lois Andreae, cousin of the bride; Mrs. William C. Marshall of Cincinnati, O., and Mrs. Thomas Kelley will be bridesmaids. Philip Ober of Silverton, Md., will be best man for Mr. Nelligan, son of Dr. and Mrs. John P. Nelligan of Cambridge, Mass.

Mrs. Kelley entertained at dinner last night for Miss Bartholomay. The bride's aunts, Mrs. William Bartholomay Jr. and Mrs. Dewes Burgweger, will give a luncheon for her next Friday in the Indian Hill club. Mrs. Harold Zeiss and Mrs. Elbert Clark will be hostesses at a tea and bathroom shower June 6. Another cousin, Mrs. Ralph E. Clark Jr., will give the spinster dinner on the 14th, when Mr. Marshall, who is to be an usher, will give the bachelor dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Andreae, Miss Bartholomay's uncle and aunt, will give the bridal dinner in the Indian Hill club the night before the wedding.

Other Wedding News

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis' Lake Forest home is receiving a fresh coat of paint and the interior and grounds will be in apple pie order by June 22, when their daughter, Miss Mary Cornelia Aldis, and Lt. Charlton Ogburn Jr. of the army are to be married. The wedding will take place in the garden, weather permitting. The house has been rented while the Aldis family has been living in Washington, D. C., where Maj. Aldis is stationed.

Invitations are out to the marriage June 16 of Miss Isabel Jane Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard Jr., to Robert Wilson Goss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goss Jr. of Chicago at 4:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church of Wilmington, Ill., and to a reception following at Stonebridge farms, the Leonards' Wilmington home.

Prof. and Mrs. George Gleason Bogert of the University of Chicago went to New York for the marriage May 19 of their daughter, Ensign Virginia Louise Bogert, and Lt. [j. g.] Nathaniel Welshire Sample III. of Chestnut Hill, Pa. The wedding took place suddenly when Lt. Sample and his bride received week-end leaves. The ceremony was held in the chapel of the Riverside church, with the Rev. Norris L. Tibbetts, former pastor of the Hyde Park Baptist church, officiating, and a small reception followed in the Plaza hotel. Lt. Sample and his bride are stationed in Washington, D. C.

Here and There

In Chicago on a short visit is 3d Engineer Officer John Crerar Reid of the merchant marine, grandson of Mrs. John Crerar. Mr. Reid, son of Robert H. Reid and of Mrs. Marie Crerar Downs of Epsom, England, is staying with his father and Mrs. Reid in N. Michigan av. The young officer just has returned from a trip which took him to Persia, Australia, New Guinea, Guadalcanal, the Admiralty Islands, and Panama. He will return to duty June 2.

Lt. John M. Butler Jr. of the coast guard will leave today for Boston, Mass., for reassignment, having spent a 30 day leave in Hubbard Woods with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Butler. Lt. Butler served for 18 months in the South Pacific.

For the second time since it discontinued its usual spring series of benefit card parties, the woman's board of the Presbyterian hospital will raise money by an appeal thru the mails. Last year a similar drive netted $1,200. Mrs. Aliva A. Knight is chairman of the drive.

At a luncheon meeting this week the North Shore Service league of the Chicago Maternity center presented a check for $1,000 to the center as the league's pledge for the last year and a bonus check of $500 as well. Mrs. John Andrews King accepted the checks on behalf of the center. Mrs. Clifford Guetal of Evanston was elected president of the league, replacing Mrs. David Danielson.

At a recent meeting of the Bryn Mawr College club of Chicago Mrs. William Burry was elected to head the club for the coming year. Also elected were Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted and Mrs. Henry Reuss.

"White Collar" working

The customers hounding
A clerk are astounding!
A size "44"
Wants a "16"—no more.
You gasp, then, with fright
For fear that she might Make every seam split
When trying to sit!

The woman forgetting
Her glasses I'm betting
Of course, came to look
For a mystery book;
So, no matter how busy
You read till you're dizzy
To aid her selection
Of crime and detection!
O, many's the tale

Dis and Data

The wanderlust has seized the white collar girls, after four years of war. Letters now come to this column inquiring about jobs in distant places. Hawaii, Alaska, and South America were this week's choices. . . . Out of 15 safety awards made by Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the one for the most hours worked without injury went to the office employes of the Chicago sales division. Their record was 4,149,900 hours without an accident. . . . Do many people know that the behind-the-scenes lady on the board of directors of one of America's largest chain of hotels was the secretary to the top boss—until she married him? Now a widow in her 70s, she is inconspicuously but vitally active in the management of the hotels that bear her husband's name.

The OCD recently feted those loyal business girls who, after office hours, generously have given their time. They have served as recreation aids in Chicago social settlements and community centers and in hospital wards and supply rooms, and have given invaluable service as emergency clerical aids in health and welfare centers. There are more than 1,200 of them—all are employed 48 to 52 hours a week—and they should rate a salute. . . . Budget blues are besetting the career girls, our mail reveals. A free-upon-request budget calendar might help, and we'll tell you where to send for it.

Wise Parents Do Not Accent Child's Etiquet

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Did you have afternoon tea downtown, or do you want some now?" a woman asked her friend.

"No thanks, I stopped at the tea shop on the way home, but I sincerely wish I had passed up the idea. Something happened there that spoiled everything for me—and for quite a number of others present," was the reply.

"Tell me about it. I'm interested."

"Well, at the table next to where I sat there were two young women. One was the mother of a little 3 year old girl. They'd ordered two sodas, and a plate of ice cream for the child. When the waitress arrived with the tray she put the baby's ice cream in front of her, then placed a soda for each woman. Quite naturally the little one began to eat, delighted with the pretty strawberry mound, and refused to stop a moment while her mother adjusted a napkin over her dress.

"You never saw such an exhibition. The mother scolded, removed the spoon from the child by force, slapped her hands, and generally carried on until the plate was knocked to the floor. The other woman tried to intervene.

"'She doesn't deserve any ice cream, anyway,'" said the mother above the screams, "'she's been told not to begin to eat before her grownups.'"

"And, believe it or not, those two drank their sodas and that poor baby sobbed and never had anything to eat!"

I wonder by what divine [?] right a parent thinks he or she is privileged to slap or spank a little child into obedience? It is certainly not by any right of wisdom, kindness, intelligence, or self-control. This mother may be teaching her child social amenities, perhaps, but she is doing it by making her little daughter fear her and respect force.

Why, after all, should such politeness be expected from so young a child, to be made a fetish of? It is rarely that the parents who attach such importance to it are infallibly courteous themselves toward their children. In the natural course of events, in family contacts, a child with gentle, well-mannered persons about him instinctively absorbs the proper social behavior, so why make a hullabaloo in public about a plate of ice cream?

Gayety, Music, and Color Mix in This Movie

"BRING ON THE GIRLS"

Produced by Paramount, directed by Sidney Lanfield, featuring Veronica Lake, Sonny Tufts, Eddie Bracken, Marjorie Reynolds, Johnny Coy, Peter Whitney, Alan Mowbray, Porter Hall, Grant Mitchell, Thurston Hall, Lloyd Corrigan, Sig Arno, Joan Woodbury, Andrew Tombes, and Spike Jones and his orchestra. Presented at the Chicago.

By Mae Tinée

Pity the plight of the harassed millionaire! He never knows whether he is loved for his glittering gold or for himself alone. In case you have a similar problem, I would suggest that you see "Bring on the Girls" for a novel method of learning whether it is your heart or your purse of gold which attracts. Even if your fortune is not a great obstacle in your love life, you might see it anyway—just for fun. It's light musical comedy with a lot of laughs, music, and color all over the place.

Eddie Bracken is the sensitive plutocrat who is always being disillusioned by lassies who are willing to put up with him for the chance to become Mrs. J. Newport Bates, but only because he has a little nest-egg of 200 million dollars. Driven to desperation, he joins the navy, where he hopes to be plain Seaman Bates, with no obvious dollar sign on him to handicap Cupid. A nervous family fixes him up with another enlistee as a bodyguard, a big brawny lad [Sonny Tufts] who's been around and can protect the Bates heir from gold diggers and similar perils. Alas and alack, one lavish night club in the vicinity of boot camp and one smart cigaret girl [Veronica Lake] are items which no one expected, and the combination results in a number of difficulties for both sailors.

Eddie Bracken is convincingly woe-begone as the poor little rich boy, and Mr. Tufts is as happy-go-lucky as ever, lifting his voice in a couple of gay little ditties and surviving the bum's rush on at least five different occasions. The picture is definitely his, but Miss Lake is attractive in technicolor and can be as feline or as fatuous as any money hungry gal in pursuit of a bank roll. Spike Jones and his orchestra give a version of "Chloe" which should certainly end all versions, and a lad named Johnny Coy turns in some very light hearted tap dancing.

To tell much of the plot might spoil it, but most of the lines are smooth and silly, and altho at times the rather garish colors may hurt your eyes, I'm sure the numerous pretty girls won't!

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 24—Marsha Hunt, so good in "Valley of Decision," plays Evie in "A Letter for Evie" with John Carroll and Hume Cronyn. Pamela Britton also will be in it. She'll play on the softball team. So will Marsha. . . . Those dead end kids never live up to their name. Now, soon as Leo Gorcey's wife is free to marry Groucho Marx, Leo will take Penny Banks as his next wife. . . . Burl Ives, New York singer, got himself signed at Twentieth Century, and his first will be "Smokey." . . . John Ford's son, Patrick, has written "As Young as You Feel," a post-war story which all studios are interested in. It's about a sea captain. . . . When Eddie Foy opened here in "The Red Mill," Mrs. Foy took Eddie III. to the opening. It was the first time he'd ever seen a stage play. When curtain went up, he said, "O! It's technicolor! . . . The Ben Bogeaus' divorce, which has involved half a dozen reconciliations, will go thru in two weeks. . . . Rose Hobart plays the dean of women in "Too Good to Be True." Rose is just back from the Aleutians.

Real Dope About Merle

Merle Oberon phoned to say a great deal of her vacation was spent on her new walnut ranch which adjoins Fred Astaire's near San Diego. Her divorce from Alex Korda awaits only his signature, expected any day. She shopped in Mexico City, adored Guadalajara, but says you can have El Paso. She was thrown off the plane there, hitch-hiked back in a broken-down car whose driver was moving to California. Soon as the divorce is granted, she'll be wed to Lucien Ballard, one of our ace cameramen, who will photograph her in "As It Was Before." . . . Wonder if Jon Hall parted with his plastic nose while taking his basic training at Camp Roberts. Had he waited a few days longer, he wouldn't have been in the service. He's 30.

Doesn't Seem Possible

Congratulations to the Dionne Quintuplets! They'll be 11 May 28. About time we did another picture with them. Their coming birthday reminds me of the picture they did some years back with the late Alex Woollcott. While there, he decided to interview their pappy. Drove up in a great open car to Mr. Dionne's little shop. Pappy came out. Alex started his barrage of questions. Mr. Dionne looked him up and down, sideways, Alex continued. Then Alex started mopping his brow with his hankie, three minutes later drove away, with pappy still looking after him. He hadn't said one word. Alex turned to his companion and muttered, "That's the first time that's ever happened to me."

Tale of Two Temperaments

Here's another about Woollcott. While here on an annual visit, he invited me for tea. He always made quite a ceremony out of it, too, so I arranged to have a shampoo, wave, manicure. Just as my head went into the bowl, a frantic call came from Paramount studio that Jan Kiepura, whom I was coaching at the time, wouldn't record his song unless I was there. I explained my situation. They told me how much money they were losing per minute. They had sent a police car for me, so with my head wrapped in a towel, I went to the studio, forgot about Alex's tea party—and he wouldn't speak to me for a year.

What a Gal!

Paulette Goddard sure has a way with her. When her electric stove went on the blink, she called Frank Freeman, Paramount head man, and in nothing flat he had two studio electricians fixing it. . . . Her pet name for Clark Gable is "Thundercloud." He looks so handsome when he's angry. . . . Mrs. Hogg [Geraldine Fitzgerald] and Mrs. Trout [Ella Raines] say, "If we had the food we're married to, we wouldn't have to worry about short rations." . . . Constance Moore fed Keenan Wynn tomato juice, cream of mushroom soup, and ice cream. Sure, his jaw is still wired. . . . Mrs. Irvin Cobb greeting old friends here, also keeping an eye on her granddaughter. . . . Glenn Vernon relieves the nurses at Ann Blythe's bedside. . . . Gregory Peck, on location at Silver Springs, Fla., came home from a village square dance with his wife, Greta, only to find a coral snake stretched out on their front porch. Lucky there was a croquet mallet handy. . . . Gregory tried to buy a 44 star flag from a storekeeper, who said he could have it for that hat Greg was wearing. Greg said, "it won't fit you." "No, but it will my horse."

Major Orchestras Pass the Hat to Meet Deficits; "Jacobowsky" Quits Blackstone June 9

Altho opera companies sometimes make both ends meet and even occasionally wind up a season in the black of profit, symphony orchestras generally have to pass the hat. According to Associated Press report from Philadelphia, where managers of 18 orchestras are in conclave, all except one had to ask for help when the returns came in for 1944-'45. Operational deficits ranged from $413 to $2,232 a concert, and added up to $1,730,950. One orchestra had to beg for $171,000, while three needed more than $150,000, another five were short more than $100,000, and seven asked for more than $50,000 each. In every case, friends such as the sustaining members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra came to the rescue, and their contributions not only wiped out the red ink, but left an additional $27,552 in the communal till.

In case you still contemplate backing an orchestra, it costs money to run one. Gross operating expenses of the 18 orchestras last season amounted to $5,558,589, and gross earned income totaled $3,827,639. Managers reported that 79.3 per cent of earned income came from receipts of concerts at home and on tour, while 70.8 per cent of all expenses went for salaries.

Boston was not represented at the conference. The 18 managers in session spoke for the orchestras of Baltimore, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Oklahoma State society, Los Angeles, New York, Pittsburgh, Rochester, St. Louis, San Francisco, Toronto, and Washington, D. C.

"Jacobowsky" Closing

"Jacobowsky and the Colonel" ends its Blackstone engagement Saturday night, June 9, and nothing is booked insofar except the eventual return of "Good Night Ladies." Meanwhile, you might be interested in Paul Bowles' comment on the deletion of his music for "Jacobowsky." "I knew," he writes, "they [the Theater Guild] were not performing my music with the play on the road because they wrote me telling me they could no longer afford to send me my weekly check as royalty, but I didn't know they were using music anyway. . . . It seems they're still losing so much on 'Oklahoma!' and 'Carousel' that they have to cut down on all expenses which are not absolutely essential. And when was incidental music ever that on the road?" Funny thing, Mr. Bowles, we thought this was Chicago.

Notes

Apropos of the variable state of an actor's health, Montgomery Clift, reported too ill to play a disabled soldier in our "The Searching Wind," is playing the same sort of part with considerable success in the brand new "Foxhole in the Parlor." . . . New York's City center ended its season just $10,673 in the red. It played 357 assorted performances to three-quarters of a million people and gross receipts of more than a million dollars. . . . "Interplay" is the name of Jerome Robbins' new ballet to Morton Gould music, designed for Billy Rose's "Concert Varieties," opening June 1 at New York's Ziegfeld.

Auction at Bevans' Home to Net Large Sum for Hospital

Auction addicts and collectors of objects of art are enjoying a field day at Lake Forest's giant auction sale of the household possessions of the late Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan, which enters its fifth session this afternoon and continues thru tonight and tomorrow afternoon. The first day's sale in the court yard of the Bevans' 25-room house at 740 N. Green Bay rd. netted $36,000 for the Presbyterian hospital, to which the estate was willed when Mrs. Bevan died last July, leaving no children.

More than 1,200 spectators thronged the auction tent during the first afternoon of the four-day event, when 380 items were sold. Among the 1,327 separate objects offered during the giant sale, one of the largest of its type ever to be held in this part of the country, are furnishings from the Bevans' 22-room town apartment at 1550 N. State pkwy. A grandfather clock which brought $430 was the most expensive item sold the first afternoon.

An admission fee of $1 is charged for the sale, and this amount, too, will go to the hospital, of which the late Dr. Bevan was chief surgeon. More of the Bevans' possessions will be offered for sale June 7, 8, and 9.

In Chicago that means "Savoy"!

"El Café Supremo" ... coffee of the finest quality—of course that means Savoy!

Savoy Coffee is famous for its goodness, and today it's the same fine master-blend of high-grown varieties that it was in the good old days before the war.

The reason is simple—special coffee-grower friends have saved their choicest grades for Savoy, because Savoy has always used top-grade coffee.

No wonder discriminating people say "Savoy" to their grocers!

Subsidies Fail to Hide Facts of Meat Costs

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON

The housewife is beginning to learn the truth about the real cost of meat, which planners say is being kept low in their controled economy. The head of the family knows better, particularly at tax paying time each year, when he must make up the difference, indirectly, between the controled prices the Mrs. pays at the store and the real cost of the meat. Stock yards distribution experts yesterday explained this situation in analyzing the so-called fight against price inflation within the meat industry thru the use of federal subsidy payments to packers and farmers.

Hiding spiraling meat and live stock prices behind a smoke screen of subsidies, complex maximum lawful price ranges, and ceiling prices for meat—around which a huge volume is flowing to consumers at much higher illegal rates—is the method used to cover up the real cost of meat to American civilians, they said. The fight against price inflation in the cattle industry has been a farce. Including the subsidy payments made by the government to packers and farmers, a cost not involved in the last war, the current total per pound price of animals is at the highest levels in the history of the live stock markets, pushed there partly by subsidy money, paid in the guise of a blockade against inflation.

As a result of the complex situation, no one can estimate accurately how much the housewife really pays for meat. One authority noted that the farmer this week received $17.90 for top steers and in addition got 50 cents a hundred pounds subsidy from the government. The buyer of the cattle could collect up to $3.40 a hundred pounds subsidy. The investment thus involved, however, does not represent the basis on which meat is delivered by packers, because at OPA ceiling rates they do not even get back the $17.90 price. Their subsidy does not make up the loss for them in beef production, industry spokesmen said. Early next month the government will add 25 cents more subsidy to the cattle price, payable to packers.

One live stock and meat expert likened the meat situation under OPA ceilings to a thermometer set permanently at 70 degrees winter and summer, the official temperature, regardless of the actual weather fluctuation. Market men said the real price of any product is the total cost involved, regardless of whether it is paid by the packer or the government. In the case of cattle, that cost now averages the highest on record.

In some way the extra cost of the subsidy payments as well as administration expenses must come from taxation. No amount of camouflaging can hide the fact that the line against inflation in the cattle industry has been cracking a long time and now has wide gaps in it, trade leaders said. They added that the method of trying to conceal this fact is simply blocking production instead of inflation, because farmers do not get the full benefit of the inflated price. Civilians would have no beef worries if farmers received the real cattle price in a free market.

Thru the Looking Glass

Going to have your picture taken? Here are some do's and don'ts.

Don't run quick like a bunny from the hairdresser's to the photographer's. There is nothing more flattering than clean hair with a high luster, but there is nothing more unflattering than hair that is obviously freshly set in tight, stiff undulations. Have your hair done at least one day before, maybe two, so that it is shiny but soft. And don't have a hairpin or a bobby pin in sight when you go before the camera. That little bit of metal will catch the light and look like a steel bolt.

Don't put on a lot of rouge. Use none or very little. It makes a dark blob.

Use plenty of lipstick but be sure you get it on straight. Use a brush so that every little crevice of the lipskin is well coated and when the photographer is ready to snap the picture moisten your lips liberally. It gives a flattering sheen.

Don't use a lot of eye shadow. Use mascara and brush out every lash—that fringe of lashes should be as dark and as luxuriant as you and make-up can contrive. Instead of using a dark shadow use plain cream to give the lids a nice sheen.

Be particular about the neckline of your dress. If you're inclined to be moon faced, wear a dress with a V neck. A touch of white usually is pretty flattering, too.

And unless you can have pictures taken often, don't wear a hat. Hats are great fun, and when a silly hat is in vogue it's a joy, but the sight of that hat a year from now, or 10 years from now, will make you turn pale. Hats date pictures fearfully.

Fish Demands Rise as Supply Here Dwindles

Chicagoans are demanding fish in larger quantities than ever before to combat the meat shortage, a survey showed yesterday. The demand, which one member of the trade estimated has gone up 200 per cent since meat became scarce, has resulted in unprecedented withdrawals of fish from cold storage because fresh arrivals have been decreasing fairly steadily.

Dealers said they are able to sell all they can obtain. Fresh water fish shipments have been below normal because of bad weather, which has prevented fishermen from making their regular hauls. Dealers said also that much fish, both fresh and salt water, is being kept where it is caught because of the demand, so that inland cities such as Chicago suffer.

In 1943 Chicago received 85 million pounds of fish, including shellfish, while last year it received only 66 million pounds, figures of the department of the interior showed. Last week the city received 1,423,500 pounds, divided among 734,500 fresh water, 663,000 salt water, and 26,000 shellfish.

Last week's figures showed cold storage holdings of fish at 1,789,247 pounds, a decrease of 13 per cent from the preceding week and 73 per cent under a year ago. Up until six months ago, fish was so plentiful in cold storage warehouses that owners were required to obtain a certificate to keep it in storage for more than 10 months, members of the trade said. The situation is so reversed now that warehouse space is going begging. Dealers said they sell the fish as fast as it comes in without a chance to put any in cold storage.

No estimate was available on per capita consumption. As of last November, on a nation-wide basis, it was 12.8 pounds annually, against 161 pounds of meat, but trade sources asserted it now is substantially higher.

Despite the restricted supply, Chicago housewives are not taking kindly to substitutions of lesser known fish for their favorite whitefish, trout, mackerel, halibut, and others, it was said. The fish trade in Chicago has organized a committee headed by Albert E. Burhop, one of whose aims is to publicize the lesser known and less expensive varieties, which, the committee says, are just as tasty and nutritious—if properly prepared.

When lunch is eaten away from home, a hearty breakfast usually is important. It takes careful planning to include in two home meals a day the balance of the required foods that can't be carried in a lunchbox or ordered at most restaurants. And since many persons lack appetite early in the morning, it's up to the cook to see that breakfast is attractive and varied enough to do away with this excuse.

Vary the beverage by preparing hot chocolate or hot milk occasionally in place of coffee and cold milk. Serve different fruits each day, choosing from citrus fruits, prunes, or apricots, fruit juices, and seasonal fruits. Or, when bananas or berries are available, serve the fruit on prepared cereals.

Change cereals, too, serving hot, whole grain cereals several times a week and using prepared cereal when time is short. Quick breads have a real appeal when served fresh from the oven, and there are many ready mixes [pancake, muffin, waffle] which can be varied with raisins, nuts, and fruits. Eggs should be included at least two or three times a week, too—and sausage or bacon when available.

To help give that added sparkle, here are a couple of recipes good for party occasions as well as family breakfasts.

Fluffy Omelet

[Serves six]

- 5 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons margarine

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add flour, salt, and pepper, and mix until smooth. Add milk. Beat egg whites until foamy. Fold yolk mixture lightly into whites. Pour mixture into melted, hot margarine in skillet. Cover and cook slowly over low heat until puffy and light brown on bottom, then place uncovered in a moderate oven [350 degrees] until top is dry, about 10 to 15 minutes. Fold omelet over, slip onto hot plate, and serve at once.

Quick Apple Strudel

[Twelve 1-inch slices]

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- ⅝ to ¾ cup milk
- 3 cups chopped apple
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- Confectioners' sugar icing
- Chopped nut meats

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar. Cut in shortening and add milk to make a soft dough. Toss onto floured board and knead gently. Roll out ¼ inch thick and brush with melted margarine, cover with chopped apple, and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll as for jelly roll and shape into large crescent on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven [425 degrees] 20 to 25 minutes. While still warm, frost with confectioners' sugar icing and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Here's a Tasty Combination

This tasty combination of frankfurters on hot potato salad will fit into garden meals this summer. If the bacon included in recipe is not available, use bacon ends, more economical in points and pennies. To prepare the dish:

Place six frankfurters in boiling water, remove from burner, and let stand 5 to 8 minutes to heat. Dice 4 slices bacon [or use ¾ cup chopped bacon ends] and brown slowly. Add ¼ cup diced onion and brown with bacon. Add ¼ cup vinegar, 3 tablespoons water, and 2 teaspoons sugar. Cook over low heat until flavors are blended. Pour bacon sauce over 4 cups cubed cooked potatoes and season to taste with salt and pepper. Sprinkle potatoes with chopped green pepper, top with frankfurters, and serve hot.

It's still a bit chilly for bathing... I think I'll go make some hot coffee.
It's not too cold for me...but I'm always ready for a cup of your delicious Manor House Coffee.
Flame-Roasted
to seal in true coffee flavor
Bathing suits have "shrunk" a lot since grandma's day... but you still want full flavor in your coffee cup. That's why so many folks have changed to McLaughlin's Manor House Coffee. That old-time goodness of Manor House is still protected by flame-roasting. Yes, Manor House is still roasted the time-tested way—over live open flames. Delicate flavor oils are sealed in—not baked out. Try flame-roasted Manor House today and enjoy the true coffee flavor that folks have praised since 1852.

DOCTOR UNNECESSARY

As Winnie and Kim neared the house a tall figure ran down the steps toward them. "Hello, darling, did you think I was never going to get out here?" Dirk took Winnie in his arms and kissed her. Then he held her off. "What's got into you, dear? Aren't you glad to see me?"

"Of course I'm glad," said Winnie coldly.

"We—ell, I'm glad you told me. Otherwise I'd never know it." Dirk released her and began to walk toward the porch.

He had nodded civilly to Kim over Winnie's shoulder. Apparently he had no animosity for any one but her.

Lt. French went into the library with Sybrand Jennesma after organizing the troopers' searching parties.

French had been given only the main facts. Now he stood near the doorway, glancing thoughtfully from one face to another.

Miss Warburton was intrigued by his casual manner, and she saw Sen. North watching him intently.

"Where is your brother, Mr. Jennesma?" French asked after surveying the room.

"Upstairs."

"I'd better run up and see him first."

"He'll be down soon."

"Then he isn't badly hurt?"

"It looks bad to me. It looks awful. He'll be marred for life if he doesn't have stitches taken in it."

"Has he a reliable doctor?"

"He won't have a doctor. He hates 'em. I've worn myself out trying to make him have one. You can try if you want."

French glanced toward the hall, then toward the ceiling. Heavy footsteps, thudding overhead made the chandelier jangle. In a few seconds Gerrit entered the room followed by Mrs. Jennesma.

Mrs. Jennesma glanced apprehensively toward her husband as if seeking his approval.

In her role of ministering angel, Mrs. Jennesma took her brother-in-law's arm to guide him to a chair. But Gerrit flung her off rudely and staggered across the room to sit down under his own power.

Mrs. Jennesma let herself sink down tragically in a chair. She laid a fat hand, afire with jewels, experimentally on her heart.

He sat straight in his chair, both feet on the floor, grasping the arms with both hands.

"You should be in bed," the lieutenant said.

"I will be when you're thru with me. What do you want? Couldn't these people tell you what happened? Why aren't you out hunting the man who attacked me?"

These remarks did nothing to gain the lieutenant's sympathy.

"My men are looking for your assailant. I want to know what happened to you."

Gerrit's eyelids half closed, then he said, exhaustedly, "I was working. In my shop. Somebody tapped on the window. I called, 'Come in.' But nobody came."

"Did you see who was tapping?"

"No. Window was at my back. Nobody there when I turned around. Thought maybe it was tree branch. But there wasn't any wind. Tapping kept on. I got mad. Couldn't concentrate on work. Picked up heavy cane I have there and went out."

Sybrand groaned. "O Gerrit, how could you, after all the trouble we've had. After those notes."

Gerrit scowled, then jumped with pain. "I was armed I tell you. I'm not a complete fool."

The lieutenant interrupted, "Please continue, Mr. Jennesma."

Gerrit said, "I yelled 'who's there' a couple of times. No answer. Then I went out. The fellow was layin' for me a few feet away from the door. He jumped out of some bushes and wrenched my cane away before I even saw him."

"Couldn't you see his face at all?"

"No, it was too dark. But he was a big fellow, strong as an ox. At first I thought I could handle him. But when I found he had a knife, then I started to yell for help."

"Yes, we heard you," Sybrand put in, anxious to placate. "I was in the library and the others were in the living room."

"I was in my office," Kim corrected. French looked at him.

"O yes. That's so. You bumped into me in the hall when you ran out," Sybrand said nervously. "But we heard you, Gerrit, and came as fast as we could."

"O you did, hmm? With any luck the fellow could easy have killed me before you got there."

North put in briskly, "Look here, Jennesma, did your attacker say anything to you?"

Gerrit blinked his blue eyes and winced.

"Hmm? Why yes. Yes he did. Said if he couldn't get his rightful share peaceably, he'd take it out of me this way."

Sybrand cried excitedly, "Then, it must have been the fellow who's been writing the notes, Gerrit!"

"Yeah. The dirty rat." Gerrit nursed his injured cheek.

North was leaning forward, "What? You mean he said all that, and still you didn't recognize him?"

Gerrit gave him a vicious glower. "No I did not. I don't care for your tone, Sen. North, and I fail to see how it's any of your business. The fellow did sound a little familiar . . . but he just panted the words. I gave him some battle. I've had men working for me for 25 years. I can't remember every one."

He tried to rise but sank back with a faint groan that he could not entirely stifle. Sybrand said agitatedly:

"Let him get to bed, lieutenant."

"Very well, in just a minute. Is there any more I should know, Mr. Jennesma?"

Gerrit mumbled, "No." He was trying to stand again but nobody dared to help him. "I kept yelling. Some one finally answered. Fellow saw help coming. Ran off. I ran toward the house. Met Kimball, the girl, my brother. Let me alone. I can make it." He flung off his brother's helping hand, managed to stand, and wove his way slowly toward the hall.

French went on. "Didn't any one stop to hunt for Mr. Jennesma's assailant at once?"

"I had no weapon," Kim said, a bit defensively. "The guy had a knife and had proved he was quite accomplished with it. So I came back to the house to get a gun."

France, will speak at a luncheon meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations at 12:15 p. m. today in the Palmer House. Mrs. Wright, who is director of the council, went to France at the invitation of several French civic organizations. She visited Paris, Bordeaux, Toulouse, Marseilles, and Lyons. Some of those who will be at the speakers' table are the Frederic Woodwards, Prof. and Mrs. Ernst W. Puttkammer, Jean Viala, French consul, and Mme. Viala; the Paul Harpers, and Mrs. William G. Hibbard.

An original script, "Her Children," by Mrs. Franklin Miller will be among the three one-act plays to be presented by the Playwright's Theater at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Arts club. Refreshments will be served after the program. The theater group was founded by Miss Alice Gerstenberg.

"America Dancing" is the intriguing title of a dance program to be presented in the Harris schools at 8:15 o'clock tonight. The girls of the lower school did the choreography for the Indian dance, and those of the upper school arranged two numbers, "Il Penseroso" and "L'Allegro." Miss Helen Kaiser will serve as narrator of the program. Among the ballerinas are Ann Bowey, Joan Jacobs, Barbara Burr, and Susan Shaw, and some of their partners are Don Bowey, George McWilliams, and Bruce Hamilton.

The final meeting in a series of spring conferences for members of boards of directors associated with the Council of Social Agencies of Chicago will be held at 10 a. m. today in the Standard club. Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the council, and Linn Brandenburg, secretary of the Community fund, will speak on "Planning and Financing Social Welfare." Following luncheon at noon, Mrs. Herman Lebeson, a member of the board of the Travelers Aid society, will speak on "The Semantics of Social Work, or the Low Down on the High Brows."

Dr. Walter Blair, author and lecturer, will tell about "Laughter in War Time America" following dinner tonight in the Cliff Dwellers.

The choir of Christ church, Winnetka, will present its 32d annual spring concert at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the church parish house. Dr. Horace Whitehouse is director. A dance will follow the concert.

Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by R. Leonard, 910 W. 66th st.]

THE QUESTION

What are you doing to improve yourself?

WHERE ASKED

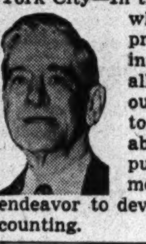
13th st. and Wabash av.

THE ANSWERS

Gloria Motel, student, 4922 Bernard st.—I want to become a doctor and I'm learning the fundamentals now. Even if I don't reach my goal I will improve my knowledge of a subject that interests me. I spend many hours reading and studying. Education is about the best improvement any one can make.

Lillian Hartnett, biller, 5626 Emerald av.—At present I'm studying popular piano music. It costs money, tho, so I'm concentrating on my job—doing it a lot better than I would if I just wanted to get by—hoping my boss will give me a raise soon. Then I can spend the money to take more music lessons.

A. C. Wilson, accounting, New York City—In these strenuous times when all accounting problems have become intricate it calls for all our energy to carry out requirements. I'm too old to improve my ability in sports so I put forth a little more mental energy in an endeavor to devise short cuts in accounting.



C. T. Carlson, office manager, 14425 Clark st., Riverdale—I'm improving myself by trying to improve others, and learning patience at the same time. I have two young sons. One is a Cub Scout, and I'm trying to get the other to join. I'm also a committeeman for the Cubs. I'm trying to further the organization in every way I can.

Jeanne Leach, secretary, 2730 N. Albany av.—After the war I think that North and South American relations will be very close. For that reason I'm studying Spanish. I go to Spanish restaurants as often as I can and try to converse with Spanish speaking people. I also am learning the Latin dances.

Elayne Seltzer, student, 3237 Leland av.—At this stage of my life I feel that the most I can do to improve myself is to take my school work seriously. I'm not going to be in school all my life and the time is passing anyway, so I may as well make the most of it while it's here. I don't think any one can study too much.

Sally Seeks Rug and Radios for Elderly Women

[Sally Joy Brown department activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Today we are submitting appeals from three elderly women, which our readers may be able to fill.

An 8'x6' rug has been requested by Mrs. A., a south side social worker, for a woman who lives alone in a sparsely furnished one windowed room overlooking an alley. She is frail and unable to walk out of doors or indulge in any activity requiring more than a minimum of effort. Her chief pleasure, therefore, is the room itself, which could be made more comfortable and attractive if its bare floor were covered by a rug.

Mrs. F., who lives in rear basement quarters on the north side, receives an old age pension which provides her meager living expenses but allows no extras. The narrowing circle of friendships and interests and the resultant lonesomeness that come with old age could be checked to a great extent if a small radio were provided for her.

Another radio request recently brought to our attention is in behalf of a woman whose interest in current events and public affairs is very keen despite failing eyesight and a crippling ailment, which necessitates the use of a wheel chair. She lives alone and is able to move about her tiny room with extreme difficulty. Her small budget makes no allowance for newspapers, and she is eager to know the latest news. A radio would answer her need. The assisting agency will make arrangements for transportation.

Filmy Dresses for Graduation Events Arrive

BY REA SEEGER

Prom dresses and the important commencement or graduating dresses steal the fashion spotlight this week and the next. Most of them are floor length and designed also for party wear during the summer. Traditional all white still rates top honors with shoppers. Filmy sheers and equally transparent cottons such as organdy, lawn, the swisses make the most appealing gowns. The fitted basque silhouette that accentuates the handspan waistlines and the whirl and swirl of a wide wide skirt is by far the most popular. Underslips and petticoats are of rustling white taffeta. Sleeves are varied in length, from the very short puffed affairs to the long gathered bell sleeves, with cuffs.

Lace, combined with fragile sheers, makes picturesque gowns, on which the lace is used for the fitted basque bodice and the sleeves. Some have lace edged flounces and entire lace sleeves. All have the wide, swirling pre-war skirt, because yardage control is not a designing hazard for these sheers. Demure vee necklines, and covered necklines with just a shadow weight of chiffon or fine net mark the 1945 models as young and crisp as anything ever unpacked.

Unquestionably the most effective, and to many shoppers the most beautiful and practical growns, are those made of eyelet embroidery. For this is the exquisite material that requires no elaboration or trim. The fine all over designs worked in eyelet are cool and effective and need no contrast other than a sash or bow knots of velvet or gros grain ribbon. They are to be worn with all white ribbons for commencement and with bright colored ribbons for summer dance and dinner parties.

FASHIONS

By Angela

Peasant ensembles are the new and popular white summer outfits designed to stress that cool look. Trimmed with brilliant embroidery, these skirt and blouse affairs are among the best looking conversation pieces on the style scene.

"Goose Girl," is the intriguing name given the twill-like white skirt and sheer blouse at the left. The slightly full skirt has an apron effect created by the use of vivid red embroidery. A wide band across the bottom depicts gaily marching girls and geese. Bands up the side and over the shoulders, which fasten in back at the waistline, are done in a conventional leaf design. The sheer, high necked, short sleeved blouse is trimmed with red petal scallops.

Those with a penchant for cross-stitch embroidery will be fascinated by the dress in the center. Figures of red, blue, and green x-stitch band the broadcloth-like skirt. A yoke in the sheer blouse repeats the motif. Scalloped bands of blue trim the puffed sleeves, square neckline, and yoke.

The Bo-Peep motif is used on the costume at the right. The embroidered apron effect on the broadcloth-like skirt is trimmed with blue scalloped embroidery. Straps extending over the shoulders cross at the waistline in back. A sheer eyelet blouse has a high drawstring neckline and short puffed sleeves edged with eyelet embroidery. All the styles are available in sizes 9 to 17.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds
Pass	2 hearts	Pass	3 clubs
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead, ace of clubs.

A successful false card by Helen Sobel against the redoubtable Howard Schenken, mainstay of the celebrated Four Aces team, created a 720 point swing in favor of our team in the finals of the Vanderbilt tournament, which we annexed recently by the margin of 1,620 points.

The bidding given above is that which took place with Schenken, North; Stayman, South; B. J. Becker, West, and Mrs. Sobel, East. In the other room my partner, Sidney Silodor was North; Theodore Lightner, West, and the Baron Waldemar von Zedtwitz, East. The same final contract was reached, but on somewhat different bidding.

Lightner is experimenting with a weak opening no trump bid when not vulnerable, on hands that lack the requirements for a sound opening bid. The purpose is to obstruct the enemy. He opened with one no trump, Silodor overcalled with two hearts, the Baron passed and I bid three diamonds, Silodor rebid the hearts which I carried to game.

The play proceeded in exactly the same manner at both tables for several tricks. The ace of clubs was opened and the West hand played the four. The three of clubs was continued and won by the king in dummy West followed with the seven, holding up the deuce. Without seeing all the cards there are several lines of play open to declarer. Both Schenken and Silodor went into the longest huddle of the match at this point and each decided to embark on the same line of play, that is, to discard one spade and ruff out the other two, trusting to hold the losses to one club and two trump tricks.

A spade was led to the ace and a spade ruffed with the three of hearts. Silodor then cashed the ace and king of diamonds, ruffed himself in with a diamond and trumped the remaining spade with the 10 of hearts. He subsequently lost one trump trick to Lightner and the baron was enabled to make the eight of hearts at the end on a club overruff.

In the other room when Schenken played the king of diamonds, Mrs. Sobel played the eight and on the ace of diamonds she dropped the queen, concealing the six. Schenken considered that it was safer to come out of dummy with a club ruffing with the seven. Mrs. Sobel overruffed with the eight and returned a trump, leaving declarer with a losing spade on his hands as well as the inevitable trump loser.

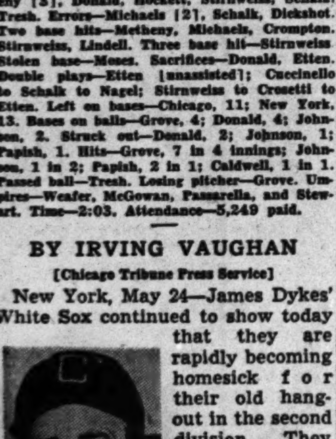
BY IRVING VAUGHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, May 24—James Dykes' White Sox continued to show today that they are rapidly becoming homesick for their old hangout in the second division. They committed errors with amazing nonchalance, confined most of their attack to building up a distressing total of numbers left on bases and in various ways made it simple for the Yankees to take the second of the series by 6 to 3.



Tony Cuccinello.

It is likely that the errors had something to do with it but, anyway, Boss Dykes found it necessary to give employment to four of his pitchers. The first of these was Orval Grove. He stayed for four innings, which were on the hilarious side. During Grove's term the Sox made three of their blunders and the Yanks made seven of their hits for a batch of four runs, so the runs subsequently counted against John Johnson and Frank Papish really weren't needed.

Snuffy Gets a Triple

The White Sox clung to the American league lead by a precarious margin as the Yankees moved up to second place. The Detroit Tigers, beaten by the Athletics today, dropped to third, a game off the pace.

The Yankees' first inning opened with George Stirnweiss being awarded a triple on a fly ball Wally Moses touched but failed to hold. Art Metheny singled to score Stirnweiss and it was the only run of the inning despite such other annoying items as a pass and one of Cass Michaels' two errors. The Sox warmed up to their ribald display in the second on an infield hit by Frankie Crosetti and a passed ball by Mike Tresh. Atley Donald's roller should have made the second out, but Michaels fumbled again and Crosetti scored. The blunder bug immediately nipped Roy Schalk, who booted Stirnweiss' grounder, after which Metheny doubled to score Donald. Grove filled the bases by walking Hershel Martin intentionally and then took proper care of the next two batters.

Double Play Produces Run

The Yanks popped forth with two more hits in the third and didn't score, but they did manage a run on one hit in the fourth, which marked the end of Grove. For a starter Metheny walked and dashed to third on Martin's single. John Lindell grounded into a double play, Metheny scoring.

Michaels opened the fifth with a double to left and the White Sox used this as a means of dodging an impending shutout. Tresh walked after the double and Floyd Baker was sent up to bat for Grove but did nothing more than lift a pop foul. After Moses had forced Tresh, a single rattled off Oris Hockett's bat and Michaels scored. The Yankees retrieved this run off Johnson in the same inning on two passes and a looping single by Metheny. Then they added their sixth and last in the seventh against Papish.

The two worthless runs gathered by the Sox in the eighth began with a pass to John Dickshot who was promptly forced by Bill Nagel. Tony Cuccinello's third single, Schalk's first and Tresh's second accounted for the scoring.

He Will Do the Rest

"If God had but seen fit," the neighbors mourned,
"To take the baby when the mother died,"
Good souls, they meant their honest tears,
But God, not they, the future years descried;
True, 'twas a heavy task that father faced,
"What," he wondered, "will betide us now?"
But even with that infant on his hands,
He swore to keep the home intact somehow.

The years passed by, and changes one by one
Came to this home as change must come to all,
The children grown, some married, some fared forth
Hither and yon to heed vocation's call;
But what now of that tiny babe in arms,
The one the neighbors thought was better dead?
Now she alone remains within that home,
A tower of strength to that family's aging head.

And so, in looking back down all the years,
When Heaven sent that little baby guest,
The neighbors now can see God plans things well,
And that if we trust Him, He will do the rest!

CONFIDENCE IS WATCHWORD AT BIG TEN SESSION

Look Ahead to Fine Football Season

BY WILFRID SMITH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Champaign, Ill., May 24.—The football coaches and athletic directors of the Western conference wrote their football schedules on a huge blackboard in the Urbana-Lincoln hotel today and sat back to contemplate the 1945 program which they expect to be the most satisfactory in four war years. There were no important additions and the principal item involved nothing more than transfer of the Indiana-Northwestern game Sept. 29 to Evanston from Bloomington.

Offsetting this change, one of the first acts of Ted Payseur, Northwestern's new director of sports, was announcement that Nebraska would play the Hoosiers Oct. 13 in Bloomington. Michigan will be the first conference team to open the season if the Wolverines sign for a game in Ann Arbor Sept. 15 with Great Lakes or the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks.

Ten Games for Wolverines

Lt. Comdr. Larry Mullins of the Seahawks was on deck this morning and would like to have Michigan as opening opponent. Great Lakes is understood to have asked consideration but neither Lt. Comdr. Rollie Williams, athletic officer, nor Lt. [j. g.] Paul Brown, football coach, was present at the start of the schedule discussions.

Michigan's proposed early opening game gives the Wolverines a 10 game schedule. The Sept. 22 bookings will have all conference teams in action except Iowa and are headlined by the Indiana-Michigan contest in Ann Arbor.

Other games on Sept. 22 are Pittsburgh at Illinois, Missouri at Minnesota, Iowa State at Northwestern, Wisconsin at Great Lakes, Marquette at Purdue, and Ohio State at Iowa Pre-Flight. The Buckeyes' game in Iowa City will be Ohio State's first away from home football game on opening day since 1892.

Other Schools Represented

All Big Ten universities were represented today and in addition the midwestern conclave included Ralph Young and Charles Bachman of Michigan State, Con Jennings of Marquette, Hugh Devore and the Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., of Notre Dame, Dukes Duford of St. Louis university, Clark Shaughnessy of Pittsburgh, A. J. Lewandowski of Nebraska, and Lt. Comdr Mullins of Iowa Pre-Flight.

The meetings today followed an easily recognized pattern. Tomorrow the directors, as usual, will confer with the faculty committee, governing body of the conference.

Unofficial topic today, a discussion eschewed by all but none the less looming important, was recruiting. With anticipated conclusion of the war, the conference will resume its code of eligibility. In the meantime, according to gossip, the recruiting of freshman athletes is the major item on the agenda. No public announcement can be made now and perhaps the subject will be avoided later but it is the principal basis for dispute.

Michigan Seeks 21st Title

Michigan's squad of 24 athletes arrives tomorrow night to defend its conference track championship Saturday afternoon in Memorial stadium. The Wolverines, victors for the last two years, will seek their 21st title since the meet was inaugurated in 1901. Coach Leo Johnson of Illinois had no additional information on the status of his star, Bob Kelley, who last year won the half mile and 440 yard championships. Kelley will run in the half mile but he may not try the shorter distance.

A wide open battle for the shotput championship is predicted. Leading contenders in a field which has no brilliant performers are Max Morris, Northwestern's three-sport star, and Stan Sprague of Illinois. In meets to date, Morris has the season's top mark of 45 feet 11¼ inches, but Sprague has beaten 45 feet.

Dugger Leads Discus Brigade

Jack Dugger of Ohio State, Keith Gotthardt of Iowa, Holton Hayes of Indiana, and George Fuch of Wisconsin also must be ocnsidered, with Clem Bauman of Michigan, Warren Amling of Ohio, and Erv Pittleman of Wisconsin given a chance to place.

The discus throw, too, will be an open affair. Dugger ranks as the pre-meet favorite with Bob Grandy, Michigan, and Gotthardt of Iowa his closest rivals. Others are Harvey Williams of Wisconsin, Gilbert Gaarder of Minnesota, and Ray Snyder of Illinois.

FIELD OF 15 WILL RUN TOMORROW IN CRETE STAKES

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

A 4 year old filly and a 5 year old gelding, brilliant campaigners during the 1944 racing season, are expected to battle it out for the major portion of the $5,000 added purse put up for the Lincoln Fields Crete handicap at Hawthorne tomorrow. The filly is Harriet Sue, winner of two stake events in 1944, and her rival is Bring Me Home, in the money 17 times in 25 starts last year.

These thorobreds top the list of 15 named for the six furlong event for 3 year olds and up which last year was won by John Marsch's Occupation, Futurity champion of 1942. Bring Me Home has been assigned 122 pounds, Harriet Sue, 115.

Won Matron Stakes in 1944

Harriet Sue, owned by Hyman Friedberg of Louisville, Ky., won the $15,000 added Arlington Matron and the $5,000 Ashland stakes at Churchill Downs last season and earned $23,725 for her owner. Bring Me Home, owned by C. F. Martin of California, while not a stake winner, finished first on eight occasions in his 25 races, was second five times, and third four, earning $17,320 during the year.

Chief contention likely will come from A. S. Higgins' Quizzle, winner of one division of the $2,500 Sportsman's Inaugural handicap and the $2,500 Pat O'Brien handicap also at Sportsman's Park. Quizzle will carry 121 pounds.

Near Juvenile Record

Yesterday's Lincoln Fields program was highlighted by the first juvenile event of the Chicago season, the third race in which seven maidens competed at four and one-half furlongs and the winner, Mrs. Bob McGarvey's Over Night came within a fifth of a second of equaling the track record of :55 set by St. Pat in 1893, two years after Hawthorne came into being, and tied in 1904 by Kurtzmann.

Mrs. McGarvey sent out Night Shadow, a full sister of the speedy Over Night, in the featured $1,600 Beverly purse and again Jockey Glidewell brought the stable's colors down in front. The 5 year old mare, winner of her last start, beat J. H. Miles' Rush Act, a 17 to 1 shot, by two and a half lengths in the six and one-half furlong sprint. Night Shadow was the odds-on favorite and returned $2.80 for a $2 straight ticket.

A crowd of 9,479 wagered $611,729 on the eight race program.

GRAZIANO, DAVIS MEET TONIGHT IN NEW YORK BOUT

New York, May 24 (AP)—Boxing will return to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for the first time since March 30. C., will face Nava Espazra of Mexico City in the chief supporting match, a six rounder. They are lightweights.

Crosby, Hope Ticket Sale Passes 17,000

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

The Tam o' Shanter Country club, accustomed thru the annual All-American tournaments to entertaining sizeable fairway audiences, will set an American record for a single day's attendance at a golf match tomorow, when Bing Crosby and Chick Evans tee off at 2 p. m. against Bob Hope and Jimmy Hines. All proceeds of the battle among the two Hollywood stars and the Chicago and New York veterans will be directed into the national P. G. A.'s golfing fund for hospitalized veterans.

George S. May, the Tam o' Shanter impresario, last night announced that 17,000 tickets to tomorrow's duel already have been sold and that he anticipates a gallery of 25,000 by the time the foursome gets away.

Will Break 1935 Mark

The last great exhibition gallery seen in these parts was the throng of 9,000 who saw Joyce Wethered and Horton Smith play Gene Sarazen and Babe Didriksen in Oak Park in July of 1935. Largest other such recorded assembly was the foursome in which the two Babes, Ruth and Didrikson, met John [Mysterious] Montague and Sylvia Annenberg in New York several years ago.

Mr. May last evening was satisfied that his staff of marshals is fit and ready to handle the huge crowd, seeing as how they have had considerable practice with his own perennial extravaganzas. Crosby will arrive late this afternoon, in time, it is hoped, to case the acreage at Howard st. and Caldwell rd. Hope has been sharpening up his swing at such places as Skokie and Exmoor since Wednesday.

Tickets Still Available

Tickets, at $1.20 each, are still on sale at the following locations: The Hub; The Boston Store; Walgreen's at State and Randolph sts.; the P. G. A. office, at 134 N. La Salle st.; the Chicago District Golf association, 18th floor, La Salle hotel, and room 620, 166 W. Jackson blvd.

The best available public transportation to Tam o' Shanter is the Touhy av. bus, which will leave the Howard st. elevated station at 20 minutes after the hour tomorrow.

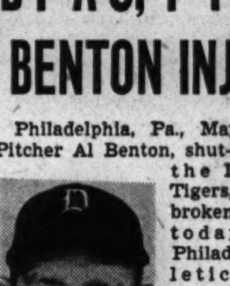
TIGERS BEATEN BY A'S, 7 TO 2; BENTON INJURED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24 (AP)—Pitcher Al Benton, shut-out star of the Detroit Tigers, suffered a broken right leg today as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Tigers, 7 to 2, in a game which was protested by both managers.



Al Benton

Benton was hit by a line drive off the bat of Bobby Estalella and was carried from the field in the fourth inning. Dr. James E. Pugh, Athletics' club physician, said the five game winner suffered a fractured small bone above the right ankle.

Manager O'Neill said Benton would be sidelined three or four weeks.

After Joe Burns had struck out to open the A's second inning, George Kell, following the batting order posted on the scoreboard, also fanned. Irv Hall then singled and, as Dick Siebert stepped to the plate, the Tigers protested. Umpire Eddie Rommel called Kell out for batting out of turn and ordered him to lead off the third inning. It was then that Connie Mack and Steve O'Neill protested on the grounds there were only two putouts in the inning, unless Kell could be retired twice.

BY EDWARD BURNS

Two of the five hits the Cubs made off Kewpie Barrett yesterday were homers by Peanuts Lowrey and Andy Pafko, but the two mammoth shots were good for only half as many runs as the Phillies made off Paul Derringer. So the Phillies won, 6 to 3, the second time Derringer has been beaten this year by ex-Cubs now laboring with the Phillies—tail-enders who have won only six games from the other pitchers in the National league. Bill Lee beat Paul and associates, 5 to 2, on May 9.

It was the third loss for Derringer against five successes and the second defeat he has suffered thru a fifth inning collapse. Against the Giants on May 15 he held the opposition to one hit and was leading, 2 to 0, going into the fifth. Then the Giants started off with a pass and followed with four hits, for an eventual cluster of four runs and a knockout. Sunday in Brooklyn, Big Paul held the Dodgers to two hits in the first four innings, then yielded three in the fifth, but weathered the storm. Yesterday the Giant pattern was followed.

Pass Leads to Trouble

Entering the fifth yesterday Paul was going great guns. He had yielded only two hits, one an infield scratch, and was leading, 2 to 1, by virtue of Lowrey's homer with Phil Cavarretta on base in the fourth inning. With one down, Derringer issued his first pass and four straight hits followed. Before Mack Stewart could stem the tide, there was another pass and a single and when a double play ended the inning the tail-enders were leading, 6 to 2.

Pafko's homer in the sixth affected the final score and neither side threatened thereafter. The Phillies made only one single off Stewart in 2⅔ innings and only one off Paul Erickson in two innings of endeavor. A single by Bill Nicholson was the only incident to disturb Kewpie after Pafko's homer.

Wyse to Pitch Today

Yesterday's collapse dipped the Cubs below the .500 mark in the league standings, but left them with a .500 rating against the tail-enders, with two losses and two victories. Hank Wyse, who held the Phillies to a homer by Vince Di Maggio in a 7 to 1 victory in Philadelphia on May 11, this afternoon will try for his fifth victory of the season.

A run which the Phillies made in the first inning on Glenn Crawford's lead-off double and a couple of outs stood up as a lead until the fourth inning, when the Cubs grabbed a 2 to 1 advantage on a lead-off pass to Cavarretta and Lowrey's homer, which came after Len Rice and Pafko had been retired.

Thus provided with a lead, observers perhaps hoped Big Paul would forget the fifth inning sag that had characterized his last two performances, tho there was a lot of hunch activity in the Cub bullpen. Derringer started the fifth by making Gus Mancuso pop to Hack. When Derringer walked Nick Picciuti, however, Stewart and Erickson stepped up the readying process in the bullpen and when Barrett singled to center Stewart steamed up with even greater ardor. But Derringer stayed on the mound to pitch three more singles—to Crawford, Vance Dinges, and Jim Wasdell.

Walk Loads the Bases

Then, with three runs home and runners on third and second, Stewart entered the arena and walked Jimmy Foxx, again loading the bases. Then he pitched a single to DiMaggio, Dinges and Wasdell scoring.

Only three batsmen faced Stewart in the sixth, then Pafko knocked his homer with one out in the Chicago half of the inning. Stewart got the three top men in the batting order in the seventh and Barrett fanned Pinch Batter Heinz Becker and got Stan Hack and Don Johnson on grounders in the Chicago half of the seventh.

BARRETT AND CARDS DEFEAT DODGERS, 7 TO 5

New St. Louis Pitcher Also Stars as Hitter

St. Louis, Mo., May 24 (AP)—With Red Barrett, who was obtained by the Cardinals in the deal which sent Mort Cooper to Boston yesterday, making his first start for St. Louis, the world champions defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 5, tonight.

The Cards came from behind in the fourth inning to score four runs and take the lead. Barrett figured in this rally with a double against the left field wall, scoring Ken O'Dea for the fourth run and sending Hal Gregg to the showers.

Augie Galan got five straight hits, including his third home run of the season. Buster Adams hit his fifth homer of the year with one on in the fifth.

GIANTS BEAT REDS, 7-6

Cincinnati, O., May 24 (AP)—Pinch Hitter Danny Gardella's home run with Buddy Kerr on base in the eighth inning enabled the New York Giants to grab their second straight decision over Cincinnati today, 7 to 6.

Bill Voiselle, who had won eight in a row but never had beaten the Reds, failed again when he was knocked from the mound in the second inning. Ace Adams, the second of three relief hurlers, received credit for the victory over the veteran Hod Lisenbee.

Indians Beat Senators in Tenth, 1 to 0

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—Tenth inning doubles by Pat Seerey and Jim McDonnell gave the Cleveland Indians and Pitcher Steve Gromek a 1 to 0 shutout victory over Washington tonight.

Roger Wolff, the Senator hurler, had yielded only four singles until Seerey and McDonnell came up with their game winning doubles.

Gromek gave up five hits, all singles, and did not permit a Senator to reach third base. It was Cleveland's second straight victory of the series.

THREE ARENAS PRESENT BOXING SHOWS TONIGHT

Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison st., and the Coliseum annex, 15th st. and Wabash av., and a professional program will be offered in Medinah temple, Ohio st. and Wabash av.

James Anderson, south side heavyweight, will be in quest of his fourth straight knockout in a five round bout against Pete Blouir, Gary sectional Golden Gloves champion, in the Madison arena.

Eight bouts will comprise the program in the Annex under the auspices of Fort Dodge Post, No. 859, American legion. Proceeds will be used for the rehabilitation of disabled former service men.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, will meet Eddie [Kid] Carson in a four round headliner in Medinah temple. Two additional four round events and two wrestling engagements will be included on the card.

PHILLIPS WINS CITY LEAGUE JUNIOR RELAY

Phillips High school scored 32 points yesterday to displace Tilden as champion in the junior division of the south-central City league relay meet. Tilden was second with 27 points.

Three new records were established. They are:

100 YARD DASH—Robert Shore, Phillips. :10.2; old mark, :10.6.
880 YARD RELAY—Tilden team [Howard Bartelsen, Richard Kukulka, Don Chapman, Richard Bonko], 1:38.8; old mark, 1:39.4.
SHOT PUT—Augie Booth, Hyde Park. 48 feet 11½ inches; old mark, 45 feet 9 inches.

MINORS SEEK JOINT SESSION WITH MAJORS

New York, May 24 (AP)—The National Association of professional baseball leagues [the minors], meeting here today, continued work on a new major-minor pact, which, the delegates hope, will be ratified at a joint meeting with a committee representing the big leagues some time in June or July.

Members of the six-man minor league committee drawing up the agreement, said final action would depend entirely on the degree of coöperation of the major leagues.

Chicago May Be Site of Western Soccer Final

The western grand final soccer match will be played in Chicago, Sunday, June 3, provided the Vikings defeat the Rafterys of St. Louis when the two meet this Sunday in Winnemac park stadium, Foster av. and Leavitt st. This decision was reached yesterday at a special meeting of the national challenge cup committee of the United States Soccer Football association, held in New York.

White Sox, Yanks to Play Night Game on June 30

The White Sox-New York Yankees baseball game on Saturday, June 30, will be played at night instead of in the afternoon as originally scheduled, Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Sox, said yesterday. The contest will take the place of a night game between the same clubs which was rained out on May 16. Ticket orders are being accepted by mail.

Wildcats Host Tomorrow to Big 10 Tennis

Michigan's undefeated tennis team will head a field of nine schools which will open play tomorrow in the Big Ten tennis championships on the Northwestern university courts in Evanston. Travel restrictions of navy personnel will prevent the tournament from opening today as originally scheduled. Finals in both singles and doubles will be held Sunday as originally scheduled. Finals in both singles and doubles will be held Sunday morning.

Iowa, which closed its season two weeks ago, is the only school which will not be represented. The University of Chicago will be represented by a full team, marking the first appearance of the Maroons in Western conference athletic competition this year.

Four Wolverine Veterans

Michigan, the defending champion, is led by Roger Lewis, fifth singles champion last season, who now is playing number one for the Wolverines. Other veterans in the Michigan lineup are Alden [Jinx] Johnson, Dave Post and Roger Boucher.

Ohio State, which was runner-up to Michigan last year, also has a veteran team headed by the Franklin brothers, Aris and Alex.

Lum Seeded No. 1

Walter Lum of Purdue has been seeded No. 1 in this year's tournament on the strength of reaching the finals last year. He lost to Ted Park of Wisconsin in the 1944 championship match.

TOWN CLUB TO HOLD WAR BOND SHOW TOMORROW

A "GI Fantasy" will be presented in the pool of the Town club, 505 N. Michigan av., tomorrow night as part of the 7th war bond drive. The entertainment will range from water ballet numbers in boogie woogie tempo to Bach and from a style and beauty show by 25 of Chicago's top models to personal appearances of stage and screen stars.

Marlynn Miller and Ginny Fitzgerald, two of the outstanding women swimmers who participated in the recent National A. A. U. swim meet, will give a high board diving exhibition. A group of 17 coast guardsmen, designated as the "most battle beribboned band in the world," will provide the musical background.

Admission is by purchase of a $1,000 war bond.

SPORTS BRIBE BILL IS PASSED; GOES TO GREEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., May 24—Bribery in sports events would be subject to penalties of from six to 12 months imprisonment and fines of from $500 to $1,000 under a bill, sponsored by Rep. Gorman [D., Chicago], which was passed by the senate today and sent to Gov. Green for approval.

Passed by the house was a bill to charge a $50 annual fee for permits to present boxing shows. To the law now licensing referees it adds that time keepers, physicians, announcers, shall be licensed at a $10 fee. Rep. Finucane [R., Chicago] is sponsor of the measure.

Dachshund to Be Enlisted in K-9 Corps

BY BEN MARKLAND

Chicago dog fanciers will watch their canines in action in a puppy match and an obedience test this week-end, and a 10 month's old Dachshund puppy will be presented to the army K-9 corps tomorrow noon at the 7th war loan booth at State and Madison sts.

The field tracking test for guard and sentry dogs will be held tomorrow morning at Gessner's kennels, 7418 W. Higgins rd., under sponsorship of the West Point Training club. The same group will hold its seventh annual all-breed obedience trial tomorrow at the Rainbo arena, 4836 N. Clark st.

Puppy Match Sunday

The Skokie Valley Kennel club annual spring puppy match will be held Sunday afternoon at the Ashland clubhouse, 3859 N. Ashland av.

Mrs. Walter D. Monroe, Lake Forest, an officer of the Skokie club, is the donor of the Little Gates Dachshund to be presented to Sgt. Harry Brunsen, a K-9 corps dog trainer stationed at Fort Custer, Mich.

Asks for More Dogs

Lt. Willy Necker, former Wheeling trainer now in charge of the Coast Guard Training station, Curtiss Bay, Md., will judge four of the six classes in the West Point trials this week-end. Lt. Necker yesterday repeated his plea for more canine recruits for service with the navy and coast guard. These services need German Shepherds, Dobermann-Pinschers, and farm collies which stand more than 24 inches at the shoulder, weigh at least 55 pounds, and are 1 to 3½ years old.

Dr. W. A. Young, Chicago Anti-Cruelty society, 157 N. Grand av., is a recruiting official for coast guard dogs, and persons wishing to donate their pets for this service should get in touch with him.

PAUMONOK WON 2D TIME IN ROW BY DEVIL DIVER

New York, May 23 (AP) — Devil Diver, leader of the handicap division last year for the Greentree stable, today won Jamaica's Paumonok handicap for the second straight time as he ran the six furlongs in 1:10 4/5.

Breaking last of the seven starters the 6 year old son of St. Germans beat William Woodward's Apache, winner of the stake in 1943 and runner-up last year, by a length and a half.

Devil Diver's time, made with 132 pounds in the saddle, was only two-fifths of a second off the track record held jointly by Apache, Riverland, and King Saxon.

O'CONNOR STOPS WHITE SOX PLAN TO MOVE GRAY

Leslie M. O'Connor, special assistant to Commissioner A. B. Chandler, has vetoed a move by the White Sox which would have sent Pitcher George Gray from Little Rock of the Southern association, a class A league, to Martinsville, Va., in the class C Carolina State circuit.

In a bulletin issued yesterday, O'Connor said the proposed transfer would have violated a rule which bars optional agreements between a major league club and any minor league club below class B.

EXPECT BISHOPS TO REJECT BID OF MOSCOW TODAY

Orthodox Members Cite Action of 3 Prelates

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

The ten members of the Russian Orthodox hierarchy of North America, headed by the Most Rev. Archbishop Theophilus, metropolitan of the American church, yesterday discussed the offer of the Soviet Orthodox church to permit the American church to return to full communion with Moscow. Members of the church last night predicted the bishops' council would formally reject the offer today.

This belief was based mainly on the fact that Metropolitan Theophilus, Archbishop Tikhon of San Francisco, Cal., and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Leonty of Chicago, meeting last month at San Francisco, agreed that they would advise rejection of the Moscow proposal.

Terms Found Objectionable

The prelates regarded the terms offered for the "return" as objectionable. The conditions were that the American church would desist from anti-soviet teaching, that Metropolitan Theophilus would be removed and his successor nominated by Moscow, and that the president of the All-America sobor [council], called to elect the successor to Metropolitan Theophilus, would be Archbishop Alexius of Yaroslavl, Russia, one of Moscow's two nominees.

The other Moscow nominee was Exarch Benjamin, who had been sent to this country by Moscow to "take over" the congregations after the American hierarchy had been expelled from communion with the mother church. The Moscow exarch failed in his task.

Exarch Benjamin's failure preceded Moscow's call of the All-Orthodox sobor of last February, at which the newly elected Patriarch Alexei was seated. The plan was to establish a new world-wide Orthodox unity embracing the Balkan nations, Greece, and the near east as well as America. The sobor failed to achieve this objective.

Prelates Refuse to Go to Moscow

Metropolitan Theophilus and Bishop Leonty refused to go to Moscow as delegates.

After the conference of the three prelates at San Francisco, Bishop Leonti said: "I do not believe in the wisdom of reunion with the mother church. Church conditions are different there. They go their way; we go ours."

Today's action is expected to take two forms: A message to the Moscow patriarch refusing the proffer of reinstatement and a refusal of the bishop's council to call an all-America sobor. The ten members of the council of bishops are guests of Bishop Leonty at Holy Trinity cathedral, 1121 N. Leavitt st. The prelates asked that the place of the meeting of the council not be published to avoid possibilities of communist and fellow traveler demonstrations.

CHICAGO BACKED IN ROTARY POLL; DECISION TODAY

Directors of Rotary International took under advisement last night a proposal that the headquarters be moved from Chicago to Denver, Colo. The board is expected to reach a decision today.

Thomas B. Freeman, chairman of the all-Chicago executive committee for retention of Rotary International headquarters here, headed a delegation which told the board of the advantages of remaining in Chicago. Members of the Rotary zones committee advised the board that a poll of Rotary clubs showed 67 per cent wanted the headquarters retained in Chicago.

A delegation from Denver also appeared before the directors to show color movies of Denver and Colorado. In a meeting last Jan. 6 the international board split four and four on moving to Denver.

Touhy's Brother's Death Accidental, Jury Reports

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquest into the death of Edward Towey, 53, a brother of Roger Touhy, now serving a life sentence at Stateville penitentiary on a kidnaping charge. Towey, a bartender, was found dead on the floor of his hotel room at 2120 Washington blvd., two weeks ago. He had apparently been drinking heavily, police testified.

Fire on Subway Catwalk Delays Trains 15 Minutes

A fire apparently caused by a lighted cigaret, caused $10 damage yesterday to 20 feet of catwalk in the subway south of the 14th st. station. Traffic was halted 15 minutes.

[ADVERTISMENT]

How's Your Stomach?

No Acid Pains? No Gas?..No Heartburn? Eat Sensibly Without Pain?

Then All's Well with the World!

The pity is, so much suffering is often unnecessary! Folks who endure stomach or ulcer pains due to excess acids should try UDGA TABLETS, particularly now that it's so easy to see what UDGA may do for you in only 5 minutes.

UDGA tablets are not a "candy" and they do not contain just one ingredient. Instead, UDGA is composed of three fast-working ingredients which work several ways in quickly relieving the acid pain. That is why over 200 million have been used for relief of stomach and ulcer pains, gas, indigestion, burning sensation, sour or upset stomach, "morning after" distress and weak appetite, due to excess acid.

25c Home Trial Must Convince or Double Money Back

Get a 25c box of UDGA TABLETS from your druggist. Take as directed. If you don't see for yourself how UDGA tablets may help keep you from suffering another stomach acid pain, double your money back. Drug stores everywhere.

COUNCIL TILTS ABOUT OCD, BUT IT GETS $35,000

Mayor Defends Body as Waller Attacks

The city council yesterday was accused of placing the cart before the horse by Ald. Waller [43d] for authorizing a $35,000 office of civilian defense expenditure, then ordering an investigation by a council subcommittee.

"The usual custom," Waller told the council, "is to have a subcommittee first determine whether the funds should be released."

The council approved release of the funds after a defense of the OCD by Mayor Kelly, who spoke from the rostrum. He told of its many civic activities, the role it played in bond drives, salvage drives, clothing collections, and so on.

Mayor Praises Agency

It even provided speakers for neighborhood meetings, furnished entertainment for the meetings, and interested itself in such problems as noise abatement and fuel conservation, the mayor said.

Waller's attack on the agency was joined by Ald. Bohling [7th], who informed the council that he had received nine telephone calls before he left home, all from constituents who objected to further OCD expenditures.

"The people in my ward," he said, "have no objections to letting the OCD continue, but they feel it should be on a voluntary basis. They see no reason why salaries should be paid to keep alive an organization that the President of the United States has killed."

Bowler Backs Kelly

The mayor spoke again. "I want this made a part of the record," he said, "so if you councilmen have to answer questions about what's going on in the OCD you'll know what it's all about.

"First, there is no one on the OCD pay roll who is not working. And there are others who are working for nothing. But we must have some who can devote full time to supervisory work."

Ald. Bowler [25th], an administration stalwart, spoke up:

"You forgot to mention, Mr. Mayor, that warehouses for all the OCD material must be rented and watchmen paid."

The council also adopted a resolution honoring Gen. Clark and 50 Chicago heroes scheduled to arrive in the city Memorial day. Mayor Kelly was authorized to arrange a civic reception.

POLICE VETERAN AND WIFE MARK SILVER WEDDING

A high mass will be celebrated in observance of the silver [25th] wedding anniversary of Police Sgt. and Mrs. Francis [Jiggs] Donohue of 5107 Augusta blvd., at 9 a. m. tomorrow in Our Lady Help of Christians church, 832 Le Claire av. Close friends and relatives will be present.

One son, Lt. William J. Donohue, 24, a pilot of the troop carrier command who dropped paratroopers before H hour in the invasion of Normandy, is still listed missing in action. There are two daughters, Margaret Ellen, 20, and Joan, 16.

Sgt. Donohue, a veteran member of the Chicago police department, is assigned to the North av. station.

State Training School Fugitive Is Recaptured

Thomas Braid, 13, of 1245 W. 69th st., an inmate of the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles, was recaptured yesterday several hours after he had escaped from the school.

OBITUARIES

Emmet N. White

Emmet N. White, 66, former Lake county, Ind., juvenile referee and Gary's first city controler, suffered a fatal heart attack yesterday in his automobile parked in front of his home, 776 Polk st., Gary. A Democrat and a pioneer resident of Gary, he was on the staff of John Roszkowski, Lake county prosecutor, serving as coroner's attorney. He is survived by his widow, Helen, and a daughter.

Dr. Angie G. Smith

Services for Dr. Angie G. Smith, 75, who had practiced chiropody in Chicago for 40 years, will be held at 3:30 p. m. today in Graceland cemetery chapel. She was found dead Tuesday in her home at 422 Melrose st. Dr. Smith was a charter member of the organization which started the chiropody school movement in Chicago. She is survived by two brothers.

Mrs. Albert E. Bruggemeyer

Private services for Mrs. Mary J. Bruggemeyer, 75, wife of Albert E. Bruggemeyer, retired candy merchant, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in Graceland Cemetery chapel. A lifelong resident of Chicago, she died May 17 in Pasadena, Cal. Besides her husband she is survived by three sons.

SON AND CHUM FOUND GUILTY ON COMISE CHARGE

John Comise Jr., 17, 1102 W. Garfield blvd., and William Fortier, 17, of 4428 Wallace st., were found guilty yesterday by Judge Jacob Braude in Boy's court of charges of disorderly conduct preferred by Comise's father, former head of the Chicago Cafe Owners' association. Hearing on a motion to vacate the ruling was continued to June 20.

Judge Braude said he continued the hearing pending outcome of an earlier charge in Criminal court against the elder Comise of assault to kill and carrying a deadly weapon. Fortier charged he was beaten by the elder Comise, who sought to learn the whereabouts of his son, absent from home for two nights.

In yesterday's case the elder Comise accused his son and Fortier of hurling a brick thru a window at 543 W. 45th pl., striking his father, Thomas Comise, 76, on the head. Judge Braude also fined Edmund Freeley, 17, of 5031 Princeton av., $100 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge for striking Fortier's sister, Dorothy, 18, on April 29.

WILLIAM KNAPP, EX-INSTRUCTOR AT N. U., IS DEAD

William Henry Knapp, 75, voice instructor and for 15 years director of the glee club at the Northwestern university school of music, died in his home, 2126 Orrington av., Evanston, yesterday after a two day illness.

In recent years Mr. Knapp operated a private studio in Kenosha, Wis., where he also had directed the Community Choral society and the choir of the Kenosha St. Matthew's church. He formerly served for 25 years as director of music at the Church of Ascension, Chicago.

Born near Neponset, Bureau county, Mr. Knapp was an alumnus of Whitewater [Wis.] State Normal college and of the Conservatory of Music of Oberlin college, Oberlin, O. He taught at Grand Rapids, Mich., for two years prior to joining the Northwestern faculty.

Surviving are the widow, Nina, and a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Forbis. Services will be held in St. Luke's Lady chapel, Evanston, at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

PREDICTS THAT INDUSTRY WILL END ACCIDENTS

Twenty years hence industrial accidents may be considered old fashioned, the closing session of the Greater Chicago Safety conference at the Knickerbocker hotel was told yesterday by William P. Yant, director of research and development for the Mine Safety Appliances company of Pittsburgh, Pa. He predicted that accidents will be so thoroly surveyed that their causes and the conditions under which they happen can be largely eliminated.

That safety and hygiene programs in industry are humanitarian and pay cash dividends was stressed by A. G. Hewitt, production manager of the Visking corporation of Chicago.

Management must continue to consider the safety problems of women, now that they have proved their efficiency in industry and probably will remain in large numbers after the war, it was stressed by Frieda S. Miller, director of the women's bureau of the department of labor, and Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, Chicago psychiatrist. Brig. Gen. William Gunther, director of the safety and security branch of the 6th service command, asked that the efforts of management and workers to increase industry's war potential by decreasing accidents be continued thru the remainder of the war.

YEAR SENTENCE FOR MOTHER WHO NEGLECTED SON

Mrs. Anna Roziewski, 26, of 2117 Homer st., wife of a sailor in the Pacific area, yesterday was sentenced to a year in county jail by Judge Victor A. Kula in Shakespeare av. court on a charge of neglecting her 6 year old son, Daniel. The charge was brought against Mrs. Roziewski a week after her 4 year old daughter died in County hospital.

Judge Kula ignored the mother's tearful pleas, delivered from her knees before the bench, to reconsider his verdict. She also knelt before her mother, Mrs. Catherine Gesinia, 2021 Homer st., and begged her forgiveness. The mother had preferred the charge against her daughter.

Mrs. Agnes Michaels, 2040 Homer st., and Mrs. Roziewski's landlady, Mrs. Stella Gutowski, testified against the woman, whose husband, Stanley, is a seaman 2d class in the navy.

Stocks Mixed as Late Rally Stems Decline

New York, May 24 (AP)—Last hour investment buying of rails and selected industrials put some support under today's stock market, after declining tendencies had ruled the larger part of the day. The close remained irregularly lower.

Dealings were sluggish during the forenoon, but picked up toward the close, as recoveries appeared in virtually all departments, altho activity remained well below yesterday's selloff. Many initial losses running to a point or more were substantially trimmed or converted into gains of as much at the close. Transfers of 960,000 shares were smallest for a full session since April 10.

RAILS DIP IN DULL TRADE

New York, May 24 (AP)—Rail bonds declined again today, but recovery appeared in the final hour and most net losses were less than yesterday. Sales were $6,110,000, compared with $8,070,000 yesterday.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER

Prices again declined and turnover was 36,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Volume leaders included La Salle Extension, Electric Household Utilities, and Katz Drugs, up fractions; Chicago Corporation, down ⅛, and Central and South West Utilities, unchanged.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER

I should like information regarding dividend prospects of International Paper company common stock.—G. R.

During the five years ended with 1944, International Paper earned a total of $18.35 a common share after regular preferred dividends. After payment of preferred dividend arrears and other adjustments, earned surplus increased $21,765,299, equivalent to nearly $12 a share on the 1,823,855 common shares. Net working capital increased from $35,605,326 to $71,121,685, exclusive of a 13 million dollar fund set aside for retirement of a bond issue.

At the recent annual meeting of stockholders, Richard J. Cullen, chairman, said that some action on the common dividend question "will be taken when in the opinion of the board the earnings and financial position of the company justify such a course." The company is engaging in a plant rehabilitation program deferred durin the war, he added.

No common dividend has been paid since 1930. In only one of the five years prior to 1940 did International Paper show earnings much in excess of present preferred dividend needs. Cullen said there is reason to expect a good post-war market for Kraft paper and board products, the major source of International Paper's domestic profits.

Earnings of foreign subsidiaries, mainly Canadian which make newsprint and other products, have been excluded from the consolidated net income since 1941 and placed in a reserve. An offsetting factor has been the inclusion of substantial profits on foreign exchange, which may not recur to the same extent after the war.

Pending litigation, brought against the company by International Hydro-Electric system stockholders, involves large sums.

MATERIAL RULE TO END IN 1945, SAYS WPB MAN

Lift Curbs as War Needs Diminish

Manufacturers vitally interested in learning when they can reconvert to civilian production were told last night by John D. Small, executive officer of the war production board, that the controled materials plan and the present priorities system will be continued at least five months and possibly to the end of the year.

Under the controled materials plan allocations of steel, copper, and aluminum are made to industry on the basis of supplies in a certain period. Priority ratings permit a producer to obtain materials or supplies on the basis of the urgency of his need. The controled materials plan recently was "open ended," effective July 1, making available for civilian goods any basic materials not needed for war and essential civilian production.

Will End This Year

"The interval will be five months, and if it develops that the army cutbacks are not what we think they will be, we may have to extend the control a bit longer, but it certainly will not last beyond the close of 1945," said Small at the evening session of the Chicago reconversion conference in the Palmer House sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the National Association of Manufacturers.

"We are releasing limitation and conservation orders only in pace with the actual release of resources. Meanwhile we are going to retain every limitation we need to protect war and essential war supporting demands. We retain the right to reimpose any one of these controls if a shortage unexpectedly develops."

Small said the WPB expected that by the end of September releases of steel from war products would amount to between 2½ and 3 million tons, much of which would be directed into urgently needed civilian items.

Inventory Rule to Stay

"All during this period the inventory controls will be retained, and these controls will be enforced with all the strength that we have," he asserted. "So far as we can do it, we will not allow anybody to preempt, to hoard, or to buy in advance of his real need."

Ira Mosher, president of the N. A. M., charged that lack of an orderly program by military authorities was hampering WPB efforts to speed reconversion of industry. He said the big problem from "here on" will be to keep from producing more war goods than are needed with needless stockpiling of finished war goods which would "mean a sharper dislocation in the transition period with greater temporary unemployment."

He demanded speed in the removal of controls over industry, a revision in government pricing policies to permit steady reconversion and encourage production, and overhauling of the tax system to preserve the system of individual enterprise and political liberty.

Urges Clear Price Policy

Howard E. Blood of Detroit, president of the Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation, said there was "utmost confusion, and widespread fear of profit squeezing in the price phase of reconversion" and asserted that the country needed a clear and understandable price policy.

"It needs, as rapidly as war requirements permit, the production and distribution of large quantities of goods to provide employment and the only known actual cure for inflation," he said. "Producers and distributors are confused and fearful. All that is needed is for congress to tell OPA clearly and unmistakably that its job is simply to prevent prices for scarce essential goods which permit profit margins greater than those prevailing just before the war."

GRAHAM-PAIGE QUARTER SALES SET WAR PEAK

First quarter sales of Graham-Paige Motors corporation reached a war time peak of $11,811,252, an increase of 33.4 per cent over a year ago, Joseph W. Frazer, chairman, reported yesterday.

Net income for the first quarter, subject to renegotiation, was $340,875, compared with $396,926 last year. Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes was $581,878, against $266,000.

Plans for the company's new automobile are progressing and shipments have been made of certain specialty products from the farm equipment division, Frazier said.

U. S. Priority to Aid Canada Shift to Peace

OTTAWA, Ont., May 24 (AP)—A new priorities order under which small Canadian businesses will get assistance in obtaining scarce United States materials and components necessary for a shift from war to civilian production was announced tonight by Munitions Minister Howe. It will provide priorities for small Canadian businesses, both established and new, for supplies of production materials including steel, aluminum, machine tools, and other machinery obtainable in the United States.

"Under the new regulation, priority assistance for most United States supplies of production materials will be available automatically to any company whose total production is less than $50,000 per quarter," Howe said.

Procedure Is Automatic

"Thus many companies will be able to obtain, without difficulty, their share of the United States materials and components which still remain scarce.

"Steel and metals control orders, which have required prior approval before purchase orders were placed in the United States for steel or aluminum, also have been revised to allow small manufacturers to take advantage of these new automatic priorities procedures."

His statement said the order was "one of a number of steps following out the policy of continuing the war time economic coöperation between Canada and the United States during the reconversion period."

Pledges Aid on Machinery

Special provision also has been made for obtaining priorities on machine tools and other machinery to begin, resume, or expand civilian production in Canada. Altho much of such machinery already is available without any priority, arrangements have been made to provide assistance thru the priorities officer to any applicant who shows that he is unable to obtain the equipment he requires and that without it, his reconversion would be hindered.

"The United States priorities system is to be largely dissolved over the next few months, and Canadian industry will benefit in full measure from this," Howe said.

FOOD PRICE RISE ADVANCES INDEX TO 25 YEAR HIGH

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—The bureau of labor statistics wholesale commodity price index rose 0.1 point in the week ended May 19 to 105.8 per cent of the 1926 average, the highest since early in 1920. Prices were higher for foods, fuel, and lighting materials.

In the last four weeks average prices for the commodities included in the index rose 0.2 point and were nearly 2 points higher than at the same time last year.

STRONG WORLD TRADE POSITION ADVOCATED AS WAR PREVENTIVE

Avoidance of future wars cannot be achieved by political action alone, but requires a more intelligent solution of world-wide economic problems, R. W. Gifford, president of Borg-Warner International, told the Export Managers Club of Chicago yesterday in the Hotel Sherman.

"International trade will become a more severe 'dog fight' than the world has ever seen unless the total volume can be increased," he said. Urging immediate exports when civilian goods are available, he warned delay would permit others to become entrenched in foreign markets and the United States would suffer the consequences in surpluses and unemployment. To assure the nation a leading position in world trade, he recommended:

1. Organization of a master group from export and foreign trade clubs and associations.
2. Convincing American manufacturers that it is to their advantage to allocate a reasonable portion of their first civilian goods production to foreign trade chanels.
3. American manufacturers must resolve that imports are as necessary as exports.
4. The government must create a unit whose prime responsibility would be to act in the interests of American industry abroad.
5. Government guarantee of private loans and credits abroad.
6. Continued low tariffs.

CORPORATIONS' SHARE IN TAXES BASIC PROBLEM

Revised Structure Held Necessary

BY THOMAS FURLONG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—What share of the federal tax load will be borne in the future by corporations is one of the basic decisions faced by the joint congressional internal revenue committee.

The committee, enlarged last year to give equal representation to the Republican party, has the special task of framing a program to replace the present antiquated structure of business taxes which has few admirers.

On all sides it is freely conceded that the present tax structure prevents healthy, competitive economic enterprise. Realization of the goal of a high level of private employment after the war is held to be impossible under the present system.

United Against Nuisance Taxes

The committee has heard testimony from groups representing all shades of opinion, including labor organizations and business groups like the committee for economic development and the Twin Cities committee. Almost all of these witnesses have had suggestions for sweeping changes in existing taxes, but their recommendations vary widely. One recommendation on which almost all agree, however, is that for abolition of nuisance taxes on business, including the capital stock tax and the declared value excess profits tax.

Tied up with the questions of how much and in what manner corporations will be taxed is the future emphasis to be placed on the individual income tax. The corporation tax was a more important source of revenue until recent years when high war time individual income tax rates have produced larger receipts. Continued emphasis on individual taxes is considered likely.

The C. E. D. recommendations call for virtual abolition of the corporation income tax. By implication this step would be accompanied by reënactment of a tax on undistributed earnings of corporations.

Radical Changes Expected

Those in close touch with the work of the joint committee do not believe it is likely to recommend the abolition of the corporate income tax. However, predictions are that the present levy will be radically changed. Sen. George [D., Ga.], vice chairman of the committee, has publicly urged that the corporation rate of 40 per cent be lowered as soon as possible to the pre-war level of 18 per cent.

Modification of the present "double taxation" of corporation income is considered probable thru granting stockholders certain credit for taxes paid by the corporation on profits distributed in dividends. This device would not be intended to free the corporation of income taxes, but would modify the practice of taxing profits first in the hands of the corporation and again in the hands of the stockholders after distribution as dividends.

There is a dispute among tax experts whether corporation profits actually are subject to double taxation. One view, expressed by treasury experts, is that the corporation's tax load is passed on to the customers who buy its goods.

Cannot Shift Entire Burden

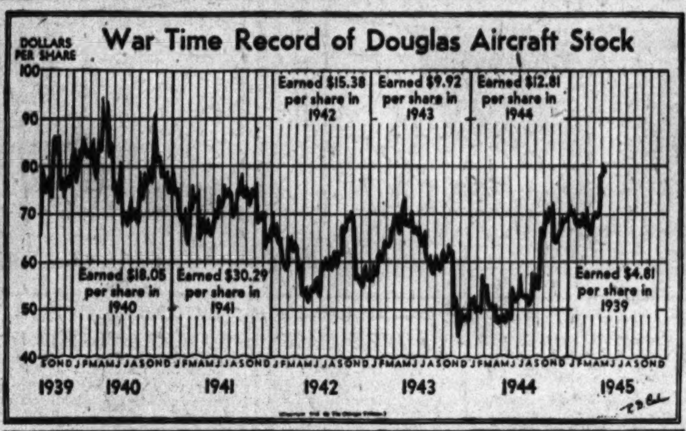
It is conceded, however, that all corporations do not or cannot pass on all taxes in the form of higher prices. Those holding this view contend that corporations should be relieved of income taxes only to the extent that it can be shown that the tax actually is absorbed by the corporation. How this would be determined is not made clear.

After experience with war time rates business would welcome merely a return to pre-war rates. Business groups are particularly anxious for the earliest possible repeal of the excess profits tax which has a widespread demoralizing effect on business efficiency.

Informed persons in Washington believe that congress will not act to end the excess profits tax until it is ready to make simultaneous reductions in individual rates.

The joint committee has not taken up the question of federal death taxes, it is reported.

The committee is not expected to be ready with any basic program of tax reform before fall, perhaps later.



Queer Quirk Developed by 'L' Fare Boost

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

New anomalies in the strange mazes of the Chicago traction problem were being studied yesterday by attorneys in connection with a decision of the Illinois Supreme court making it possible for the Chicago Rapid Transit company to raise its basic fare from 10 to 12 cents.

Meanwhile the city of Chicago, by vote in the council, instructed its legal staff to coöperate with the attorney general's office in asking a rehearing of the fare matter. Such a petition would stay the collection of the fare increase, probably for months.

One anomaly concerns the so-called universal transfer system ordered by the Illinois commerce commission 18 months ago. This order provided that the "L" should issue transfers to the surface lines or bus company on payment of a 10 cent fare; it has never been challenged in court.

Anomalous Situation Cited

"If the Supreme court opinion holds, an elevated passenger would have to pay 12 cents for a ride on that system," one lawyer said. "But if he asked for a transfer he could ride for 10 cents—and on two systems."

The fare increase was asked in 1942 and was denied by the commerce commission. The elevated then asked a Circuit court injunction to prevent the commission from interfering with a new fare schedule: 12 cents basic, 15 cents straight for a suburban ride, and 13 cents if a transfer were demanded. Charles A. McDonald, special master in chancery, upheld the increase, but Judge Philip J. Finnegan decided in favor of the commission, which had asserted the service was not worth more than 10 cents.

Confiscation Theory Raised

In its decision, the Supreme court heeded the plea of the company that existing rates were confiscatory. Testimony had shown that in the years 1937-'41 inclusive "L" revenues failed by several million dollars to cover operating expenses. The ICC had recognized this, but predicted the years 1942, 1943, and 1944 would show the company earning more than its expenses. This has been true.

The Supreme court did not go into the details of how much each type fare should be increased. It stated only that the commission should have granted a temporary increase large enough to get the company away from confiscation. It instructed the Circuit court to draw a decree embodying the Supreme court views. Thus, Judge Finnegan, who had ruled there was no confiscation, is in the unusual position of having to interpret the high court's wishes concerning a property that is no longer being confiscated; its earnings exceeded operating expenses in 1944 by half a million dollars.

MERGER TERMED AID TO IMPROVED ALTON, MOBILE

The Alton railroad and the Gulf, Mobile, and Ohio could more easily be modernized under a proposed consolidation plan now before the interstate commerce commission in Washington, D. C., E. D. Scruggs, railroad reorganization specialist, testified yesterday before an ICC examiner who is holding hearings on a bondholders' protective plan for reorganization of the Alton. The two proposals are linked and the bondholders have approved the merger.

Under the merger plan substantial equipment purchases are contemplated, Scruggs said. The combined companies could easily finance these purchases, he testified, but they would be a burden to either road individually. On the basis of 1936-'41 average earnings consolidation would improve substantially the position of Alton bondholders, he asserted.

CUT PULLMAN UNIT'S ARTILLERY ORDERS 14 MILLION DOLLARS

The Chicago ordnance district and the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company yesterday announced the termination of 14 million dollars of artillery contracts at the company's Hammond works. This was one of the largest Chicago district terminations since V-E day.

Wallace N. Barker, vice president of Pullman-Standard, said the termination will cause substantial reduction in employment between now and late summer unless war conditions change in the meantime. The plant at the peak of its war work employed 5,323, but more recently, as contracts were completed and earlier army cut-backs put into effect, the pay roll had dropped to about 2,500.

The contract termination involves 155 mm. rifle and howitzer carriages, 81 mm. mortars, transport wagons, gun mounts, limbers, and other artillery items.

Barker said there would be no letup in the production of large shells for the navy and that the terminations have not affected 3 million dollars in contracts for artillery spare parts.

CURBS ON TABLE FLATWARE ARE LIFTED BY WPB

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—The WPB today removed restrictions on the manufacture of table flatware and metal sugar bowls, creamers and similar dining accessories. Altho most of the metals needed for silver plated, chrome plated and stainless flatware are scarce, WPB said its action would permit manufacturers to step up production as soon as the materials become available. Some metal will be released July 1.

In another step toward partial reconversion, WPB revoked its regulation which limited the output of dishwashers for restaurants, hotels, and institutions. WPB retained control over delivery of the dishwashers, however, in order to channel supplies to the most essential users, mostly government agencies.

CONGRESS GETS WIDER SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN

4% Pay Deduction Asked by Wagner

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—A multi-billion dollar expansion of social security, including health insurance, was introduced in congress today by Sen. Wagner [D., N. Y.] and Rep. Dingell [D., Mich.].

Contributions would increase to 4 per cent on workers' pay and 4 per cent on employers' pay rolls. At present each pays 1 per cent to finance old age insurance.

Among the bill's provisions are:

An expanded unemployment insurance system with benefits uniform thruout the country. They now vary among the states.

Health Insurance Included

Health insurance, to which all persons covered by social security would have to subscribe.

Inclusion of 15 million farm workers, domestics, professionals, and small business men under the old age and survivors' insurance system.

A 10 year federal-state financing of hospitals, health centers, and clinics in rural areas.

Permanent establishment of the United States employment service, taking over war man power duties and other similar activities after Japan is defeated.

Under the provisions of the health plan, a worker would receive compensation for periods he was not paid because of illness or disability. If hospital care is involved, he would be allowed 60 days a year.

Could Pick Own Doctor

Wagner emphasized that a patient could pick his own doctor or hospital or dentist and that they could pick their own patients. In that sense, he said, this is not "social medicine," which many medical men have long opposed, nor is it "regimentation." Current health and hospital insurance plans, privately operated, would not be affected, he said.

Provision is made for 52 weeks of unemployment compensation instead of the present 26, if funds are available. The weekly scale would be $5 to $20 for single persons, with a maximum of $30, based on dependents. Most state laws now have a top of $15 to $20.

Women would get 12 weeks' maternity leave with the same scale of benefits.

Old age payments would be increased to a minimum of $10 to $20 a month for single persons and to $30 for a worker with a dependent wife 60 or older.

Money Plans Approved by House Group

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 24—The house banking committee today indorsed United States' participation in the proposed 18 billion dollar Bretton Woods monetary plan after writing certain safeguards into the enabling legislation.

The measure, which the group approved by a vote of 23 to 3, now goes to the house floor, where Committee Chairman Spence [D., Ky.] predicted it will be considered in about 10 days.

Republicans Write Changes

Spence said the safeguarding amendments written chiefly by Republican members, do not change the basic agreement drafted by delegates from 44 nations at Bretton Woods, N. H., last summer.

The program calls for a 9 billion 100 million dollar world bank empowered to make reconstruction and relief loans to member nations, and an 8 billion 800 million dollar monetary fund from which member countries could borrow money to aid in stabilizing their currencies.

The three committee members voting against participation in the plan were Republicans, Representatives Sumner [Ill.], Smith [O.], and Buffett [Neb.].

Puts Curb on Loans

The principal safeguarding amendment inserted by the committee was sponsored by Rep. Wolcott [R., Mich.] and accepted by treasury officials after weeks of discussion. It urges directors of the monetary fund to approve only short-term loans for "current stabilization operations," and not to lend money for relief or reconstruction or other long term purposes.

This is designed to bar loans from the monetary fund which should properly be made by the bank under the bank's stricter rules for extending credit, Wolcott explained.

A corollary amendment by Rep. Brown [D., Ga.] urges that the bank's lending authority include long-term stabilization loans as well as reconstruction credits.

Protect Business Data

Another approved amendment, written by Rep. Gamble [R., N. Y.], provides that if financial or related information is sought by the international fund from United States citizens, they may refuse to divulge such information, unless ordered to do so by a federal court.

The committee also accepted a proposal by Rep. Patman [D., Tex.] to establish a five man advisory council to make recommendations to the President for the guidance of the United States representative on the fund and bank.

Another amendment offered by Rep. Barry [D., N. Y.] provides that one delegate, to be named by the President, shall serve as a governor of both the fund and bank.

CHICAGO RAILS GET PEAK LOAD AS WAR SHIFTS

Redeployment Time 6 to 9 Months

Col. I. Sewell Morris

Redeployment of men and materials from Europe to the Pacific war theater will throw the heaviest burden in history on Chicago railroads, Col. I. Sewell Morris, chairman of the railroad urgency committee, composed of military, civic, and railway officials, said yesterday.

Military officials estimate it will take six to nine months to reverse the European supply system and transfer the full weight of American armed might to the Pacific. Not only are Pacific distances the longest in military history, but the reversal presents special problems.

Most to Go Thru City

Col. Miller, 6th zone transportation officer, pointed out that most of the traffic of men and material from east to west must pass thru Chicago and said the burden of the city's rail facilities will continue thruout the reversal program.

In addition to the 3,100,000 troops to be brought back from Europe, V-E day found the American armies in that theater with more than 5,500,000 tons of supplies, including 700,000 tons of ammunition and a million individual items ranging from locomotives to watch repair tools. Much of these supplies will be repacked and reassigned to the Pacific.

Col. Morris estimated that monthly traffic over western railroads will rise from the present 148,000 cars a month to 173,000 cars. Adding to the problem is the fact that peak war traffic will come in the late summer and early autumn when thousands of freight cars must be used to move the nation's wheat harvest.

Speed of Reversal Told

Indicating the speed with which the flow of materials to Europe was reversed, Col. Morris said more than 800,000 measurement tons of cargo on ships and nearly 200,000 tons of railroad freight were turned around by the army from May 2 thru May 10.

Plans for reversing the supply flow of freight to Europe after V-E day were established nearly a year ago.

Chicago—world trade sky port of the future

The place of Chicago in world trade is clearly foreshadowed today . . . a place greater than the city ever before enjoyed in peace time. Giant planes inevitably will transport air freight to all parts of the world, since Chicago's location makes such a development as certain as the future of air transport itself.

This is one of many reasons why Chicago business is turning ever more attentively to trade "beyond the horizon." Because the business of our bank has always been to help business, we feel that our Foreign Department can be of material assistance to those already engaged in international trade, and to those who plan to enter this field.

In every matter that pertains to international trade, including information with regard to foreign markets, economic conditions and exchange regulations, our Foreign Department is ready to serve Chicago business.

AMERICAN TRADE INTERESTS GAIN HELP IN NORWAY

Civil Affairs Unit Leader Offers Assurances

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OSLO, Norway, May 24—Col. Paul B. Boyd, ranking United States officer in the civil affairs section of the allied mission to Norway, today said America's trade interests were being advanced thru his office. He said an associate, Lt. Col. Edgar Johnson, former professor at Harvard university, was charged with guiding Norway's exports.

"One function of the mission," said Boyd, former vice president of the Jewel Tea company, Barrington, Ill., "is to help Norway restore her normal economy during the military occupation. America, furnishing the bulk of relief supplies, can use Norwegian newsprint, fish, lumber, and codliver oil."

Ship 25,000 Tons of Food

Brig. P. H. Hansen, an English officer who is Boyd's superior in the section, announced at a press conference that 12 vessels were on their way to Norway from the United Kingdom with 25,000 tons of basic supplies. Norway has survived for five years almost exclusively on fish and potatoes—without wheat, flour, or coffee, and with milk for infants and small children only.

Without mentioning the United States as the original source of most of the supplies, Hansen also said six British destroyers had landed 10 tons of coffee, 1½ tons of chocolate, two tons of soap, five of meat, three of evaporated milk, and 1½ of medicines.

The approaching merchant convoys are carrying 83 per cent food.

United States Will Provide Coal

The Briton said 23,000 tons of coal were to be delivered this month and 35,000 tons in June. Future shipments are to be made directly from the United States because British coal production is only half of normal. Norwegians have been heating with wood under nazi regulations limiting temperatures to 50 degrees.

Surplus German army stocks taken by occupation forces included potatoes, oil, and coal. Farmers will be permitted to use German army horses and tractors.

Explaining that present supply arrangements were a mere stop-gap, Hansen said the civil affairs section was a branch of military service coöperating with liberated governments, not like the allied military government imposed in enemy territory. It will function during military occupation and be succeeded by the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

CORN FUTURES RISE ON TIGHT CASH MARKET

Corn futures closed ½ to ⅝ cent a bushel higher on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday after an early advance of 1 to 1¼ cents to new seasonal peaks. Buying was stimulated by brisk bidding for limited offerings of cash corn for shipment to distillers and feed manufacturers that sent prices to the highest level since 1937. The July future touched $1.17⅜, within ⅝ cent of the futures ceiling.

Most other grains closed uneven after relatively narrow fluctuations. Prices advanced early on commission house and professional buying, but when profit taking appeared and support became less aggressive prices reacted rapidly. Short covering caused a rally from the low. Wheat closed ¼ cent higher to ¾ cent lower, with the gain in July. Oats finished ½ lower to ⅛ higher, July the weakest. Rye was ⅛ higher and barley rose ⅜ to 1¼ cents.

BAUER & BLACK BEGINS WORK ON EXPANDED PLANT

Construction was started yesterday on a $650,000 expansion of the Bauer & Black plant, 2500 S. Dearborn st., which will increase floor area 20 per cent, C. R. Baxter, division manager, said. Bauer & Black is a division of the Kendall company, Boston, manufacturer of surgical supplies.

Designed by Battey & Childs, Chicago engineering firm, the new construction will consist of three units, one three story and two one story structures, which are being built south of and adjoining the main seven story building.

They will be of modern design and partially air conditioned. Operation is scheduled for fall. They will be used mostly to meet increased civilian demand for the company's products, including adhesive tape.

FARMERS SLASH LIVE STOCK SALE TO PLANT CROPS

Shipments of meat animals from farms declined again yesterday as spring field work swung into high gear in many parts of the country. Market competition was lively.

The steer supply was sold quickly at strong to 25 cent higher prices with almost all classes near the top of price ranges governing packer subsidies.

Buyers gave ceiling prices for almost all hogs. Lambs were steady.

Ruberoid First Quarter Sales Exceed Year Ago

Ruberoid company's net sales in the first quarter of 1945 amounted to $9,422,327, compared with $9,149,363 a year earlier, Herbert Abraham, president, said yesterday.

Chicago Stores' Sales Dip 5 Pct. from Year Ago

Chicago department store sales fell 5 per cent last week compared with a year ago, the federal reserve bank reported yesterday.

TRUMAN ORDERS SPECIAL BOARD IN I. C. DISPUTE

Washington, D. C., May 24 (AP)—President Truman today created an emergency board to investigate a dispute between the Illinois Central railroad and certain of its employes represented by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. Names of board members will be announced later.

The President's order said the dispute had not been adjusted under the railway labor act and threatened to interrupt interstate commerce. The possibility of a strike of an estimated 3,500 enginemen arose in the dispute over seniority rights of firemen promoted to engineers.

Under the railway labor act, a strike must be postponed pending action of the special board. The board was ordered to report its findings to the President within 30 days.

WE LIKE TO MAKE LOANS
Proof: At Personal 4 Out of 5 Get the Money They Ask For

The more times we say "Yes" to requests for loans—the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans is our ONLY business—you can depend on our doing our best to say "Yes" to you. Besides, consider these advantages of Personal service—
1. Loans $10 to $250 or more on signature, car, or furniture, whichever suits you best.
2. Loans made to employed men and women.
3. Between pay-day loans.
4. Exclusive Personal Nation-wide Cash-Credit Cards issued and honored here.
Why not stop in or phone us today? We'd like the chance to say "Yes."
